Record-Breaking Term of Congress Complete | Big Battle Raging in Southeastern Rumania

ENDS ITS WORK AT 10 O'CLOCK

Wilson Commends Congress for Helpful and Humane Legislation.

TOTAL WELL TOWARD TWO BILLION MARK
Session Was in Many Respects Greatest in All History.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 8.—Congress adjourned sine die this morning at 10 o'clock, concluding a session, record breaking in many respects with appropriations and authorizations for the future, running well toward two billion dollars.

In a statement issued following adjournment of congress President Wilson called attention to the helpful and humane legislation passed and declared that while he regretted additional legislation dealing with the recent dispute between the railroads and their employees had not been completed he had every reason to believe the question would be taken up immediately after congress reconvenes.

What Mr. Marshall Said.
Vice President Marshall in his address to the senate said:

"When I assumed the duties of this office I thought it would be a terrible thing to keep silent but the longer I stay here the more I think it is wiser to keep silent. We are about to leave here, some of us to point with pride and others to view with alarm, but I hope when we will all have come back we will have forgotten the animosities of the campaign and will remember that we are good friends."

Congress, at the session closed today, appropriated exactly $1,626,439,210 which, with obligations and authorizations for the future makes the total $1,858,384,485. These figures, announced in speeches by Representatives Fitzgerald of New York, democrat, and Gillett, Massachusetts, republican, were defended by the former and attacked by the latter as half a billion dollars greater than any session of the republican congress.

Await Final Formalities.
As senators and representatives assembled, sleepy-eyed from brief rests, following the arduous night sessions both houses marked time awaiting the final formalities of the greatest session of congress in many respects in history.

In closing addresses, while awaiting the arrival of President Wilson, references to the long program of legislative achievement, dominated chiefly by national defense preparations at a cost of more than $600,000,000 were made. Democrats lauded the record of the session and commended it to the country.

Nine Months' Work.
As the galleries were suspended to sound the end of the session recapitulation of the nine months' work showed that there had been appropriated for the year 1917 for expenditures of the government more than $1,600,000,000 and that authorization had been made for future expenditures which would bring the grand aggregate of appropriations almost to the $2,000,000,000 mark.

Soon after 9 o'clock President Wilson went to the capitol to sign bills.

Because of the arrangement for adjournment of congress this morning the president cancelled the cabinet meeting and several engagements with senators and representatives.

During the session of congress closing today 17,800 bills and 642 resolutions were introduced in the house. Of these 252 bills became laws and 33 house resolutions were adopted in addition to 150 private bills and resolutions passed.

The Final Day.

This was the final day of the Sixty-ninth congress.

PRESIDENT WILSON'S VIEWS ON THE WORK OF CONGRESS

Washington, Sept. 8.—President Wilson's statement regarding the work of the session of congress just ended was as follows:

"A very remarkable session of congress has just closed, full, as all recent sessions of the congress have been, of helpful and humane legislation, which constitutes contributions of capital importance to the defense, the economic progress and the wholesome life of the country."

"It is to be regretted that the session could not have lasted long enough to complete the program recently projected with regard to the accommodation of labor disputes between the railroads and the employees, but it was not feasible in the circumstances to continue the session any longer and therefore only the most immediately pressing parts of the program could be completed."

"The rest, it is agreed, has merely been postponed until it can be more maturely deliberated and perfected. I have every reason to believe that it is the purpose of the leaders of the two houses, immediately upon the reassembling of congress, to undertake this additional legislation. It is evident that the country should be relieved of the anxiety which must have been created by recent events with regard to the fact that it was not feasible in the circumstances."

DEATH COMES TO MRS. ELIZABETH C. HANNA

Member of Prominent Pioneer Family Expires at Age of 87 Years.

Mrs. Elizabeth C. Hanna, widow of the late Henry C. Hanna and a member of one of the most prominent families of Fort Wayne, passed away at her residence, 429 East Berry street, Friday morning, at 7:30 o'clock. Death came at the age of eighty-seven years and followed a comparatively brief illness.

Mrs. Hanna, despite her advanced age, retained her good health and facilities until a week ago, when she was seized with an attack of acute indigestion. Since that time she gradually grew weaker and it was known Thursday that the end was drawing near.

The deceased was born in Coughlin, Canada, but came to Fort Wayne when she was ten years of age. The following year she returned to Canada, but when she was nineteen she came back to this city and had resided here ever since. She saw the city grow from a small trading post to its present size.

Her maiden name was Elizabeth Carson and she was a sister of the late Judge W. W. Carson of Fort Wayne. She was married to Mr. Hanna sixty-five years ago this coming October 25.

As a member of the First Presbyterian church she was an active worker in its affairs. Surviving she leaves three sons: Joseph T., Henry C. and Robert B., all of this city, and two grandchildren, Robert B., Jr., and Agnes Taylor Hanna, also of this city.

NEW COUNTY AGENT READY FOR SERVICE

A. J. Hutchins Arrives After Having Attended the State Fair.

A. J. Hutchins, new Allen county agricultural agent, has returned from the state fair, where, in conjunction with C. Henry, recently resigned as county agent for this county, he put on an exhibit at the fair including pictures of home improvement work and the oat smut check.

Mr. Hutchins says he was impressed with the diversity of things which the county agents were doing. There were exhibits by nineteen or twenty agents, he says, and practically all of them had something different. Mr. Hutchins states that he will take up the work as nearly as possible where Mr. Henry left off and especially will be active in work among the live stock breeders, including the Hunterton Live Stock and Agricultural association and the Fort Wayne District Shorthorn Breeders' association.

Mr. Hutchins comes to Fort Wayne from Decatur, Adams county, where he remained for one year. Previous to that time he spent two years in Clark county as agricultural agent with headquarters at Jeffersonville. He has had three years of active work in the field and has been efficient at all of those places.

TWO MORE MEN SENT TO FORT HARRISON

Two more recruits were accepted at the local recruiting station for the Indiana national guard Thursday afternoon and Friday morning they were sent to Fort Benjamin Harrison. They were William Black, aged 22 years, of Monroeville, and Dewey Mowery, aged 19, of Dunfee, Ind. This makes a total of four men who have been accepted at the station in charge of Second Lieutenant Howard Miller.

Next week Lieutenant Miller will establish temporary offices in small towns near Fort Wayne and recruiting work will be done there.

SAY STRIKE IS BROKEN

New York Street Railway Officials Are Claiming a Victory.

NORMAL SCHEDULE ON SUBWAY AND L

King of Strike-Breakers is Seeking to Make Boast Good.

New York, Sept. 8.—With subway and elevated trains being operated apparently on normal schedules, traction officials insisted today that New York's strike has been broken.

Fifty per cent. of the "green cars" of the New York Railway company's surface system were running, the company announced, and police department reports indicated that the walkout was not having a widespread effect. Union leaders claimed at noon that 3,500 men were on strike on the subway and elevated roads and 4,000 men on the green car system.

All cars on the so-called "green" lines, representing the greater part of the surface system, in Manhattan and the Bronx, had been withdrawn at 8 o'clock last night, after maintaining during the day a service that was barely 20 per cent. of normal.

King of Strike-Breakers on Job.
When the surface cars were started out again at 8 o'clock this morning the situation was in charge of James T. Waddell, known as the king of strike-breakers. Mr. Waddell came here from Chicago last night, making the run by special train in twenty hours. He promised to crush the strike in forty-eight hours.

"I have 3,500 strike-breakers here," said Waddell, "and 2,700 of these are now working. There are more than enough to control the situation. Subway and elevated trains ran last night and this morning as usual. Fearing that the strikers would be able to interrupt the service thousands of persons yesterday patronized the multitude of jitney automobiles that mobilize at every important center, but today the traveling public returned to its accustomed routes, by subway and elevated."

A number of elevated trains were attacked during the early morning but no case was there any approach to a mob riot. Strike sympathizers on the roofs of tenement houses bombarded the trains with bottles and bricks, and in one instance with pistol shots. None of the bullets took effect but several passengers were cut by missiles and broken glass. The police surrounded the blocks from which the missiles came and searched the roofs but made only a few arrests. Rumors of a plot to blow up the subway caused the police to maintain a watch at every underground station, but the subway trains ran during the night and early morning without molestation.

VETERANS OF CIVIL WAR HOLD REUNION

The annual reunion of the Forty-fourth Indiana volunteer infantry was held Thursday at Waterloo, at which time Comrade Solomon Cox, of Angola, was elected president of the veterans association. William Biel was chosen vice president and Miss Josephine Willis, daughter of Comrade Willis, who held the position until his death, was named treasurer and secretary. The 1917 reunion will be held in Angola. The Fort Wayne veterans who attended the reunion were Captain W. A. Kelley, Jasper Edsall, M. Thomas and W. Daugherty.

18-YEAR-OLD GIRL IS INDICTED FOR MURDER

Huntsville, Ark., Sept. 8.—Naomi Beach, 18-year-old daughter of a farmer living near here, was today indicted on a charge of first degree murder. She is said to have admitted that she shot and killed Earl Sisco, 20, son of a neighbor, on July 11.

They had been sweethearts, but had quarreled. The girl is reported to have said that she killed the boy because he cursed her when she sought a reconciliation.

NET EARNINGS HIGHER.

Washington, Sept. 8.—Sixty-seven of the large steam railways earned a net revenue of $545 per mile during last July, an increase of $43 a mile over July, 1915. A summary made public today by the inter-state commerce commission shows net revenues totaled $41,355,921 compared with $39,811,758 for the same month of the previous year.

Physical Director Plans Busy Winter

MISS ELEANOR S. BILL.

Miss Eleanor S. Bill, new physical director at the Y. W. C. A., is planning a busy season in her department. At the present time she is making arrangements for a tennis tournament to be given at Swinney park, starting Saturday, September 16.

CAPT. BARLOW HAS NO COMPLAINT TO OFFER

New York, Sept. 8.—Details of the firing on and stopping of the American steamer Owego by the German submarine in the English channel on Aug. 3 were told by Captain E. W. Barlow, of the Owego, on her arrival today from Rotterdam.

CHARLES S. BASH IS SERIOUSLY ILL

Charles S. Bash, one of the best known business men of Fort Wayne, is seriously ill at his home, 1114 West Wayne street. He was taken sick Wednesday morning and Wednesday evening his condition was extremely grave and members of the family were summoned to his bedside. However, he rallied and since that time has shown marked improvement. He is suffering from hardening of the arteries. Mr. Bash has been in failing health the entire summer.

HUGHES FINDS MAINE CAMPAIGN STRENUOUS

Portland, Maine, Sept. 8.—Charles E. Hughes entered today upon the second of three strenuous days of campaigning in Maine, whose elections are to be held here next Monday.

STUDENT AVIATORS BADLY HURT IN FALL

New York, Sept. 8.—Flying at a height of between 600 and 700 feet over Governor's island today, a biplane containing J. Walter V. Struthers and Charles Wiman, student aviators in training, for the ero reserve corps authorized recently by President Wilson, became unmanageable and fell to the ground after a series of short spirals by which Struthers, who was piloting the machine, was unable to avert the accident.

STATE FAIR COMES TO CLOSE

Total Attendance for Week Has Been About 140,000
Indianapolis, Ind., Sept. 8.—The Indiana state fair closed today after having been visited by approximately 140,000 persons since Monday morning. All of the special attractions were given today, and most of the fairgoers were expected to leave the grounds today.

BEATEN BY A HEAVY VOTE

Women Suffragists Refuse to Make Anthony Amendment Campaign Test.

EFFORT IN AID OF MR. HUGHES FAILS

Convention Delegates Are Rapidly Learning How to Cast Votes.

Atlantic City, N. J., Sept. 8.—The National American Woman Suffrage association convention today defeated by an overwhelming vote a resolution that the association in the present national campaign support only those candidates for national offices who pledge their support to the passage of the Susan B. Anthony amendment for a federal constitutional amendment. The resolution was recommended by Mrs. Raymond Robins, of Chicago, and a number of other delegates.

Delegates who say they expect to be enfranchised before many years have passed, are taking time by the forelock and are learning how to vote.

Follow Primary Laws.
In electing their national officers the delegates are following much the same plan of states where there are state-wide primary laws. The candidates first filed petitions duly signed by a certain number of persons, to have their names placed on the primary ballot. The time for filing nomination papers closed late last night and today a primary election was held. The two candidates receiving the highest vote for any one office will be placed on the election ballot.

Delegates have been practicing on the machines in order to be able to vote without making a mistake. Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, national president of the organization, tried one in New York a week ago and voted a full ticket in 17 seconds. Others are trying to break the record she has established.

Election laws have been adopted that prohibit women from electioneering at the polling place and from carrying on their campaign for favorite candidates within one hundred feet of the polling place, which is in one of the parlors of a beach front hotel.

No Opposition to Mrs. Catt.
With the exception of three officers who have announced they will retire after the present officers' term, no one is expected to be re-elected. So far as can be learned Mrs. Catt has no opposition for president. It is said Mrs. Walter McNab Miller, of Columbia, Mo., will be elected first vice president to succeed Mrs. Frank M. Roosevelt, of Pittsburgh, Pa. Mrs. Thomas Jefferson Smith, of Kentucky, is said to be the probable successor of Mrs. Miller as first auditor.

One of the principal matters before the convention today was the resolution declaring that the message of the federal amendment through congress is the paramount object of the association. It has created much debate and was expected to be further discussed today. President Wilson will speak tonight.

WILL ADD 100,000 TO FEDERATION STRENGTH

Union Bricklayers Plan to Unite With National Labor Body.

Lafayette, Ind., Sept. 8.—What is regarded as one of the most important moves in the history of the American Federation of Labor will be made at the national convention at Baltimore in November when the admission of the International Union of Bricklayers and Masons will in all probability be ratified.

Application for affiliation was made yesterday and messages were sent from the national headquarters to the offices of each affiliated union asking their attitude on the question. The replies received so far are all unanimous in favor of admission. The bricklayers claim jurisdiction over certain work ceded to the plasterers, and some difficulty may be encountered in settling the jurisdictional dispute. The admission of the bricklayers and masons to the American Federation of Labor will add about 100,000 to the federation membership.

AUTO SKIDS; OVERTURNS.

Three Painfully Hurt in Accident Near Princeton.

Princeton, Ind., Sept. 8.—Three people were seriously hurt near here last night when an automobile driven by Merritt Howe, 35, on the way home from a dance, skidded and turned completely over. Howe has broken ribs and internal injuries. Mary, his sister, is unhurt today, and most of the passengers were expected to leave the grounds today.

ADVOCATES HEALTH SCHEME OF GERMANY

Dr. J. H. Gilpin Would Battle Disease Germs by Many School Recesses.

As the most effective precaution against disease germs after schools open, Dr. J. H. Gilpin, secretary of the board of health, advocates the health scheme employed in common schools of Germany.

"I believe especially in their hourly recess plan. It would be a fine thing for Fort Wayne schools. The plan is to have a ten minute recess every hour during the school day. The children are driven out of doors at every intermission. They are forced to fill their lungs with fresh air. They must take exercise. They change their position. It gives the school room a chance to air out and the children a chance to take on a cargo of pure air. It is the best fortification against disease."

"It would be a fine thing for Fort Wayne schools to start at this time when constant vigilance against germs must be maintained. Children would soon become accustomed to being turned out for a constitutional every hour. They would work better when they returned to the classroom. Their bodies would be stronger in disease resistance power."

Sanctifying precautions are to be taken in the schools this year. Teachers are to be given special instructions on maintaining healthful conditions. Children who are not clean are to be sent home. Any child showing the slightest indisposition is to be ordered examined by a physician before he or she can return to school.

DR. LYON'S SON HAS VERY NARROW ESCAPE

Big Machine Started to Tip Over High Embankment on River Road.

Arthur Lyon, son of Evangelist Milford H. Lyon, of Winona, Minn., who conducted a series of tabernacle meetings here a couple of years ago, and who spoke at the Bowser plant Thursday, had a narrow escape from injury and probably instant death when a big Buick touring car which he was driving, started over the embankment along the Tippecanoe river road, three miles west of Warsaw.

Young Lyon attempted to pass a road scraper to which four horses were being driven, and in so doing the big machine started to tip and leave the road. There were several men working on the scraper at the time and seeing the predicament the driver was in, hurried to his assistance. They managed to keep the big machine from rolling down the bank by bracing it until it could be pulled back into the road.

The bank along the river road was fully twenty feet high and had the machine turned over it is probable that Mr. Lyon would have been seriously, if not fatally injured.

INDIANAPOLIS WANTS IT.

After National Headquarters of Railway Mail Clerks.

Indianapolis, Sept. 8.—A movement to bring the national headquarters of the Railway Mail Clerks' association to Indianapolis, has been started. The executive committee of the national association is said to be intending to consider in the near future a change in the location of the headquarters which at present are at Portsmouth, N. H. Members of the fifth division, which includes territory in Indiana, Ohio and Kentucky are arranging to make the invitation from Indianapolis a strong one.

Bread Consumers Regard Increase as Necessity

Dealers throughout the city state that very few people have complained or grumbled about the raise in the price of bread. Citizens in general regard it as the natural consequence of the high cost of living and do not blame the dealer or the baker for the advanced prices. Of course, there are some who do not like the increase, but most of them realize that it is a natural consequence and can not be avoided. One bakery is manufacturing a double loaf which retails at the old price of ten cents, but dealers are instructed not to break the loaf. Six cent bread is here indefinitely. At least there is not much hope of a return to the old prices.

RUSSIANS ARE ON OFFENSIVE

Strike at Bulgars and Germans from Danube to the Black Sea.

FRENCH SUCCEED IN
CLINGING TO GAIN

Furious Attacks by German Armies Fail to Beat Back Their Foes.

Today's War News Given in Summary

The beginning of a great battle in southeastern Rumania is reported unofficially from Petrograd. The Russians are said to have taken the offensive over the entire Dobruja front, attacking the invading Bulgarians and Germans from the Danube to the Black sea.

An undated Bulgarian official report announces important victories for the invaders in this region. It is said the German and Bulgarian forces have captured the fortified town of Dobric, or Bazardjik, fifty miles southeast of Bucharest, and three towns on the Rumanian Black sea coast, near the Bulgarian frontier. Sofia concedes that the Rumanians have occupied the important Hungarian town of Orsova, capture of which has previously been reported unofficially.

German troops along the Somme front last night made repeated efforts to take back ground won by the French in their latest advance south of the river. The struggle over the ground between Berny and Chaulnes was marked with unusual violence. Paris announces officially that the assaults of the Germans availed them nothing and the French everywhere held their ground.

On the Verdun front, also, French troops were subjected to a counter attack, the object of which was to reconquer German first line positions over a front of nearly a mile northeast of Verdun, which the French took yesterday. These efforts were unsuccessful, the report says. The British troops on the Somme front were comparatively inactive. Further north, near Ghinchi, the British raided German trenches and, London says, inflicted severe losses on the occupants.

An official Bulgarian statement of Sept. 4, dealing with the earlier phases of the invasion of Eastern Rumania, tells of the defeat of the Rumanians in two engagements and reports a successful Bulgarian advance along the Rumanian Black sea coast.

London, Sept. 8.—The beginning of a great battle in southeastern Rumania, where the Russians have taken the offensive against the Bulgarians and Germans, is reported in a Rome dispatch given out by the Wireless Press. The struggle is now under way on the whole front between the Danube and the Black sea. Fighting is particularly desperate near Baltjik, on the Black sea coast, about ten miles north of the Bulgarian frontier.

This information, the wireless dispatch says, was received in Rome from Petrograd.

Bulgars Claim Victory.
An undated official Bulgarian report received here today says that the Bulgarian and German forces which are invading eastern Rumania have captured the fortress of Dobric Bazardjik and the seaports of Baltjik, Kavarna and Kaliakra. The occupation of Orsova by the Rumanians is conceded in the Bulgarian statement.

British troops southwest of Lille last night raided the German trenches southeast of Ghinchi and near Fiechbourg l'Avoue, inflicting severe losses on their occupants, says the British official statement issued this afternoon.

SESSION HAS BEEN BIG ONE

Vast Deal of Work Marks the Total of Congressional Achievement.

NATIONAL DEFENSE WAS THE BIG ITEM

Law Preventing Railroad Strike Came as Later Important Issue.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 8.—The first session of the Sixty-fourth congress which adjourned today was concerned chiefly with national defense.

When the gavel fell congress had directed reorganization and re-equipment of the army and navy for defense of the country at the unprecedented cost of $655,000,000 with authorizations that will increase the total in three years to nearly $800,000,000. With all other expenditures, appropriations were brought to the grand total of $1,637,583,682, the greatest aggregate in the country's history and exceeding that for the last fiscal year by more than half a billion dollars.

Expenditures, necessitated by preparedness and the calling into action of military forces to meet the Mexican emergency demanded revenue legislation in the closing days of the session. Congress responded by doubling the normal tax on incomes, creating an inheritance tax, munitions tax and miscellaneous excise taxes to raise $205,000,000 and by directing sale of $130,000,000 Panama canal bonds.

Some of its Accomplishments. Congress established a tariff commission; a government shipping board to rehabilitate the American merchant marine; a workmen's compensation commission to administer the new law; a farm loan banking system; a child labor law; enlarged the system of self-government in the Philippines and enacted many other important laws which had been contemplated by the administration.

The session was disturbed throughout by frequently recurring threats of foreign complications from the European war and imminence at one time of a diplomatic break with Germany; interference with American mails and commerce, invasion of American soil and killing of Americans by Mexican bandits, and danger of actual war with Mexico.

Later in the session trouble arose in the senate over the nomination of Louis D. Brandeis, of Boston, to succeed the late Justice Lamar as a member of the supreme court. Weeks of investigation and deliberation by the judiciary committee ended in confirmation of Mr. Brandeis by a large majority.

Prevented Rail Strike. In the week before adjournment congress was occupied with legislation which prevented a threatened nationwide railroad strike. President Wilson called the session to order on the day the strike was threatened. The session was devoted to the consideration of the railroad bill, which provided for the payment of railroad workers on a basis of eight hours a day as a basis for pay of railroad workers, the president rate of pay for ten hours' work not to be reduced and the men to receive pro rata pay for work in excess of eight hours, pending an investigation by a special commission into the effect of the eight hour day on railroad revenues.

Many Important Laws. Most important legislative enactments of the session, exclusive of laws for national defense, were the following: Railroad Eight Hour Day Law—Establishing eight hours as the standard for reckoning the compensation of railroad employees operating trains in interstate commerce after Jan. 1, 1917, and providing for a commission of three to investigate the effects of the eight hour standard, present wages not to be reduced during the investigation, nor for thirty days thereafter, and work in excess of eight hours to be paid for at a pro rata rate.

Government ship law—Appropriating $50,000,000 to operate ships in foreign and coastwise trade when unable to lease them to individuals or private corporations.

Child Labor Law—Denying interstate commerce to products of mines and quarries employing children under 16 years of age, and factories, mills, canneries and other establishments employing children under 14 years.

Rural Credits Law—Establishing a Farm Loan board in control of a system of farm loan mortgage banks.

Workmen's Compensation Law—Providing uniform sick and accident benefits for employees of the federal government, and benefits to dependents in case of death.

Emergency Revenue Law—Providing for doubling the normal income tax on the lowest class; making an additional surtax ranging from one per cent on that portion of incomes exceeding $20,000 to 13 per cent on amount of incomes in excess of $200,000; levying a graduated tax of one to ten per cent on inheritances ranging from $50,000 to $5,000,000; a ten per cent net profit tax on manufacturers of munitions, five per cent net profit tax on manufacturers of materials entering into munitions; license tax on actually invested capital stock of corporations capitalized at more than $99,000; wine, beer and liquor excise taxes and miscellaneous stamp taxes.

Good Roads Law—Providing for cooperative federal aid to the states for construction of highways, and appropriating $75,000,000 to be spent in five years.

Postal Savings Law—Amendment increasing the amount which individuals may deposit from $500 to $1,000 with interest and an additional $1,000 without interest.

Federal Reserve—Amendments, including amendment to the Clayton act, trust law permitting officers and directors of member banks to become officers and directors of not more than two other non-competing banks; amendments permitting national banks to establish foreign branches, liberalizing regulations for discounting commercial paper and permitting member banks in towns of 3,000 or less population to act as agents for insurance companies.

Railroad Legislation—Creation of a joint sub-committee of senate and house interstate commerce committees to investigate necessity for further legislation for railroads and the interstate commerce commission, question of government ownership of public utilities and comparative worth of government ownership and private ownership regulation.

Tariff—Creation of a non-partisan tariff commission of five members to investigate and advise congress on tariff revision; repeal of the free sugar provision of existing tariff law; amendments increasing duties on dyestuffs to encourage manufacturing dyestuffs in the United States; enactment of an anti-dumping provision to prevent dumping of foreign made goods at less than foreign market prices; authorization for the president to retaliate against foreign nations prohibiting importation of goods from the United States by laying an embargo against imports from offending nations.

Cotton Futures Act—Providing a prohibitory tax on cotton sold for future delivery in fictitious or wash sales.

Philippines—Law to provide for a more autonomous government of the islands, enlarging self-government, reorganizing election laws, establishing an elective senate and promising independence whenever, in the judgment of the United States, the Philippine people demonstrate capability for it.

The Appropriations Made. Appropriations for all purposes were: Agriculture $24,948,532; Army 267,590,530; Navy 128,411,907; Diplomatic and consular 5,355,096; District of Columbia 12,841,907; Fortifications 25,748,050; Indian affairs 10,967,644; Legislative and executive 37,925,600; Military academy 1,223,043; Navy 313,300,095; Pensions 158,065,000; Postoffice 322,937,679; River and harbor 40,598,195; Sunday closing 128,220,285; Permanent appropriations 131,074,673; Shipping bill 50,100,000; Deficiencies 72,500,000; Rural credits 6,100,000; Good roads 6,000,000; Floods 2,000,000.

Grand total $1,637,583,682. In addition to the total there were authorizations for expenditures in future years, including naval, good roads, tariff commission and other expenditures to bring the total to approximately two billion dollars, but these amounts do not properly apply to the appropriations for the fiscal year.

Much Miscellaneous Work. In addition congress enacted an unusually large amount of miscellaneous legislation, including reorganization of the patent office, provision for trial of space system in place of weight system for payment for railroad mail service and existing to the interstate commerce commission determination of the method and rate of pay; creation of a national park bureau in the department of the interior; establishing warehouse regulations for cotton and grains and providing a new grain grading law; extension for a year of the government war risk insurance bureau; uniform law making bills of lading negotiable.

Proposed legislation which failed of enactment and has gone over until next winter includes the immigration bill, the corrupt practices act to limit campaign expenditures for election of the president, vice president and members of congress; a vocational education bill passed by the senate; conservation legislation, including the public lands water power bill, the Shields' navigable streams water power bill, which failed in conference; the oil leasing bill, including relief for California oil men; a house, and a bill to establish citizenship for natives of Porto Rico.

Four Treaties Ratified. Four treaties were ratified by the senate. The most important was the long pending Nicaraguan convention, providing for the acquisition of a canal route and naval station rights in the Bay of Fonseca for $3,000,000, and that ratified in the closing hours provided for the purchase of the Danish West Indies for $25,000,000. Another was the treaty with the Republic of Haiti providing for an American financial protectorate. The much-disputed pending treaty with Colombia, after several years of consideration, was favorably reported from the foreign relations committee with an amendment reducing the amount of the loan to $10,000,000.

partition of Panama. The treaty, however, was never taken up in the senate because of unrelenting opposition to it on the part of many senators, and it remains on the calendar. A treaty with Great Britain providing for protection of migratory birds on both sides of the Canadian border was ratified. Death claimed four members of congress during the session. Senators Shively, of Indiana, and Burleigh, of Maine, and Representatives Brown and Moss, both of West Virginia. Representative Witherspoon, of Mississippi, died just before the session began.

RESOLVE TO BUILD MANY NEW SIDEWALKS

Board of Works Confirms Resolutions and Grants Alley Contracts.

Petitions for a dozen new concrete sidewalks were acted upon favorably by the board of works in regular session Thursday night. Few objections to the improvements are expected. The walks will be finished this fall.

Location of the sidewalks petitioned for are as follows: Jackson street, from Lavinia street to the south line of lot No. 3 in Chippewa addition; on the south side of Walnut street, from Fairfield avenue to Oakley street; on the east side of South Wayne, from Organ avenue south; on both sides of Beaver, from Federal to Rudisill boulevard; on the north side of Greenlawn avenue, from Koch street to Henshaw street; on both sides of Leitch street, from Calhoun street to Hoagland avenue; on the south side of Grace avenue, from Fox street to Broadway; on both sides of Grant street, from Washington street to Maumee avenue; on the west side of Lantz street, from Tennessee avenue to Delaware avenue, and for the paving of the alley north of Creighton avenue, from Fox street to Miner street.

The Grace Construction company was awarded contracts for paving the following alleys with concrete: The alley between Jefferson and Washington, from Monroe to Francis; between Calhoun and Harrison, from Douglas to Brackenridge; between Washington and Jefferson, from College to Nelson; between Hanna and Webster, from Creighton to Woodland; between Fairfield and South Wayne, from Wildwood to the first alley north of Wildwood; between Hanna and Weiser Park avenue, from Pontiac to McKee.

A petition for the construction of a sewer in the alley north of Rudisill avenue, from Indiana to Beaver avenue, was referred to the city engineer, with instructions to prepare plans and specifications for the proposed improvement. Assessment rolls were adopted for the sidewalks on State street, from Parnell to Florida drive, and for grading and sidewalks on Sinclair street, from Runyon avenue to the Grand Rapids & Indiana railroad.

PRESIDENT UP EARLY TO ATTACK DAY'S WORK

Much to Do Before Wilson's Departure for Atlantic City Address.

Washington, Sept. 8.—To complete the work incidental to the adjournment of congress President Wilson was up early today signing bills, executive orders and commissions which he desired to dispose of before leaving for Atlantic City at 1 o'clock this afternoon. He arranged to go to the capitol to sign the urgent deficiency, the revenue and other bills passed in the closing hours of congress.

The president will arrive at Atlantic City shortly after 5 p. m. today and will remain at a hotel there until he speaks tonight at the convention of the National Woman Suffrage association. The president did not prepare his suffrage speech fully in advance, but plans to develop his position that while he believes in votes for women he thinks each state should settle the question for itself.

President Wilson had on his list of callers today Sir Cecil Spring-Rice, the British ambassador, who was to present King George's reply to the president's appeal to all the European belligerents for an agreement permitting the shipment of relief supplies to portions of Poland, occupied by Teutonic armies.

The reply was said to follow the position already laid down by the allies, that Germany's insistence upon the right to feed her garrison on Polish products, makes it impossible for them to allow supplies to go into the country through their lines.

URGES OBSERVANCE OF PRISON SUNDAY

Indianapolis, Sept. 8.—The Indiana board of state charities has started the work of calling attention to the fact that Prison Sunday is to be observed the last Sunday in October. Amos W. Butler, secretary of the state board, is sending post cards to pastors of various denominations all over the state, asking them to unite with those who have observed the day in past years. The card says: "We are now ready to read: 'Will you unite with the thousands of other churches throughout our land in the observance of Prison Sunday—the last Sunday in October? The extended recognition of this day by our churches is very gratifying and we earnestly hope to have your co-operation this year. The appeal comes to all to present the cause of the prisoner; the offender, the one who is neglected and dependent; to show the causes of crime, degeneracy and poverty, to learn how we minister to those who have fallen and what must be done to prevent the fall of others. No collection is desired. We will send you our 'Prison on Sunday' pamphlet free of charge on request."

Mr. Butler says he is receiving a general response to the appeal.

Report on Indiana Indeterminate Measure is Encouraging One.

Indianapolis, Ind., Sept. 8.—A report on the results of the application of the indeterminate sentence law in Indiana has been compiled by the state board of charities and corrections, and was made public today.

After speaking of the good the indeterminate sentence law has accomplished by permitting paroles to prisoners and offenders deserving such, the report says in part:

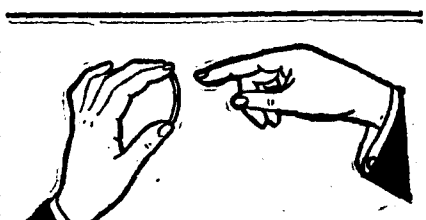

"This law has now been in operation in Indiana nineteen years. Within that time 9,593 men and 277 women, a total of 9,870, have been released under its provisions. More than sixty per cent of these (5,984 to be exact) have been discharged from parole, having lived up to the terms of their conditional release for at least one year. The sentence of 460 expired while they were on parole, 162 died, 657 are still under supervision. Altogether, these constitute 73.6 per cent of the whole number paroled, leaving only 2,607, or 26.4 per cent, who violated their paroles. This is remarkable testimony to the value of the system now in operation. Under the former method of definite sentence the figures were practically reversed.

"The system has its financial advantages as well. It costs an average of $175 annually to maintain an inmate of one of three state prisons. Paroled prisoners must earn their own living and the records show that they have succeeded. An accurate account is kept of all cash receipts and reported to the proper authorities. The 9,870 men and women who have been paroled in the past nineteen years earned a total of $2,736,657.01 during the time they were under supervision, paid their own expenses and when they were under supervision, paid their own expenses and when they ceased reporting had savings on hand amounting to $501,542.84, an average of $50.81 each."

TRACTION ENGINE EXPLODES.

One Fatally Hurt, Others Seriously Burned in Accident.

Batesville, Ind., Sept. 8.—Herbert Gunther, 21, was hurled one hundred feet into the air and so badly scalded and burned that he is not expected to live and three others were burned seriously when both ends of a traction engine were shattered by an explosion here yesterday. The injured are William Schupper, 50; Fred S. Oppenhaus, 35, and William Ahrens, 21. The explosion occurred while the men were engaged in shredding corn. A horse, which was nearby, was thrown fifty feet by the force of the explosion.

STUDEBAKERS WILL SPEND $1,500,000

Enlargement of Plant to Require 6,000 Employees at South Bend.

South Bend, Ind., Sept. 8.—The Studebaker corporation made announcement today of the perfection of plans for the extension of the South Bend plant, at a cost of $1,500,000, which will increase the number of employees to more than 6,000. Contracts for the erection of new foundries and machine shops have already been let.

With the completion of the present plans the plant will be further augmented by the addition of other buildings at a cost of $1,000,000. By January, 1918, it is expected to have 7,000 men on the pay roll in South Bend. Half a million dollars will be spent in increasing the plant in Detroit, Mich., during the next year. When the entire undertakings are complete the capacity of the combined factories will make it possible for the corporation to exceed $100,000,000 annual turnover. The average number of employees here has increased from 2,701 in 1912 to 5,023, due to the use on automobile work of available facilities at South Bend. The total wages and salaries now disbursed by the corporation in South Bend exceed $4,000,000 a year, while the average rate of hourly wages has increased 50 per cent above the rate of 1912.

SECOND WARD YOUNG DEMOCRATS TO MEET

There will be a meeting of the Second ward club of the Young Men's Democratic league tonight at 8 o'clock at democratic headquarters, 126 East Main street.

Byron Hayes will preside, he being captain. Edward Breenhan and L. M. Bane, attorney, of the board of governors, will have charge of the meeting. Elgin C. Lochrane, Ed Quillman, Wayne Monahan and Ed Hammond are members of a committee working with the captain and governors at this meeting.

Peters Will Speak. Earl Peters, secretary for Congressman Cyrus Cline, will give the principal address, his subject being, "The Young Man in the Political Life at Washington."

There will be a meeting of the Jefferson Drum corps at 8 o'clock tonight over democratic headquarters. Those in charge of the meeting are preparing for an enthusiastic gathering.

Pension Bill Passes. The widow's pension bill, for which Congressman Cyrus Cline fought, has passed the senate. The bill provides for an increase of pensions for widows of civil war veterans from $12 to $20 a month. Mr. Cline has been a hard worker for the pension bill and has made several speeches in the house in its favor.

MUST HAVE HIGHWAY BUREAU.

Senator Taggart Gets Ruling on the Case of Indiana.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 8.—Each state must organize a highway department before the department of agriculture can co-operate with it in the distribution of funds provided for by the federal good roads act.

A ruling to this effect has just been given by the department of agriculture in the case of Indiana where there is no highway department. The ruling was sought by Senator Taggart of Indiana.

TREVINO'S WIDOW APPEALS.

Objects to Court Order in Appointment for Estate.

San Antonio, Texas, Sept. 8.—Appeal from the county court appointing E. O. Cord, guardian and Geromino Trevino, Jr., principal heir to more than $15,000,000 left by the late General Geromino Trevino, was filed in the seventy-third district court here yesterday by Mrs. Guadalupe Zambrano Trevino, widow of the general. The estate is located largely in Arizona and Mexico.

ANOTHER WHITE MAN SEES BLONDE ESKIMOS

Some Progress is Made in Clearing Ethnological Mystery.

Saskatoon, Sask., Sept. 8.—The tribe of blonde Eskimos which Harry V. Radford, of New York, the murdered explorer, reported he had found on Coronation bluff far in the arctic zone, have again been visited by a white man. In a letter received today from Rev. H. C. Gilling, of Emmanuel college, by Rev. Dr. Carpenter, principal of the college, the missionary announced he reached the fair dwellers of the arctic on Oct. 10, 1913, and remained with them some time.

He asserts that he is the first white man to dwell among the new found people, who since their discovery have constituted an ethnological mystery and formed the goal of unsuccessful expeditions. The letter was dated last December from "Camp Necessity," ten miles from the blonde tribe, the first of whom, the missionary said he found about ten miles east of Cochrane Point. Referring to the education of the new people, Mr. Gilling said that a great deal already had been accomplished in the direction of vocabulary and grammar. The total wages and salaries now disbursed by the corporation in South Bend exceed $4,000,000 a year, while the average rate of hourly wages has increased 50 per cent above the rate of 1912.

HELD PRISONERS IN OVERTURNED AUTO

Three Ladies Have Narrow Escape from Injury When Limousine Turns Over.

Three young ladies who were pleasure riding in a large seven-passenger Dodge limousine owned by the Brudi Transfer company and driven by Miss Naomi Brudi, had a narrow escape from serious injury at 5 o'clock Thursday afternoon when the large car turned over on its side after crashing into the rear of a delivery wagon. The accident occurred at Maumee avenue and Lombard street.

The young ladies were held prisoners until liberated by Dr. G. G. Brudi, of New Haven, who chanced along. The three occupants of the limousine escaped uninjured and all three were taken to their homes by Miss Brudi's father, who was called to the scene.

Witnesses say that Miss Brudi was not to blame for the accident since she was forced to make a quick turn in order to avoid striking another machine which was running by her. After striking the delivery wagon and damaging it to a great extent the large car struck the curb and then fell over on its side.

"HOGGING OFF" CORN IS GOOD PLAN, SAY AGENTS

Lafayette, Ind., Sept. 8.—A recent bulletin issued by the agricultural extension department of Purdue university devotes considerable space to the question of "hogging off corn." It says:

"The opinion that hogging off corn is a wasteful and shiftless practice has been more or less common among good farmers. Feeding tests, conducted under average conditions, however, prove quite the opposite."

Among the advantages experiments in various parts of the state in co-operation with county agents, have shown are the following:

- "More pork produced from the corn crop."
- "Rapid and economical gains in hogs."
- "Labor and expense saved in harvesting and marketing crop."
- "Savings of crib space."
- "Corn stalks left in better condition for next year's work."
- "Corn crop is fed in field where grown, and to a large extent plant food contained in the crop is returned directly to the soil."
- "Manure produced by the hogs is scattered on the corn crop."

20 RACERS ENTER FOR THE HARVEST CLASSIC

Indianapolis, Sept. 8.—Twenty automobile race drivers have entered for the harvest classic races to be held at the Indianapolis motor speedway Saturday. A number of them now are at the speedway tuning up their cars. Many of them have raced over the course before. Three events are on the program, twenty miles, fifty miles and 100 miles. Injuries to drivers and cars in other recent races in aid to have reduced the number of entries here by at least five.

Following are among the drivers who have entered the races: Aitken, Merz, Ostewig, Christaens, Wilcox, Rickenbacher, Buzane, Galvin, Henderson, Milton, D'Alene, Gable, Klein, De Palma, Devlin, Miller and Toft. Three cars have been entered in the race for which the drivers' names have not been announced.

SAYS HUSBAND HARD PERSON TO SATISFY

"Mr. Hughes is Certainly Well Pleased With Tanlac, However," Wife Asserts.

"My husband is a hard man to satisfy with a medicine but he is greatly pleased with the results Tanlac brought him," Mrs. Willard Hughes, of 2812 Poohey avenue, said on April 11. Mr. Hughes is a well known conductor for the Pennsylvania railroad.

"My husband suffered from catarrh of the bladder and the catarrh which was his worst trouble had ruined his appetite, and caused him to have headaches and experience frequent dizzy spells. The kidney trouble caused severe pains in his back.

"It was only a few days after Mr. Hughes started taking Tanlac that he began to improve. He slept more soundly and felt rested in the mornings and his appetite became much better. He sleeps fine now and feels stronger and better in every way. The headaches and dizzy spells, due to catarrh of the bladder, have been banished and he says the kidney trouble has been greatly relieved.

"I gladly recommend Tanlac and I know my husband recommends it from the bottom of his heart."

Tanlac, the Master Medicine, is especially beneficial for stomach, liver and kidney trouble, catarrh complaints, rheumatism, nervousness, sleeplessness, loss of appetite and the like and is a fine reconstructive tonic.

Tanlac is now being specially introduced and explained in Fort Wayne at the four Meyer drug stores—Wayne and Calhoun streets; Calhoun and Columbia; 1420 Calhoun and Broadway and Taylor streets.—Advertisement.

CROOKS IN WAKE OF CAMPAIGN JOURNEYS

Thieves Reported Reaping Very Rich Harvest of Pocketbooks.

(Special Correspondence.) Seattle, Wash., Sept. 7.—Charles Evans Hughes, republican presidential candidate, has a big "following" of dips and confidence men.

Members of alleged "dip" gang rounded up by Seattle police in wake of Hughes meeting. At top: "O. K. Kid" and "The Gorilla."

President Wilson will have 'em, too, when he goes campaigning.

This year, more than ever before, say secret service men, the itinerary of the party standard bearer, is being made the "big time circuit" for the light fingered gentry of crookdom.

Scores of them are known by the police to be following in the wake of the Hughes party across country, though the first big haul by detectives was not made until after the republican nominee had reached Seattle.

Here "The Gorilla," 53, a notorious character; the "O. K. Kid," equally well known in police records; "The Bug," the "Louse Kid" and several other many-alias companions were arrested on charges of operating in a picnic crowd, following the Hughes meeting.

Past records of "The Gorilla" and the "O. K. Kid," also known respectively as R. N. Robertson and William Watson, show them followers of presidential fairs, and they were arrested at Peoria, Ill., in the wake of the McKinley special.

"The O. K. Kid" and Harry Gardner were charged here with grand larceny, while the other members of the alleged gang were held on open charges growing out of scores of complaints by persons whose pockets had been rifled at the Seattle picnic.

Secret service operatives with the Hughes party had tipped off the local police that a number of notorious "dips" were attending the candidate's meetings.

Partisan enthusiasts are apt at spell-binding climaxes to forget all about their loose change and watch fobs dangling carelessly. It is then the "dip" worms his way through the packed crowds, suddenly loses interest in statesmanship and adds his own personal "touch" to the joyous occasion.

It would seem a wise precaution, Seattle police suggest, for campaign audiences to applaud with the feet or by whistling like the "gallery god," leaving the hands free to protect the pocket fortune.

TURN OUT REAMS OF NEW MEXICAN MONEY

Coinage of Gold and Silver to Follow the Present Issue of Paper.

Mexico City, Aug. 30.—(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)—The destruction of the so-called Vera Cruz issue of Mexico currency and the issuance of the new paper money known as "infalsificables," have made the government printing office one of the busiest spots in Mexico. The Vera Cruz bills, over $50,000,000 worth of which have been destroyed, are cut into strips in a hydraulic press, transformed into pulp and made into cardboard and pasteboard, of which there is great scarcity. This product finds a ready sale and it is possible that the government may also destroy old documents to produce material for a government box factory in the near future.

The department now is working at high pressure to turn out the new "infalsificable" $2 bills, sorely needed because of the scarcity of small change.

Not only the modern presses, but even the old hand presses are being utilized to expedite the work.

The tremendous quantity of stamps and post cards printed under the Huerta regime are being revaluated by the impress of a special die changing the denomination.

The stamping out of copper coins has been begun and it is announced this is to be followed shortly by the coinage of both gold and silver.

DAILY BIBLE READINGS FOR THE HOME

- Titus 2:1-14.
1. But speak thou the things which become sound doctrine:
 2. That the aged men be sober, grave, temperate, sound in faith, in charity, in patience.
 3. The aged women likewise, that they be in behaviour as becometh holiness, not false accusers, not given to much wine, teachers of good things,
 4. That they may teach the young women to be sober, to love their husbands, to love their children,
 5. To be discreet, chaste, keepers at home, good, obedient to their own husbands, that the word of God be not blasphemed.
 6. Young men likewise exhort to be sober-minded,
 7. In all things shewing thyself a pattern of good works; in doctrine shewing uncorruptness, gravity, sincerity,
 8. Sound speech, that cannot be condemned; that he that is of the contrary part may be ashamed, having no evil thing to say of you.
 9. Exhort servants to be obedient unto their own masters, and to please them well in all things; not answering again;
 10. Not purloining, but shewing all good fidelity; that they may adorn the doctrine of God our Saviour in all things.
 11. For the grace of God that bringeth salvation hath appeared to all men,
 12. Teaching us that, denying ungodliness and worldly lusts, we should live soberly, righteously, and godly, in this present world;
 13. Looking for that blessed hope, and the glorious appearing of the great God and our Saviour Jesus Christ;
 14. Who gave himself for us, that he might redeem us from all iniquity, and purify unto himself a peculiar people, zealous of good works.

Very Much Better, Thank You

Rescinding by the Allen county council of its earlier refusal to sanction an appropriation of $50,000 for the erection of a tuberculosis hospital at the new county farm, and action which now makes that sum available for the work is a matter for immense gratification and we think the public will cordially approve it. The earlier attitude of the council was a sharp disappointment, and that body took the correct course when it discovered that it had probably made a mistake in delaying this important work. It reversed itself, and in so doing gave evidence of its disposition to meet as far as possible, the desire of the public which, after all, must foot the bill.

In exact justice to the members of the county council who voted adversely on the original consideration, it should be stated that they at no time entertained hostility to the hospital plan, but were moved by the belief that not sufficient investigation of the matter had yet been made, and that it was highly desirable to secure the services of landscape and sanitary experts for a proper survey of the grounds and a determination of the precise location of the hospital before there was necessity for an appropriation. When more definite assurances were given that all this would be done, the council freely gave its approval to the proposal. The Sentinel is very glad to see the way open to uninterrupted progress in providing for Allen county an institution that will return fine dividends in providing care and cure for those who may be assailed by the white plague and in conserving the lives and the health of others who may find themselves thrown in contact with them. It is one of the most important works Allen county has ever undertaken.

Orders of the war department for the mustering out of some 15,000 national guardsmen who have been in federal army service on the Mexican border is evidence of the Washington desire to dispense with the troops along the Rio Grande just as quickly as it is safe to do so, and orders for the discharge of further units may be reasonably expected to follow very soon. There is in Washington a full realization of the fact that for many men the service is involving personal hardship and sacrifice, and there is no disposition to prolong it beyond the limit of absolute necessity. Recent manifestation of better control of the situation in northern Mexico by the Carranza government, and hope for a complete and definite understanding from the New London conferences of the joint commission have greatly brightened prospects for adjustment of the harassing situation that has confronted Uncle Sam along the southern border since before the advent of the Wilson administration.

Vigorous and well-grounded complaint is being made by the vast majority of retail grocers in Fort Wayne that some men engaged in the trade are persisting in keeping their places open on Sunday, and they make no secret of the fact that unless the practice is discontinued, prosecutions will follow. There can be but one outcome to that. It will mean fines and costs that will vastly more than wipe out any profits that can possibly be made in the illegitimate traffic. The Sunday grocery is not only against the law, but there can be no possible defense for it on the ground of public necessity. It is an offense to those who have regard for the sanctity of the Sabbath and it is unfair to others in the trade who are faithfully observing the law. Those who are not doing so will either take counsel of good judgment and abandon the practice or presently discover that they have been making an expensive mistake.

The attorney general of West Virginia in a ruling declares that the prohibition party is not a political party in West Virginia and that it has no right to have its nominees for presidential elector certified for a place on the ballot because it failed to poll the required 5 per cent. of the total vote and is otherwise at variance with some portions of the West Virginia law. But why worry? Maybe J. Frank Hanly is already reconciled to the loss of West Virginia.

And it still remains a trifle difficult to comprehend how Mr. Hughes' carping criticism of President Wilson and his administration offers either argument or evidence that Mr. Hughes and his program would be in any wise preferable to Mr. Wilson. The tactics thus far pursued by the distinguished nominee of the republicans will prove much more effective in producing public nausea than public enthusiasm.

At least it can never be charged that congress failed to put in full time on the job. The democratic conception of the duty to public office is to stick to business until the work is accomplished. That is precisely what the present congress has done.

When other sources of diversion fail, New York seems always able to supply a street railway strike.

WOULD PRESERVE THE SAND DUNES.

(Toledo Blade.)

In northern Indiana there is a stretch of sand dunes that for years gave the horrors to real estate dealers. It was worse than waste land since to own it was to pay taxes on it and get no returns. If a quarter century ago some man had come along with a feasible scheme to utilize this dune country he would have been acclaimed savior and, on his death, have been given a monument challenging in impressiveness that one to the soldiers in Indianapolis.

But the people have changed greatly in twenty-five years. They can look at land from other viewpoints than its usefulness in raising corn, planting mortgages and furnishing foundations for mammoth red barns. It has been discovered that these Indiana dunes have a distinct plant life highly interesting to the botanists. There are forms of animal life which in the cultivated sections of the region have been killed off. The student of nature finds the dunes fascinating in that they show the adaptation of life to peculiar environments, the struggle of life to survive against disadvantages, its bravery in the face of starvation, harsh climatic conditions and winds which are sand blasts.

These things are now considered worth while, worth preserving. And so we find the Chicago papers protesting against letting the dunes "disappear before the advancing march of commercialism." They are desirous of permanent parks, camping sites, schools for students and restful haunts contrasting with restless city streaks. There is probably no waste lands in the world if we look at it in more ways than one.

AIN'T NATURE WONDERFUL?

Unnatural History, by Eugene Ahern.

A BLUSH.

A blush is something that was.

The blush is rapidly becoming extinct. Poets say violets are the only things that blush, but if women's fashions keep up like the last two years, the violets will all be sitting in the first row with us.

If the bathing suits, back-to-nature dances and all the other blush hardeners of 1916 were going on ten years ago, everybody would be going around with faces like October tomatoes.

Artificial blushes can be obtained for the women at drug stores and for the men at the 19th hole.

If blushes were still popular, my, wouldn't fight and wrestling promoters be frightened?

The only persons ever known not to blush are theatrical and movie press agents.

WHEN YOU WAKE UP DRINK GLASS OF HOT WATER

Wash the poisons and toxins from system before putting more food into stomach.

Says inside-bathing makes anyone look and feel clean, sweet and refreshed.

Wash yourself on the inside before breakfast like you do on the outside. This is vastly more important because the skin pores do not absorb impurities into the blood, causing illness, while the bowel pores do.

For every ounce of food and drink taken into the stomach, nearly an ounce of waste material must be carried out of the body. If this waste material is not eliminated day by day it quickly ferments and generates poisons, gases and toxins which are absorbed or sucked into the blood stream, through the lymph ducts which should suck only nourishment to sustain the body.

A splendid health measure is to drink before breakfast each day, a glass of lime water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it, which is a harmless way to wash these poisons, gases and toxins from the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels; thus cleansing, sweetening and freshening the entire alimentary canal before putting more food into the stomach.

A quarter pound of limestone phosphate costs but very little at the drug store but is sufficient to make anyone an enthusiast on inside-bathing. Men and women who are accustomed to wake up with a dull, aching head or have furred tongue, bad taste, nasty breath, sallow complexion, others who have bilious attacks, acid stomach or constipation are assured of pronounced improvement in both health and appearance shortly after beginning.

COLONEL DISGUSTED WITH HUGHES STYLE

Roosevelt Disappointed at Nominee's Lack of "Pep" in the Fight.

(Gilson Gardner, author of this story, has written politics for many years. He probably knows the Roosevelt mind as well as any newspaper man in the country. Gardner's story on the Roosevelt attitude toward Hughes is not mere gossip nor a case of "wish being father to the thought."—EDITOR.)

(BY GILSON GARDNER.) New York, Sept. 8.—All the progressives, from Roosevelt down, are disappointed with Hughes' performance in the west! Nothing, they think, could be worse!

Instead of talking "Americanism," Hughes has talked civil service reform. Instead of denouncing the German-American alliance, as he expected he would, he has denounced "extravagance."

Roosevelt is all but ready to throw up his hands and let Hughes and his managers go the rest of the way alone. Roosevelt feels—though he may not admit it publicly—that he has been tricked. He probably will not say so openly, but he is not good at hiding his feelings, and I find Roosevelt's disappointment in Hughes an open secret at both party headquarters here.

Roosevelt feels that he did not step aside for Hughes in order that the ex-justice might inaugurate a "swat-the-fly" campaign. He stepped aside because Hughes agreed to accept the issue Roosevelt had made for him—the issue of Americanism—and because Roosevelt believed a candidate standing for this issue could defeat Wilson. He considered the defeat of Wilson a patriotic duty.

Now, the Roosevelt following feel that their sacrifice has been in vain and that Wilson will probably be re-elected anyhow.

Naturally, Roosevelt is bitterly disappointed. He took the Hughes statement made after the republican nomination at its face value.

The repetition of it in a milder form in Hughes' letter of acceptance, he made the most of, but when Hughes had traveled from New York to San Francisco without a mention of the Roosevelt issues the colonel began to realize that Hughes and his Old Guard backing had accepted the issue in the mechanical and technical manner only, and had not intended to carry out its spirit.

Hughes, in fact, has been performing true to form and has been taking his real advice from the Hitchcock-Wilcox-Penrose Old Guard and not from any of the "progressive" camp.

So Roosevelt decided to show Hughes and the republican campaign managers what he thinks a candidate ought to talk about. He thereupon sat down and wrote his Maine speech which was delivered in Lewiston August 31, in which he did not mention the Durand case, or the appointment of E. Lester Jones, or talk about Myron T. Herrick and the "assay at Paris."

Instead he repeated all the most savage things he had ever said about hyphenates and the foreign policy of President Wilson, specifically mentioning the German-American alliance by name, the Lusitania affair, the killing of Edith Cavell, the invasion of Belgium and the "murders" in Mexico.

The speech contained 10,000 words—all words on subjects not alluded to by Charles E. Hughes on his western trip.

The success of Hughes depends on the extent to which he gets the Roosevelt following. Roosevelt could have beaten Hughes by accepting the progressive nomination. He could beat him now by denouncing Hughes and his following as unworthy of confidence. It is not likely Roosevelt will do this; having made his decision between Wilson and Hughes, he will probably stand by it.

But his standing by it does not alter the fact as to his disappointment and the disappointment of his following.

The effect of the Roosevelt and progressive disaffection will eventually be seen in the lining up of the progressive vote.

If Hughes had performed so as to get the real cordial endorsement of Roosevelt a considerable proportion of the Roosevelt vote might have been pooled for Hughes, but with the impression spreading daily that Hughes is only a respectable "window dressing" for the Old Guard and that the power and policies of the Hughes administration would be wielded by Penrose, Hitchcock, Taft, Wilcox and the rest, many progressives will be inclined to take the Wilson end of the alternative for another four years.

BROKEN ARMS.

Lima, O., Sept. 8.—Dr. Charles H. Clarke, superintendent of Lima state hospital, is nursing a fractured arm, while Miss Elizabeth Clarke, the doctor's small daughter, is carrying a broken arm in a sling. Miss Clarke was thrown from her pony at the hospital, breaking her right arm. While cranking his automobile to bring his daughter to the city, Dr. Clarke suffered a fracture of the right arm, the machine backing.

TORE OFF OFFICER'S STAR WHEN ARRESTED

Josie Jackson Drew Crowd as She Battled With Patrolman.

Traffic was blocked and nearly a thousand people crowded about the northeast corner of Calhoun and Lewis streets, Thursday night, to see Josie Jackson, 24, colored, struggle and scratch and writhe in the clutches of Patrolman Linniger. The woman tore off the officer's star and trampled it up under her feet. She tore his coat.

Linniger arrested Miss Jackson on a loitering charge. She had been under police surveillance for some time. She resisted arrest and used violent language, while a large crowd gathered at the busy corner. She was fined $25 and costs in police court Friday morning.

Poisoning Case Dismissed.
Testimony was introduced Friday morning to show that the horse belonging to George Neum, gardener, corner of Lake and Anthony boulevard, had died ten days before poison was found in one of the stalls in Neum's barn.

Tony Nottif, who used to be a business with Neum, had been arrested on a charge of poisoning the horse because police understood that the animal died from poison found in a stall. It was shown that there was no ill feeling between Nottif and Neum and the case was dropped.

Took Carburetor for Pay.
Lore Clark, 20 years old, 538 East Jefferson street, took a carburetor from the barn of the Brudi Transfer company because he was afraid he would not be paid for a half week's work for the company. He took the spotlight for overtime work, he told in police court.

IN THE CHURCHES

GIVE PASTOR LARGE PICTURE OF FATHER

Westfield Church Presents Rev. Potts With Gift on Return from Funeral.

The members of Westfield Presbyterian church at the regular Thursday evening Bible study class meeting presented Rev. T. P. Potts with large, handsomely framed picture of his father, who passed away a few days ago. Rev. Potts attended the funeral and returned home Thursday. The gift is highly appreciated by Rev. Potts as it comes as a token of the high esteem the members of his congregation have for him.

Rev. Potts' father died at his home in Cannonsburg, Pa., at the advanced age of 81 years. He had resided in that city for nearly fifty years. He was a member of a family that has been prominent in eastern Pennsylvania since the colonial days. Thomas Maxwell Potts was a descendant of the mother of the first white child born north of the Mason and Dixie line.

The deceased devoted much time to genealogical research work and was a corresponding member of the New England Historic Genealogical society. In 1877 he published several volumes of his work, including "A Short Biographical Sketch of Major James Potts." In 1901 he published the volume, "The Potts Family." He is survived by the widow and five sons.

PLAN FOR WINTER WORK.
Executive Committee of Associated Christian Workers Meet.
The Associated Christian Workers executive committee met Thursday evening at the home of A. C. Storer, who lives north of the city. The reports were heard concerning the summer's work and the financial standing.

J. M. Fitch was elected to the vacancy of first vice president. Edgar Hall was elected secretary to serve an unexpired term. The association is making arrangements for a hall-oven social on October 31 and for the annual rally for the silver cup on Thursday, December 7. A big banquet will be given November 28. The committee in charge is as follows: Miss Blanch Van Bunkirk, chairman; L. Vonstus, Sherman Burson, I. Kera and J. Fitch. The nominating committee is as follows: Perry Ruffing as chairman, C. H. Chandler, B. Van Bunkirk, T. Storer and Edgar Hall.

Men's Bible class of the Wayne Street M. E. church, is urging that all members be present for the session next Sunday morning at 9:30 o'clock.

Simpson League Program.
Mr. Blessing will lead the Epworth league service at Simpson M. E. church Sunday evening. The subject is "Rally Day," and F. P. Brown will sing, with Miss Logue as his accompanist.

Holds Yearly Election.
The South Wayne W. C. T. U. held its annual election Wednesday afternoon, the following officers being elected: President, Mrs. Martha Studebaker; vice president, Mrs. Lida Baker; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Mitchell; treasurer, Mrs. Robert Langston; delegate to state convention at Huntington, Mrs. T. Shidler; alternate, Mrs. Sestler.

Minister to Speak at League.
Rev. W. E. Pittenger, of M'Adelstown, gave an address Thursday at the Fort Wayne District conference, of the Epworth league at the Simpson M. E. church. He spoke on "Social Service." The evening program was devoted to discussions by the department conferences. The Fort Wayne district includes five counties, covering 3,000 miles. About 2,500 you are people of the Methodist Episcopal church are members of the league in this district.

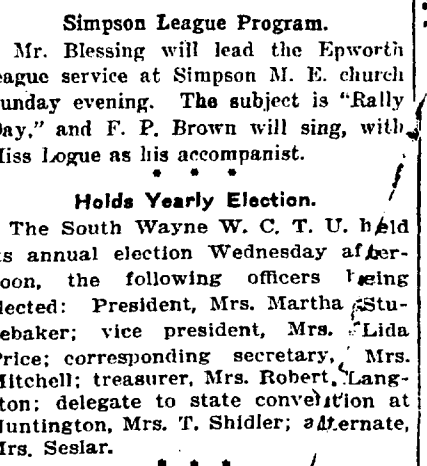

Select New Minister.
The Grace Reformed congregation selected Rev. Nevil H. Schaaf, of Philadelphia, as pastor, Thursday evening, to succeed Rev. A. K. Zartman, who resigned. Rev. Mr. Schaaf has been highly recommended and the church is anxiously awaiting his acceptance.

Will Present Sketch.
The Woman's Missionary society of the Wayne street Methodist church will hold an open meeting Friday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. The principal feature of the program will be an original dramatic sketch, "The Joy of Knowing." The cast is as follows: Mrs. Arthur Remmel and Miss Katherine Jay, representing members of the society, and Misses Margaret Gross, Ruth Lane, Margaret Langford and Katherine McCurdy, representing respectively colored, Indian, poor white and Porto Rican girls.

Rabbi Takes Up Residence.
Rabbi and Mrs. Saul Schorr and family, of the congregation of the B'nai Jacob have taken up their residence at 212 West Pontiac street. All friends are requested to visit them. The rabbi will officiate at the services Friday evening at the synagogue at the corner of Monroe and Wayne streets. He will render a musical program.

Will Re-Open Classes.
The First Baptist church will open the Sunday school to the children Sunday in view of the board of health action in lifting the ban. The school will expect back to the classes all children that were excluded when the ban was put in effect.

"JULIET," 78, AND "ROMEO," 92, ELOPE WITH AID OF LADDER.

Beaver Falls, Pa., Sept. 4.—Out of the window and down a ladder the modern Juliet, Cynthia Grant, age 78, tripped lightly into the arms of her modern Romeo, Roman Williams, age 92.

They climbed into an old shanty and drove to the city clerk's office to be wed.

But Miss Grant's father, age 86, got wind of the affair. Armed with a shotgun loaded with salt, he went to the clerk's office on a mule. He prevented the wedding.

But Miss Grant and Williams say they will be wed yet.

Miss Henrietta Petgen entertained on Thursday evening in honor of her sister, Miss Celeste Petgen, whose marriage to Jerome Lauer will take place on Sept. 27. The early part of the evening was occupied in sewing for the bride-elect, then followed a game of bunnies and after that a luncheon was served that gave still more pleasure to the guests. Misses Edna Petgen and Lucille Druhot served the refreshments. Other guests were Misses Ludmilla and Georgia Lauer, Margaret Miller, Adeline Keller, Mary Reiter, Eleanor Snyder, Edna and Margaret Hartnett, Cora Hayden, Nellie Schrack, Elsie Finer, Clara Gilmore, Clara Miller, Gertrude and Flora Beverford, Geraldine DeWald and Mrs. Vernon Tannehill.

Mrs. C. S. Rehner, of Huestis avenue, and Mr. Homer A. Mertz, a son of Mr. and Mrs. William Mertz, of South Wayne street, were married on Thursday afternoon at 4 o'clock at the home of the bride, Rev. Ralph W. Loose, of Huntington, a brother-in-law to the groom, officiated at the ceremony, the bride plighting her troth with a ring. Relatives and a few friends were present. The bride was attended by Miss Carrie Mahlin and the groom by Mr. Albert Stecher. The bride wore a beautiful gown of white georgette crepe combined with taffeta and real princess lace. The bride did not wear a veil but flowers, a shower bouquet of roses and swansonia with chiffon ribbon, was a beautiful part of her costume. Miss Mahlin wore a handsome green gown of crepe de chine and georgette crepe and a touch of black velvet ribbon, well set off by a bouquet of Shawyer roses tied with pink chiffon ribbon. Following the exchange of felicitations an elegant wedding dinner was served, covers being laid for thirty people. Green and white were the colors of the decorations and white asters the principal flowers used. Later in the evening the bride and groom left for lakes of the northern part of the state for a few days. On their return they will be at home for a day or so with Mr. and Mrs. Rehner, 1232 Huestis avenue but will begin housekeeping at once in their own bungalow, at 3518 Fairview avenue. For traveling the bride wears a suit of hunter's green with silk net blouse and a black velvet hat with a touch of green in its trimming. The bride has been a stenographer for the General Electric company for some time and Mr. Mertz is equally highly esteemed by all who know him. Mr. Mertz is a bookkeeper for Hatteries & Sons.

Jackson-Bowersock.

A pretty home wedding took place on Thursday evening at 1102 Huestis avenue when Miss Vesta Bowersock, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. Bowersock, and Mr. Oscar Jackson, of Roanoke, were married by Rev. Mr. Gillispie, also present. The bride wore a white and blue satin gown with pearl trimmings and looked exceedingly well in it. The bride did not wear a veil, but she carried white roses and swansonia. Little Zella Bowersock, a niece of the bride, was flower girl and carried the wedding music. The bride and groom are taking a two weeks' trip and will visit relatives in Roanoke and other points. Mr. Jackson is a wanderer for the Duda Manufacturing company and with his bride will soon be at home to their many friends.

Spurling-Beitzell.

A pretty wedding that took place on Thursday evening was at the home of the bride, Miss Myrtle M. Beitzell, daughter of Mr. William Beitzell, 521 Fifth street, to Mr. Harry Spurling, also of this city. Only immediate relatives and close friends were present. The marriage service of the Episcopal church was read by Rev. Charles W. Shonemaker, of Trinity M. E. church. A bountiful dinner was served immediately after the marriage service. During the evening a company of boys and girls of the neighborhood gave the bride and groom a charivari.

Schlatter Family Reunion.

The third reunion of the Schlatter family was held on Thursday afternoon, Sept. 7, in Robinson park. The attendance was lower by nearly one hundred and fifty persons owing to the prohibition of children by the board of health. Some of the parents could not attend because they could not leave the children. The program was marred by the absence of the juveniles who were to take part. Officers for the family society are: C. C. Schlatter was elected president; Enoch Schlatter, vice president; Mrs. Susie Olsen, secretary, and Albert Schlatter, treasurer. Mrs. Olsen is the first one named Schlatter to be elected to office. She was a Miss Schlatter before her marriage.

UNCLE SAM PLANNING GREAT NEW INDUSTRY

Initial Steps Taken to Produce Linen Here on Large Scale.

Washington, Sept. 7.—The high prices of linen and of the flax fiber from which linen is made has centered attention on the necessity of establishing a real linen industry in this country, the greatest consumer of linen in the world. There seem to be two big problems which must be solved before success is assured. One is to find some artificial method of preparing the flax straw for the spinner, thus relieving the flax grower of this task, and the other is to convince the American public that American-made linen is as good as any other. There are a number of minor problems, and they are all discussed in a report by W. A. Graham Clark, just published by the bureau of foreign and domestic commerce, department of commerce.

The only country which the production of flax fiber has increased consistently in recent years is Russia, the report states. In the British Isles and in France the production has decreased in spite of all efforts to keep the industry growing, and in Austria-Hungary, Belgium and the Netherlands the industry has not been able to hold its own. The American production has never been of importance. Thanks to liberal government aid and to cheap labor the Russians had gradually been getting a monopoly of the business up to the time the war broke out.

In the United States flax has been raised almost entirely for the seed, which is used to make the well-known linseed oil so necessary for the production of good paints and varnishes. Of some 3,000,000 acres of flax raised in this country in 1915, the department of agriculture estimates that only 2,000 acres were devoted to flax for fiber. The bulk of the straw from the seed-raising plants is burned and used for fertilizer. It should be borne in mind, however, that flax growing for seed and flax growing for fiber are separate and distinct industries. Some flax is grown for both seed and fiber, but a decision must be made as to which is to be the more important product, just as the sheep raiser must decide whether mutton or wool is to be the primary consideration.

In Europe the farmer not only raises the flax, but prepares the fiber for the spinner. This preparation requires several processes, one of which, known as "retting," requires considerable cheap labor and much time and is in addition a most disagreeable process for the workmen. The problem in this country is to find some chemical process of retting that can be carried out at a factory and thus allow the farmer to confine his attention to the agricultural end of the industry. This is the only condition on which the American farmer will take to growing flax for the fiber, Mr. Clark thinks. Some progress is already being made in chemical retting and at least two concerns are now buying flax stalks from the growers for further treatment. Chemical processes have been tried before without much success, but one of the new concerns is now selling chemically retted fiber to Europe and the other is making coarse linens for use in clothing and for curtains.

Even if a good all-American linen is produced in this country, however, there still remains the great problem of finding a market for it. That means that time and effort will be required to persuade the consumer to buy the domestic product instead of the imported. Many people invariably choose the imported article when it is displayed alongside of domestic products, almost regardless of quality. The president of a mill now making dyed and bleached dress linens from American flax has found that small as is his product, there is difficulty in getting the jobbers and the domestic stores to handle it. The tendency is to assume that, even though it is apparently of excellent quality, it cannot equal the old-fashioned linens from abroad. There will never be a better time than the present to popularize the domestic product, for the imported article is scarce and high priced. In normal times our imports of linen goods vary from 25 to 30 million dollars, and the demand had been steadily increasing up to the time of the war.

The bureau's report is entitled "Development of an American Linen Industry," Special Agents Series No. 125, and may be obtained for the nominal price of 5 cents from the superintendents of documents, Washington, D. C., or from the nearest district office of the bureau of foreign and domestic commerce.

WHEN THE SNOW FLIES.

(By Betty Brown.)

The picturesque Louis XV. collar, which, in chiffon or silk, adorned many summer frocks, will reappear when the snow flies, but its winter guise, will be moleskin, ermine, silver muskrat or some of the many kinds of fox.

The collar that fashion borrows from the French king is really a cape and it is never so pretty as when draped loosely over the shoulders to make a frame for the face, but as this sketch from Fashion Art shows, the regal neck-piece may be pulled up comfortably around the ears.

Muff-cuffs didn't disappear with the snows of last winter. They are with us again, cut on new lines of course, much smarter, I think, and just as comfortable as the "muffs" that captured our affection last winter.

ROBIN HOOD LODGE
WILL PICNIC SUNDAY

Sons of St. George Will Enjoy Big Muskmelon Feast.

The annual outing and picnic of Robin Hood lodge, Sons of St. George, a local organization of Englishmen, will be held next Sunday on the Sand Point road at Luke Durnell's summer residence. One of the features of the day will be a muskmelon feast.

The second great feature will be the cricket game to be staged between the married and single men. On July 4 the single men were defeated by four wickets and Sunday they will be out after revenge.

Besides muskmelons there will be other eats in plenty, including watermelons, ice cream, chicken, ham, lemonade, tea and other refreshments. Members and other Englishmen who wish to attend are asked to take the Bluffton interurban and get off at Stop 9. The large crowd will leave on the 9 o'clock car.

MUST REMAIN SOBER
FOR NEXT FIVE YEARS

Otherwise Son is Refused Share in Millions Left by Kereus.

St. Louis, Sept. 8.—Vincent Kereus, son of the late Richard C. Kereus, multi-millionaire railroad magnate and former ambassador to Austria-Hungary, who died last Monday in Merion, Pa., must remain sober five consecutive years and prove it if he is to gain control of his share of his father's estate.

This is one of the provisions of Richard Kereus's will, which was filed Thursday in the probate court here. The estate is estimated at $5,000,000. Otherwise Vincent will draw $500 a month, of which $450 must be paid to his wife, from the income of the estate for the rest of his life and at his death his share of the estate will go to his two sisters.

The will establishes trust funds of $50,000 for each of six grandchildren, a trust fund of $200,000 from which $5,000 a year is to be paid to another son, Richard C. Kereus, Jr. The rest of the estate is to be divided into three equal parts. Two daughters, Mrs. Gladys Kernes Colket, of Merion, Pa., and Mrs. Madeline Kernes Kenna, wife of Edward D. Kenna, a lawyer of New York and London, each will receive one-third of the residuary estate and the remaining third is placed in trust for Vincent Kereus.

STANDARD BASKET AND CONTAINER LAW

Will Require Use of the Standard for Fruits and Vegetables.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 8.—Standards for Climax baskets for grapes, other fruits and vegetables and other types of baskets and containers used for small fruits, berries and vegetables in interstate commerce are fixed by an act approved by the president. The law will become effective November 1, 1917.

The effect of the act will be to require the use of the standards in manufacturing, sale or shipment for all interstate commerce, whether the containers are filled or unfilled. A large part of the traffic in fruits and vegetables in this country enters interstate commerce. The law relates only to the containers and will not affect local regulations in regard to heaped measure or other method of filling. A special exemption from the operations of the law is made for all containers manufactured, sold, or shipped, when intended for export to foreign countries, and when such containers accord with the specifications of the foreign purchasers, or comply with the laws of the country to which the shipment is destined.

Standards of three capacities are fixed for Climax baskets—2, 4 and 12 quarts, dry measure. These containers, often known as "grape baskets," have relatively narrow, flat bottoms, rounded at each end, and thin sides flaring slightly from the perpendicular. The handle is hooped over at the middle from side to side. In addition to fixing the capacities of these standard baskets of this type, the law also prescribes their dimensions.

The other standards are for "baskets or other containers for small fruits, berries and vegetables." They are to have capacities only of one-half pint, one pint, one quart, or multiples of one quart, dry measure. Such containers may be of any shape so long as their capacities accurately accord with the standard requirements.

The examination and test of containers to determine whether they comply with the provisions of the act are made duties of the department of agriculture and the secretary of agriculture is empowered to establish and promulgate rules and regulations allowing such reasonable tolerances and variations as may be found necessary.

Penalties are provided by the act for

EMPEROR WILLIAM WATCHES BATTLE

Paris, Sept. 8.—Emperor William, according to La Liberté's correspondent at the front, is watching in person the fierce struggle that is going on for the possession of Combles. The chief gain of yesterday's battle, the correspondent says, was that of the French, Gen. Micheler's forces, which reached the railroad running from Roye to Peronne and held it for a distance of two and a half miles.

The result that the German lines of communications behind the Somme are now entirely in the hands of the entente allies.

Chaulnes, says the correspondent, is only about two-thirds of a mile distant from the French line and is expected to fall at any time.

The capture of Berry-en-Santerre enables the French to dominate Barleux, which is the last point of support of the German second line of defense and completes the encirclement of Denicourt Park, for which a stubborn struggle is going on.

Davenport, and will open for business as soon as a bank building is completed.

MACMILLAN IS BACK FROM ARCTIC DASH

Exploring Ship Cluett is Now at Battle Harbor, Labrador.

Battle Harbor, Labrador, Sept. 8.—The exploring ship George B. Cluett, bearing the Crocker Land expedition headed by Donald B. MacMillan, entered Battle Harbor yesterday.

MacMillan left New York July 2, 1913, in search of "Crocker Land." He went north under the joint auspices of the American Museum of Natural History, the American Geographical society and the University of Illinois. The expedition was directed by the "Crocker Land" committee, consisting of representatives of the three institutions.

With the explorer went Ensign Fitzhugh Green, United States navy engineer and physicist; W. Elmer Ekblaw, geologist and botanist; Maurice O. Tanquary, zoologist; Dr. Harrison J. Hunt, surgeon, and Jerome Lee Allen, wireless operator.

Makes Dash Across Ice.
After establishing their base at Etah, in the spring of 1914, MacMillan and Green made the dash of 130 miles across the polar ice to the supposed Crocker Land, which Admiral Peary, after returning from the north pole, said he thought he had seen.

Led on by a mirage that apparently had deceived Peary, they continued until satisfied there was no land in the location described by Peary. Then they returned, Ensign Green having barely escaped death in an avalanche of snow. Within twenty-four hours after they had left the ice field on which they had traveled for days, according to reports sent by MacMillan to civilization, became a seething, boiling mass of ice.

Makes New Dash.
Although he had satisfied himself that Crocker Land did not exist, MacMillan was not ready to return home, but instead elected to make a particularly dangerous journey across the ice to Finlay Land, 1,400 miles away.

For many months nothing was heard from MacMillan, and in July, 1915, the schooner George B. Cluett, which had been chartered from the Grenfell association by the Crocker Land committee, left St. John's, Newfoundland, for Etah, Greenland, in charge of E. O. Hovey, chairman of the committee and curator of geology in the American Museum of Natural History, to relieve and bring back the members of the expedition.

INDIANAPOLIS GIRL LOSES LIFE IN RIVER

Indianapolis, Ind., Sept. 8.—Miss Marie Linne, 21 years old, 243 North Summit street, was drowned in White river, near the Ravenswood beach, one mile north of Broad Ripple park, yesterday afternoon. James Kerin, Jr., 1516 East Ohio street, 15-year-old son of James Kerin, a motor policeman, nearly lost his life in an attempt to rescue Miss Linne. Kerin was taken from the water by John O'Hearn, 609 East Twelfth street, after he had gone down for the third time.

Miss Linne was employed in the office of the Furnas Office and Bank Furniture company and had been spending her vacation in a girls' camp at Ravenswood. A number of her friends went to visit at the camp yesterday and several of the party went swimming. Kerin was one member of the party. He was with Miss Linne and the two ventured too far beyond the safety rope into deep water. It is said that neither was an expert swimmer.

PLANS NATIONAL DOG SHOW.

Events Will Be Held in Indianapolis Next February.

Indianapolis, Sept. 8.—Arrangements have been completed for a national dog show to be held here Feb. 13 to 15, 1917. Immediately following the annual poultry show. Heretofore the dog shows have been held in connection with the poultry exhibits. The two shows, although separate, will be under the same management. Theo. Hawes, for eight years secretary, treasurer and general manager of the Coliseum poultry and dog shows at Chicago, is looking after the details of the exhibit to be given here. He says he has received inquiries from prominent dog fanciers all over the country.

QUARANTINE WILL BE RAISED AS ANNOUNCED

Signs Which Warn Against Allowing Children in Public Being Removed.

"Oh, Skinny—Hoo-oo." Youth of the city will be freed from all bonds of confinement with the passing of the day. The smile of the rising sun, Saturday morning, will mean liberty, only clouded with the shadow of opening school, for boys and girls under sixteen years.

The city health board made the order to raise the quarantine final, Friday. There have been no new cases of infantile paralysis reported in the past two weeks. Care in observing the quarantine is given as one of the reasons for breaking up the sweep of the dread disease.

All quarantine signs have been removed from homes where children were afflicted with paralysis. All patients are recovering as rapidly as can be expected. It is the belief of the health board members that Fort Wayne is free from attack of the disease for several months at least.

Building Permits.

Building permits were granted the Wildwood Builders company, Friday, for erecting a frame residence at 647 Greenlawn avenue, $3,000; residence, 1909 Florida Drive, $4,100, and 906 Northwood boulevard, residence, $3,700.

SAYS INDIANA G. O. P. WOULD HEAR COLONEL

Chairman Hays Seeking to Bring Roosevelt Here for Campaign.

Chicago, Sept. 8.—Former Governor Franklin Murphy, of New Jersey, republican national committeeman from that state; former Senator Charles Dick, of Ohio, and republican State Chairman Will H. Hays, of Indiana, were among the visitors at western republican national headquarters today.

Chairman Hays said republicans of Indiana were desirous of having Theodore Roosevelt speak in that state and that a date for him probably would be arranged.

Miss Harriet Vittum, in charge of the woman's vote bureau, announced that a reception would be arranged in Chicago for the eastern women who have planned to tour the west in a special train in behalf of Hughes and Fairbanks.

Ella Flagg Young for Wilson.

Mrs. Ella Flagg Young, former superintendent of schools of Chicago, will work in the interest of President Wilson in the campaign, it was announced today at the western democratic national headquarters. Mrs. Young, who is attending the convention of the National American Suffrage association in Atlantic City, announced her plans to Mrs. George Bass, head of the woman's bureau of the western headquarters.

THE DEATHS.

PARNIN.

Francis Parnin, aged seventy-seven years, a retired farmer, died at 6 o'clock Thursday evening at the residence of his son, August Parnin, of Edna street. Death followed an illness of two weeks, due to complication of diseases. The deceased was born in France, but came to this country in 1883. He was a farmer in Jackson township, where he had resided until three years ago, when he came to Fort Wayne. He was a member of St. Louis Catholic church at Besaucon and also of the French-American society. Surviving he leaves eight sons: Louis, of Pittsburg; Victor, August and Henry, of Fort Wayne; Charles, Joseph, Herman and Aristed, of Jackson township. Fifteen grandchildren, two great grandchildren and two sisters, Mrs. Josephine Emme and Mrs. William Osier, of Arcola, also survive him.

DRESSER.

V. J. Dresser, a farmer residing near Ossian, died Thursday evening at the Lutheran hospital at the age of fifty-three years. Three brothers, Henry, of this city; Phillip, of Convooy, Ohio, and John, of Ossian, and three sisters, Mrs. Louisa Koons, of Fort Wayne, and the Misses Rose and Sadie, of Ossian, survive him. Until twelve years ago he was employed as a switchman and brakeman on the Pennsylvania railroad. The remains have been taken to the home of Mrs. Louisa Koons, 1330 Friday street. Funeral services Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the residence. Interment at Concordia.

BURRELL.

Miss Nellie Burrell, aged 36 years, died at 1 o'clock Friday morning at the family home, 928 Erie street, following an illness due to typhoid fever. She was born and reared in Fort Wayne and was educated in the public schools of the city. Her father, Dr. Burrell, preceded her in death seven months ago. She is survived by the mother, three sisters, Mrs. Clinton Glover, of Detroit, and Mrs. L. A. Crawley and Mrs. John Hanson, of this city.

FUNERAL NOTICES.

Miller.—Funeral services for Theodora Virginia Miller will be held Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the residence, 349 French avenue, Rev. Overdeer officiating. Burial at Prairie Grove cemetery.

FORBIDS FURTHER DECREES

Federal Control Now for All Resources in Mexico.

Mexico City, Sept. 8.—A decree published by the Carranza government today forbids governors in various states of Mexico to issue decrees affecting the natural resources of the country, including banking, forests, fisheries, mines and public lands, or their administration.

All laws and decrees heretofore dictated by governors are nullified. Under the new order the resources of Mexico are placed exclusively under federal jurisdiction.

TO SPEAK ONLY BEFORE NON-PARTISAN BODIES

President Wilson Outlines Campaign Plans to Wisconsin Senator.

Washington, Sept. 8.—President Wilson told Senator Hastings, of Wisconsin, today that his present plan was to make speeches only before non-partisan organizations during the campaign. He did not include addresses he will make before delegations which will be received at Long Branch, N. J.

Senator Hastings asked the president to speak in Wisconsin, but Mr. Wilson replied that he had no present intention of making political speeches in different parts of the country.

The president left Washington at 1 o'clock for a stay which may extend until after the election in November. He expects to arrive at Atlantic City at 5:45 o'clock this afternoon and to spend the night in Atlantic City before he will motor to the summer white house, Shadow Lawn, at Long Branch, N. J., for an extended stay.

The president was busy up to the time of his departure with work incident to the adjournment of congress. After spending an hour at the capitol signing bills, he returned to the white house and attached his signature to many commissions and executive papers.

Staff of secretaries, clerks and messengers left for Long Branch today and will open executive offices tomorrow at Asbury Park.

The president plans to begin speaking tonight before the convention at 8:30 o'clock. His speech is expected to be brief.

CORONER M'ARDLE FINISHES INQUESTS

Coroner J. E. McArdle has finished examining all witnesses of the accidents in which Ralph Stoll and Andrew W. Moyer lost their lives. The county official will go over all the evidence submitted and will return his verdict in both cases Saturday.

The Stoll boy was injured on the Bluffton road three weeks ago when he was struck by an automobile driven by Joseph Granney, of East Wayne street, of this city. He died at the Lutheran hospital two weeks later.

Mr. Moyer was the Pennsylvania railroad airbrake inspector who lost his life in the local yards over a month ago.

WOULD CONSERVE WILD LIFE.

State Fisheries and Game Commissioner Behind Movement.

Indianapolis, Sept. 8.—The active aid and co-operation of Indiana residents in a campaign to conserve the wild life of the state to a much higher degree than formerly, is being sought by Eugene C. Shireman, state commissioner of fisheries and game, and some of his deputies. A pamphlet prepared under the direction of the commissioner is being distributed all over the state. It urges that all persons interested in restocking the streams and lakes with fish, and in protecting game and wild birds assist in the work. The pamphlet discusses the subjects of "Fish Protection," "Game Birds and Animals" and "Wild Bird Protection." The suggestion is made that county organizations be formed to protect the wild animals and birds.

Mrs. Maggie Dahlkamp, 3438 Broadway, is being sought by Eugene C. Shireman, state commissioner of fisheries and game, and some of his deputies.

HUGHES SAYS ENTIRE NATION STOOD AGHAST

Sees Abandonment of Duty in Passage of Adamson Eight-Hour Law.

Lewistown, Me., Sept. 8.—Charles E. Hughes, speaking here today, continued his attack on the administration in connection with the enactment of the Adamson law. Mr. Hughes asserted that the whole country stood aghast at the "abandonment of executive prerogative and congressional duty."

"Now if any one rises in this country to say that I am not the friend of labor," the nominee added, "he knows he is not telling the truth."

"What we need in this country," he said, "is fair mindedness. When we have a grievance the thing to do is to examine the basis of fact. There is not a question in this country that cannot be settled if you get at it in the right way. The bill to which I refer carried on its face the declaration of its own defects. It proceeded to absolutely impose a wage scale and then to consider it to find out whether it had any business doing it."

"I want fair wages but the principles of American government underlie every contract, every opportunity of labor. Why the laboring men of this country can no more take the chance of surrendering what has been won in our long fight than they can surrender the opportunities of their very existence. These things are vital to labor and to every American citizen. I say, let public officers stand like rocks for principles that are fundamental; let come what may."

TOWN COUNCIL ALSO PREVENTS A STRIKE

Fairmount, Ind., Sept. 8.—When John Winslow, who has charge of the combination hose, hook and ladder wagon used by the volunteer fire department here, threatened to strike for more wages, the council last night forced through legislation which prevented a walkout. Winslow in the future will receive $100 a year, payable quarterly, for taking the apparatus to the scene of any and all conflagrations. Heretofore he has received $5 for each alarm answered, provided the rig was outside the barn before the "out" signal was sounded by the water works whistle, but he protested that his revenue from this source had not exceeded an average of $15 a year. Under the old and new arrangement Winslow provides shelter for the wagon, horse to make the runs and a driver from his livery barn. Even though the runs are few and far between the excitement of the occasion is so keen that it has ruined every horse he owns, to the extent that the horses have lost their gentleness and he dares not trust them in the hands of women drivers afterward. Winslow told the council in presenting his ultimatum.

WESTERN MEN SHOW CLASS.

Evans and Gardner 3 and 4 Up on Eastern Opponents.

Philadelphia, Pa., Sept. 8.—The two western players, Chick Evans and Robert A. Gardner, finished the forenoon round 3 and 4 up on their respective opponents, Crockerland, of Baltimore, and Jesse Guilford, the Massachusetts champion.

Both Evans and Crockerland showed a propensity for driving in water and traps in their round but in several cases followed with brilliant recoveries. The putting as a rule was mediocre the players having a tendency to overrun the cup on the hard fast greens.

WHEELING GAMES FORFEITED.

Had Too Many Men When They Gave South Bend Double Drubbing.

Grand Rapids, Mich., Sept. 8.—President E. W. Dickerson, of the Central league, today declared forfeited the two games won by Wheeling on Aug. 13 in a double-header with South Bend. The reason given is that on that date Wheeling had fourteen players, whereas the league rules say that if the limit of thirteen is exceeded by any team all games won by that team while above the limit shall be declared forfeited. The decision upsets the pennant race in the Central league, dropping Wheeling from the top to third place.

GERMAN PRESS REJOICES.

Amsterdam, Sept. 8.—German newspapers greet the news of the capture of the Rumanian fortress of Turtukal with jubilation. The Cologne Gazette recalls that Field Marshal Von Moltke considered this the best point for crossing the Danube but the newspapers do not predict a Bulgarian march against Bucharest.

New York, Sept. 8.—A sharp decline in infantile paralysis cases was shown today in the figures announced by the health authorities. The total new cases were forty-eight, the lowest since last year.

CASE AGAINST POLICE NOW UP TO THE JURY

Bluffton Agree to Strike Out Word Malicious.

(Special to The Sentinel.) Bluffton, Ind., Sept. 8.—The $10,000 damage suit of Emory Jamison, of Winchester, against Chief of Police Charles Lenz and other Fort Wayne police officers and the Ruride Dry Goods company went to a jury at four o'clock Friday afternoon.

Jamison asks heavy damages in the case, which has been before the Wells county circuit court for two days, for false imprisonment in connection with the robbery of the Ruride store, two years ago.

Judge Eichorn in a solemn charge to the twelve jurymen shortly before four o'clock, closed a day of legal sparring and foreword delivery.

Attorney Guy Colerick, city attorney of Fort Wayne, made a deep impression when he turned to the jury near the close of his plea, with the following address:

"I make my appeal straight to the heart of you men of Wells county. I ask for liberty of the law to give justice. I beg for the right of our officers to use their best judgment, without fear of being bankrupted by a legal action, to protect our rights."

"I want to bring the case home to you. Suppose a mother, with a babe in her arms, was foully murdered on the threshold of her own home here in your county. Suppose she had barely strength to tell your officers that a man with a red sweater had committed the deed. Suppose such a man had started towards Fort Wayne."

"Your officers would wire our police to apprehend such a man. Do you want our police bound in a trying moment like that by fear that they will be held for damages if they should halt the wrong man with a red sweater. As men worthy of representing your community on a jury I know that you would not. I do not think that you will set a precedent in this case which will give officers reason to fear when they start out to bring those who would trample laws to justice."

Colerick and his two allied attorneys, Morris and Simmons, spoke for an hour and fifteen minutes. Attorneys Loy and Squires, for the plaintiff, took more than an hour in their delivery. More than fifty spectators were in the court room during the afternoon.

Was Not Malicious. It is believed that the prosecution lost much of its power when attorneys for Jamison were forced to admit on Thursday afternoon that there was no malicious intent on the part of Fort Wayne police in having Jamison and his companions detained. Attorney Loy agreed to have the word "malicious" stricken from the original complaint before the session closed Thursday.

Loy built up his argument about the fact that Jamison believed himself permanently damaged by the humiliation of being arrested and brought back to Fort Wayne from Toledo, in chains.

"His picture is in the criminal gallery; his face is remembered by thousands who eagerly peered at him as he was carried through Fort Wayne streets, a manacled prisoner, and branded as a criminal. It is an act of injustice which time can never heal," Loy said. He also argued that Jamison's health was injured by his treatment at Toledo and in being returned to Fort Wayne.

The defense in their arguments showed that the resemblance between Jamison and the man who helped tie Nightwatchman Kump, at the Ruride store, was so close that the arrest of Jamison on reasonable suspicion was justified. Fort Wayne police did all in their power to rectify the mistake when they found Jamison to be innocent and payed the way of the three men back to Toledo, Morris pointed out. That was all any police could do, he said.

EVE MINUS THE FIG LEAF.

She Was Found Hanging Out the Family Wash at Hammond.

Hammond, Ind., Sept. 8.—Chief of Police Peter Austgen, of Hammond, is drawing up plans and specifications for a blind policeman. Excited telephone calls from Oakley avenue yesterday informed Desk Sergeant Charles Lee that a woman garbed as Eve, except that she wore no fig leaf, was hanging out the family washing. When Patrolman William Lute arrived he had to put on blinders. He found Mrs. John Pearce temporarily deranged by the heat. He wrapped her in a sheet from the line and induced her to withdraw from the gathering multitude.

THREE NEW CASES REPORTED.

Indianapolis, Ind., Sept. 8.—Three new cases of infantile paralysis in Indianapolis have been reported to the city board of health. It was announced today. The number of cases in this city since the epidemic in New York started has reached six. The three last children reported to have the disease are under five years old. Strict quarantines have been established.

SEEK AN INDICTMENT AGAINST MRS. BARNES

Chicago Women Ask Woman a Prosecutor for Trial of Alleged Slayer.

Chicago, Sept. 8.—Indictment of Mrs. Iva M. Barnes on the charge of murdering her husband, James R. Barnes, local representative of a New York firm, in Washington park last Tuesday night, will be sought before the county grand jury today. The body of Barnes was sent last night to Warner, N. Y., for burial.

Representative women of Chicago are preparing a petition to State's Attorney Hoyne, requesting that he appoint a special woman prosecutor to try Mrs. Barnes if she is brought to trial. Mrs. Catherine Waugh McCulloch, noted suffragist, and a member of the legal profession, declared she might volunteer her services in Mrs. Barnes' case. She also said she would like to see the jury made up half of women and the other half of men. A chain of "not guilty" verdicts since 1907 has freed nearly twenty women accused of murder.

In the absence of State's Attorney Hoyne, the latter's first assistant, Frank Johnston, Jr., made a statement late yesterday. He declared he had no doubt the indictment would be returned and Mrs. Barnes would be rushed to trial immediately, perhaps within a week.

"We already have Mrs. Barnes' statement, taken by Assistant State's Attorney Langtry in the Hyde park police station," said Mr. Johnston. "The statement will be used against her during the trial."

Demands Full Justice.

"The Barnes murder is another example of a total disregard for law. There has not been a case handled in this office in which it was considered more important that justice be meted out than in this case."

"I am not passing at this time on the guilt or innocence of the accused. That is for a jury to decide. But a life has been taken, a woman has confessed she shot her husband. It is time the community was aroused to true conditions. Unpunished crimes committed by women are incentives to others.

MRS. CHARLES ROSE DINES

Chicago, Sept. 8.—"I'll stick to my husband no matter how many women try to malign or sue him," says Mrs. Charles Rose Dines, whose husband was notified the day of his wedding that suit for $30,000 for breach of promise has been filed by Miss Edna Grove, of Omaha.

A United States marshal, serving notice of the suit, was an unwelcome guest at the wedding, but none of the plans for the affair were changed.

"A vindictive woman makes the life of a man more unsafe than that of a dog roaming the streets."

Will Rush Case.

Witnesses have been subpoenaed to appear today before the grand jury and evidence has been compiled for submission to that body. The chief witnesses will be Detective Sergeants Mulvey and Keiser, who declare they obtained a confession from Mrs. Barnes that she shot her husband following his refusal to drop a divorce suit he had started, and his alleged attempt to choke her.

This confession Mrs. Barnes repudiated yesterday in a talk at the county jail with a newspaper man.

"I am innocent," she said. "The police questioned me so long that finally I repeated what they said, not knowing what I was doing. The truth is that my husband quarreled with me in the park, we had a struggle, and the revolver went off accidentally. He was a coward."

Chicago, Sept. 8.—William J. Hennessey, democratic candidate for the nomination for congress in the First district, gets the first prize feature story in today's political chronicling. He also establishes the world's record for inexpensive campaigning.

Yesterday Hennessey mailed to the clerk of the house of representatives his sworn statement of his campaign expenses in Congressman Madden's district. The total cost, he swears under oath, was—

Four cents—two 2 cent postage stamps!

"My petition," he wrote, "was presented to me by friends in my district. When I received the petition it was ready to mail, so I simply put 4 cents in stamps on the petition and mailed it to the secretary of state. That is all the money I have spent and all I intend to spend and I expect to be nominated by a good majority."

WORK AS A MEDICINE GOOD FOR PRISONERS

Dr. Bowers Discusses Showing at Hospital for Insane Criminals.

Indianapolis, Sept. 8.—Under the title "Work as a Medicine," an article appears in the current Indiana bulletin of charities and corrections, now ready for distribution, written by Dr. Paul E. Bowers, physician in charge of the Indiana hospital for the insane criminals.

Michigan City, which gives interesting data. The idea of furnishing those prisoners with employment took shape last December. Dr. Bowers writes in part:

"A workshop, thirty feet wide and 100 feet long, with plenty of light and ventilation, was constructed. Twelve handlooms and two sock machines were installed and thirty criminal insane patients welcomed the chance to employ their minds and hands.

"The purpose of this work is purely one of treatment and cure:

"Just at this point I will not attempt to measure its medical value, but am pleased to be able to report the following cases: One inmate who was very quarrelsome and a source of great care to attendants, took to his work with such energy that he leads the remainder of the patients working at the looms and holds the record of making eight hundred pairs of socks in six weeks.

Since the work treatment has been introduced he has been made a sort of overseer of looms, to see that they all are running smoothly. No longer does his mind find time to contemplate how to end his existence.

"Notwithstanding the fact that the workers were insane patients, the attendants themselves, without experience as to the mechanism and operation of the machines, there have been woven 2,039 yards of fine linen twining, at a cost of less than five cents a yard. This same material coats in the open market from eighteen cents to twenty cents. In addition, 3,000 pairs of socks, 100 new mattresses, 100 new pillows, 50 cushions, doormats, floor mats, cloth shoes, rag rugs, hammocks, shopping bags, gloves and shirting were manufactured. Two hundred and sixty old mattresses and 800 old pillows were renovated and 5,000 pairs of socks repaired.

"Outside the workshop the patients practice intensive gardening. On an acre of pure sand there have been grown 80,000 onions, 43,000 radishes, 128 pounds of peas, 2,174 pounds of lettuce, 6 bushels of cucumbers, 30 bushels of beets, 300 watermelons, 1,700 muskmelons, 850 heads of cabbage, 1 bushel of turnips, 10 bushels of horse radish, 11,000 bunches of celery, 120½ bushels of tomatoes, 1½ bushels of red peppers and other things. The amount supplied the vegetable needs of 250 persons for a season, except for potatoes."

"NONSENSE," SAYS JOHNSON.

California Governor Not Disturbed by Threats to Kill.

Sacramento, Cal., Sept. 8.—Governor Hiram Johnson characterized as "nonsense" threats made in two letters to kill him if he did not leave certain large sums of money in a designated place near the state capitol. Caroline Pfundt, a suspect found by the police lurking near the indicated spot at the time appointed in the letters for depositing the money was confronted by Governor Johnson in his cell last night but the prisoner persisted in his denial of having any knowledge of the conspiracy. "I have been threatened so many times since I have been governor," Governor Johnson said, "that this sort of thing no longer bothers me."

MOTHER-IN-LAW'S HINT GAVE PETTIT ATTACKS

New Details of "Spiritual Promptings" of Slayer Revealed.

Chicago, Sept. 8.—Details of the "spiritual" promptings which caused him to slay his child wife to "save her soul" are contained in a confession said to have been obtained from J. Maurice Pettit, the former Cedar Rapids, Iowa, bank cashier, in jail here today. The confession was made public by the state's attorney's office.

The murder of Mrs. Pettit occurred on Aug. 31 and Pettit was subsequently captured near Detroit. He is accused of having killed his wife with a razor. In the confession Pettit is quoted as saying that when he was married in the early part of the year, he expected to live with his wife on a "spiritual plan," but that his mother-in-law had hinted to him that if he continued on that theory instead of a normal husband-and-wife relationship his wife might seek other company.

From that time on, the confession read, though his wife was a "pure woman," he had "attacks" or jealous fits, in one of which he cut the throat of his wife and left her lying dead while he fled the house. According to the confession Pettit sought to kill himself on the farm near Detroit where he was captured and that he yet hoped to end his life so he could join his wife "spiritually."

In his confession he said he never had one of the attacks of insanity or whatever uncontrollable feeling it was that led him to kill his wife until after their marriage. This feeling was one that impelled him to kill her and himself, he said.

Fourth congress' first session which began last week. Adjournment was set for an early hour and only the signing of the emergency revenue and minor bills by the presiding officers of both houses was to be accomplished. President Wilson arranged to go to the capital for the adjournment formalities.

Only a small proportion of members were on hand to watch the session die. The report was that the session ended at midnight, after the late sessions last night, or even days before, and a month after the political campaign in November they must return for the short session.

Last Night's Work.

Last night both houses accepted the conference report on the emergency revenue bill without record votes and the senate, before recessing an hour after midnight, ratified the Danish West Indies purchase treaty. The general deficiency appropriation bill also was approved as reported by conferees. Today's session was necessitated only by need for time to report the measure in the proper form to be signed. Conferees reached an agreement on the bill early in the evening, after spending two days on it. The report was attacked by Senators Chamberlain and Jones because the amendment for retaliation against Canadian control of Pacific coast fisheries had been stricken out. In the house Representative Gardner denounced the retaliatory provision against foreign interference with American commerce.

The session ends without final action on Senator Owen's corrupt practices bill, on which debate persisted in the senate yesterday and last night up to the time the revenue bill report was taken up.

As Unfinished Business.

Senator Owen announced in the senate today that he would not further press his corrupt practices bill at this session, but would let it remain the unfinished business before that body and call it up again next session.

A resolution by Senator Curtis, proposing an investigation by a committee of three senators of reports that a lobby representing a foreign government had been busy in Washington opposing retaliatory legislation against Canadian fisheries in the revenue bill, was sent to a committee today and cannot come up before the next session.

A resolution by Senator Curtis, of Kansas, directing the senate lobby committee to investigate the activities of the alleged foreign lobby opposing retaliatory provision of the revenue bill against Canadian fisheries was passed today by the senate.

Usual Hubbub in House.

The usual hubbub characterized the closing moments in the house after Representative Fitzgerald, chairman of the appropriations committee, had made a statement regarding appropriations. Mr. Fitzgerald said the world was ablaze and the American people had awakened to the fact that the United States are not so completely isolated from the old world as to be free from all possibility of entanglement before the conflict stops. He said that accordingly extraordinary steps had to be taken in the way of large expenditures for defense.

Representative Gillet, of Massachusetts, said that "applying the democratic standard and logic the session just closed far surpasses in extravagance any predecessor."

In the closing minutes in the house a dozen members clamored for recognition for leave to print remarks in the Congressional Record and their requests were hustled through in record-breaking time.

Few Watch the Windup.

When the house convened at 9 a. m. Speaker Clark, Democratic Leader Kitchin, Republican Leader Mann and a small number of members of both sides, were on the floor to watch the windup.

Speaker Clark, addressing the house, said: "I am the only man, I know of, who invariably takes up outside for congress. It is a strange predicament that we are in this country. Nearly every one would like an office; many run for office, few get office and everybody abuses those who do get the office. I think that the reason that they hop on congress is that it is impersonal and does not hurt any one's feelings in particular. Some day I am going to take a whole hour to discuss the relations of the American congress to the American people."

Soon after the president reached the capitol the revenue bill was ready for his signature. The senate made the concurrent resolution for a 10 o'clock adjournment which already had been passed in the house. The president held a reception in his room as a line of senators and representatives passed through while he sat at the table signing bills. To Senator Simmons the president expressed gratification over the passage of the revenue bill and its many legislative features. He said, however, that he greatly regretted the failure of the Webb bill to provide for establishment of American collective selling agencies in foreign countries.

Committee Notices President.

At 9:30 o'clock the senate appointed Senator Kern and Senator Smoot to notify the president that congress was ready to adjourn unless he had some further communication to present. They were joined by Representatives Kitchin, Fitzgerald and Mann, the house committee, and the joint committee waited on the president at 9:35 a. m.

The president congratulated the leaders on the opportunity for a "well-earned rest." Officially he informed them that he had nothing further to communicate to congress. Senator Kern notified the senate at 9:55 o'clock that the president had nothing further to communicate. Thereupon Senator Nelson of Minnesota, offered a resolution of thanks to the vice president for his impartial conduct in presiding over the senate. The resolution was adopted and the vice president thanked the senate in a brief address. Thereupon the senate adjourned sine die at 9:59 o'clock.

Members of the conference committee on the revenue bill pointed out an important change in the income tax section as finally approved, extending the $4,000 exemption, instead of the $3,000 one to "heads of families," whether married or not, replacing the provision of the old law which gave the larger exemption only to "married persons."

British Steamer Sunk. The British steamship Strathgairn and the Ellerman line steamship Tagus have been sunk. The crew of the Strathgairn has been saved. It is reported the British steamship Hazelwood has been sunk. The Strathgairn sailed from New York Aug. 22 for Havre. She was 370 feet long, of 4,428 tons gross and was owned in Glasgow. While at her dock in New York in July of 1915 an attempt was made to destroy her, fire bombs being found concealed in the hold.

FRENCH LOSSES ARE HEAVY.

Suffer Frightfully in Battles With Germans on the Somme.

Berlin, Sept. 8.—French and German troops again were engaged in infantry fighting yesterday in the region of the river Somme, in France, says the official statement issued today by the German army headquarters staff. The French were repulsed with great loss with the exception of a point to the west of Berny where, the statement adds, some portions of trenches remained in the hands of the French. An official statement says that several Russian aeroplanes attacked with bombs German positions in Courland but that the attack was without success. German anti-aircraft guns forced one hostile biplane to land and the occupants were made prisoners.

GERMANS ATTACK VIOLENTLY.

Teuton Efforts to Regain Ground Fall, Declares Paris.

Paris, Sept. 8.—12:30 p. m.—Renewed and particularly violent attacks were made by the Germans on the Somme front last night in an effort to regain ground won by the French. The war office announced today the German assaults were futile, the French holding their ground everywhere.

Violent artillery fighting is under way on the front in Greek Macedonia, the war office announced today. The principal engagements are in progress on the Struma front in the region of Mount Beles, and in the vicinity of Lake Dolran.

CLING TO CAPTURED POINTS.

Petrograd, Sept. 8.—Via London.—Russian troops which have crossed the Dvina river north of Dvinsk were attacked repeatedly by the Germans, the war office announces, but succeeded in holding the captured positions.

JAIL DELIVERY IS

Robert Armstrong Finds

Prisoners Trying to Make Escape.

A jail delivery was prevented by Robert Armstrong, turnkey at the Allen county jail, Thursday night at 7:30 o'clock. John Eickels, who is serving time for loitering until his record is ascertained from Richmond, W. Va., John Platt, of Terre Haute, held for carrying concealed weapons, and Hugh Thompson, serving fifteen days for disorderly conduct, were detected in the act of sawing the bars.

After finding the men Armstrong locked himself in the corridor of the jail with other prisoners and alone forced the three men, whom he had caught, into a cell. Before entering the "bull pen," where many prisoners were walking about, the turnkey instructed a "trusty" to listen and if anything happened to call the police.

A. C. Gladieux arrived just after the trio of would-be jail breakers had been driven in a cell and assisted in placing other prisoners in their cells. How the saw reached Eickels was a mystery to attaches of the jail. Armstrong was seated in the jail office when he decided to make the outside of the jail on a round. For some time both he and the sheriff were convinced that Eickels was trying to escape. Walking to the west side of the jail, keeping close to the wall, Armstrong heard the rattle of a chain and someone say, "work fast."

Climbing a pile of logs, giving him a better view of the window, Armstrong saw three men grouped there. He recognized Eickels and Platt although he could not see the third man. He then climbed to a window ledge enabling him to see Thompson.

The turnkey then jumped down, ran to the jail office, armed himself with a revolver and "black jack," returning to the point where he could meet the men if they attempted escape from the window. Later he changed his methods, firing five shots to drive the men away from the jail window.

Found Other Prisoners.

He entered the first barred gate and instructed the trusty in the office to inform him of developments. Armstrong found the minor prisoners walking about in the "bull pen." The turnkey walked through the crowd of prisoners and found Platt playing cards. He was cornered by a blow of the "black jack" and Eickels and Thompson were also taken in charge. Then another prisoner was ordered to turn a lever locking all the prisoners in the cell in that division of the jail. The three men were transferred to another part of the jail and locked up. One bar of the cell was completely severed at the cross bar. The lower end was imbedded in the stone window sill. A chair taken from a bunk had been attached to the lower end of a device, the prisoners hoped to bend the bar so the lower end could not be drawn from the sockets.

Women Invade Every Labor Field in England, Investigator Finds

Charles Edward Russell Says There'll Be a Merry Rumpus When Men Return and Demand Their Jobs.

BY CHARLES EDWARD RUSSELL.

London, England, Sept. 8.—Before the war, when women suffragists spoke to street meetings in London they were received with spoiled vegetables, choice egg antiques, brick ends and roars of "Wimmins' ploys is the 'ome!"

If they were to speak at street meetings now they might get the brick ends, the vegetables and the other relics, but even a London mob couldn't repeat that old fake about women's place.

It isn't the home any more. It's the machine shop, the plow handle and the railroad yard.

Last week through these streets there was a parade of women war workers and the best informed man that looked upon it was astounded, inroads of women in industry had gone so much further than he had imagined. He blinked and stared when he saw the floats from the machine shops, and gasped at sight of a brigade of stalwart and trousered Amazons from the gas works, each with her coal shovel on her shoulder.

Women are shoveling malt in the malt houses, cleaning and hosteling locomotive engines, operating heavy and complicated drills, lathes and metal machines in the shops, working as porters, couchwomen, haymakers and bank clerks.

In strictly industrial occupations, aside from the munition plants, 2,920,000 women have taken jobs usually regarded as exclusively for men, jobs like wire-drawing, iron and steel working, tin plate making, cutlery, and manual work on automobiles, carriages, ships and tools. More than 2,000 have gone to work about coal mines, and 100 in quarries.

Up to July 1, outside of the munition shops, 638,000 women had entered industrial pursuits. In the same time the munition shops had taken on 519,000 women. This is a total of 1,157,000 women at work for wages in Great Britain that were not so at work Aug. 4, 1914.

For what kind of wages? That is the first great point.

Well, at wages distinctly less than men's.

In France women that take men's jobs usually get men's pay; but not here.

When the government began to employ women in the munition shops it announced a minimum wage for them of $5.25 a week. For various reasons it hasn't been able to stick to this, but still, as a rule, it does better than private employers.

Private employers are paying women

Women workers in British munition factory having a "joy-ride" during their noon hour.

$3.25 to $5 a week in jobs where men used to get $5 to $7 a week.

Generally speaking, women are getting about 75 per cent of the wages formerly paid to men (not the wages men get now).

How do women pan out as workers? That's the next great point.

Revelation of their own hitherto unsuspected and undeveloped capacity has undoubtedly come as a surprise to many "open engaged in unfamiliar war work. They have learned they are capable of better things."

So has the rest of the nation! Brethren, all this means big changes, as sure as you live. These women are rocking the boat.

For instance, women workers do not restrict output.

British trade unions have made restriction of output their long-settled, unchangeable policy—"so much a day and no more."

Women work for less than men, they are at least as efficient as men, and 1,157,000 of them are now filling men's jobs.

Will you get them out when the war is over?

If you don't you will surely have a vast army of unemployed men. If you do, you will have the employers on your neck. They will have plenty of trouble without any increased wage bill.

If you don't, millions of workers' households now for the first time enjoying comfort will have to come down to direct poverty again.

You can see that close at hand are infinitely worse problems than any of war strategy.

Storm signals—the air is full of them.

Why People Pass

Other clothing and tailor shops to come to the corner of Jefferson and Calhoun Streets.

The Reason Is Value and Price of Men's Suits and Overcoats

The men who buy John Ford Clothes at $16, $18 and $20 find exactly what they want here.

Exclusive Fall and Winter Styles, beautiful patterns and woollens, unequalled workmanship and perfect fit—that's John Ford's Clothes.

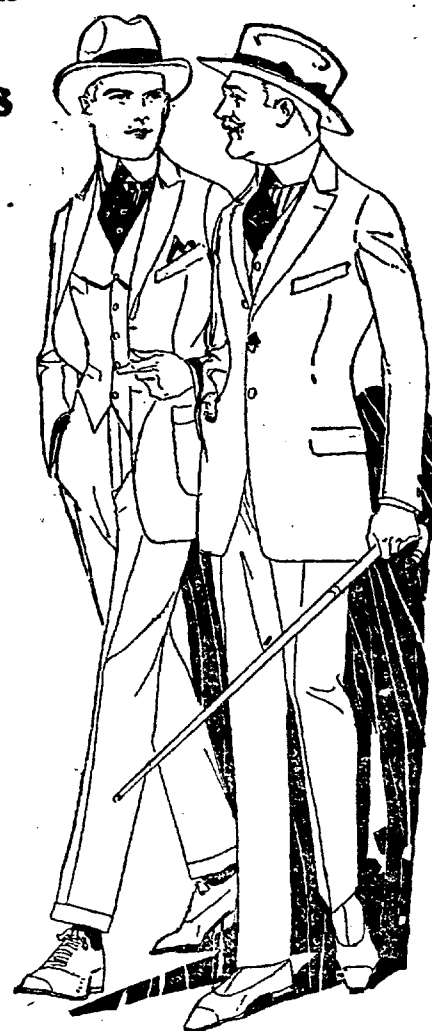

BEST FOR THE WELL DRESSED

Look Right Feel Right

$16--$18--$20

The fall season is at hand and the prices quoted are on brand new materials that have been contracted for quietly in the past season at prices no other tailor can touch at the present time. We could sell every yard of goods in the shop at an enormous advance over the cost. That's why we can "beat 'em all" on prices and why people pass to our corner.

These suitings are the very latest Fall and Winter Styles—superb qualities, and absolutely pure fast-dye colors. There are blacks and all the shades of brown, blue, gray, tan, with a large assortment of beautiful mixtures.

The overcoatings are in rough English mixtures, which will be the coming style, with a great variety of plain beavers and kerseys.

And the most beautiful part of it all is that each suit is made up so perfectly and given as much attention as if our reputation of many years depended upon that one garment, each suit or overcoat hand tailored so beautifully and fitted so perfectly that anyone will know they were made to your individual measure.

CRIMINAL CASES ARE SET FOR A HEARING

Judge Eggeman Has Arranged a Busy Calendar for September Term.

Criminal cases were set for hearing in circuit court Friday morning by Judge John W. Eggeman.

The case of Robert Wilson, who entered a plea of not guilty to the charge of forgery, will be heard September 23.

The case of assault and battery against James B. Dejar has been dismissed.

Suit charging neglect of children against Frank Broosky has been dismissed. The case against Harry B. Mollen alleging failure to report accident has also been dismissed.

The case of the state against Edward Toubough, charged with assault and battery with intent to kill, has been set for September 23.

Charles J. Holthouse, charged with forgery, will be tried September 23.

The case against Fred Fields, charged with selling liquor without a license, has been dismissed on motion of the prosecuting attorney.

Burt Ward has entered a plea of not guilty to a charge of assault and battery and will be tried September 12.

John O. Langston, who was issued a parole, has been returned to Michigan City.

Employment Bureau Reports.

Report of the state free employment bureau for the week ending September 7 shows that 59 males applied for work and that 48 were placed in positions. A total of 71 persons sought male help during the week. A total of 30 females sought employment and 26 were placed in positions. Forty-seven persons sought female help.

Will Is Filed.

The will of Wilder Stess Sponhauer has been filed for probate in circuit court. All property is devised to the widow and four children, the widow being bequeathed property in the Rockhill addition. Roy Sponhauer is nominated executor. The will was dated Dec. 6, 1915.

Association Incorporates.

Articles of incorporation have been filed for the Lutheran School association. The articles state the object is to maintain a Christian continuation school for education in the commercial branches. There is no capital stock. The directors are: Rev. J. W. Miller, Rev. August Lange, W. C. Dickmeyer, C. J. Scheimann, Otto F. Bengs, Herman A. Juenling, Fred Wolf, H. C. Wehrenberg and K. H. Floering.

J. Robert Sherrard has been admitted to the practice of law following action in circuit court Friday morning.

Albert H. Macbeth vs. Fred Schopplau, to collect $500 on account. Cause dismissed.

Notes of the Courts.

George V. Kell, Carl Hagib and Solomon Fly have been appointed viewers on the Hawkins road. They are to meet on the morning of Sept. 16 at 10 o'clock to qualify and determine on a time to view the road. The action follows complaint of farmers whose land is cut by the road.

Maryetta Brooks has begun suit in superior court for a divorce from William Brooks, alleging cruelty. They were married in 1907 and separated in 1909. M. V. P. Seales is attorney for the plaintiff.

Will Johnson, county auditor, is attending the state fair at Indianapolis.

E. C. Carrington has filed a claim against the estate of Robert Henry for $125. J. E. Graham is plaintiff's attorney.

The prisoners are working on the Webster road in Milan township, according to William Tonkel, county road superintendent. Work will start Monday to tar the subway at Wayne trace.

SEEKING TO IMPROVE WORK IN HIGH SCHOOL

New Study Course Outline Carries Many Valuable Suggestions.

Indianapolis, Sept. 8.—The outline of the uniform course of study in high schools printed in book form, and covering about 300 pages, now is being distributed by the office of Charles A. Greathouse, state superintendent of public instruction. The outline contains many suggestions and programs for high school work. It says in part:

"Two important facts stand out prominently in connection with the high schools of today. First, the increasing number, and second, the gradual changing of the curriculum."

"As the last decade has witnessed the greater part of this remarkable growth, it remains for the coming decade to develop and make efficient the schools already established. It has been the policy of this department to advise township trustees to establish and maintain, whenever possible, one good high school in each township. However, what is needed now is not more, but better high schools that will serve a community in which they are located in the best possible way. Schools that will return to the state 100 cents on every dollar spent on them in the way of developing pupils of character and patriotism, who cannot only make a living but a life worth while."

"The great function of the high school is to afford each pupil who enrolls therein an opportunity to discover himself. The modern school is, therefore, broadening its scope. It must continue to prepare the few for college, but it also must offer to the many who do not go to college some work and genuine culture which will serve as a foundation for the best lives they are capable of living."

"And so the immediate duty not only of this department, but of all school men and women of the state is to provide a program for our high schools that will not only give every pupil an opportunity to find himself, but will also train him in the direction of his chosen line of work and natural ability."

MRS. CAROLINE EARL WHITE DEAD

Nantucket, Mass., Sept. 8.—Mrs. Caroline Earl White, 63, of Philadelphia, a pioneer worker in the movement for the prevention of cruelty to animals, is dead at her summer home here. Mrs. White in 1868 organized in Philadelphia the society for the prevention of cruelty to animals.

ROBISON CIRCUS HIT HARD AT VAN WERT, O

Terrific Storm Plays Havoc to Main Tent During Afternoon Performance.

(Special to The Sentinel.)

Van Wert, O., Sept. 8.—Damage estimated at $6,000 was done to the main tent of the John Robinson circus here yesterday afternoon as the result of a terrific wind and rainstorm. The management of the circus saw the storm coming and judging the blackness of the clouds feared the result. Without taking any chances on the storm passing, however, the afternoon performance was brought to an abrupt end and the crowds were hurried out of the big tent in time to save every person from possible injury or death.

The last person had no sooner gotten out when the storm struck the tent, almost completely demolishing it. A few minutes later the smaller tents were blown down. Although the animals did not break out of their cages their cries could be heard throughout the entire city.

Robinson circus came here from Fort Wayne, where it played to small audiences on Wednesday. The reason for the small attendance was due to the action of the board of health preventing children from attending, as a precautionary measure to check the threatened outbreak of infantile paralysis.

AUBURN NEWS.

Auburn, Ind., Sept. 8.—Mr. and Mrs. Charles Weaver have returned from a summer outing at Lake Gage.

The Pulver barber shop has vacated the room on Seventh street and it is rumored that a restaurant will soon be started there.

Adolph Schless is spending ten days in Chicago on business.

Mrs. Al Robbins and Miss Emma Rock are spending a few days in Chicago.

Mrs. Grover Miller, of Peru, is spending a few days with Mrs. Frank Batdorf and Mrs. Sherman Rhinehold.

Miss Esther Sheets returned Wednesday to her studies at the Moody Bible Institute at Chicago.

Miss Mable Rhinehold went to Fort Wayne, Tuesday, where she entered the Fort Wayne Business College.

Mrs. R. E. McClellan and daughter are visiting among relatives at Niles, Mich.

Miss Hazel Craig is the guest of her sister, Mrs. G. C. Watson, at Elkhart. Ralph Clark and wife are spending this week at Oakwood, on Hamilton lake.

Miss Lucile Buchtel is visiting friends at Payne, O., this week.

Frank H. Carper and Miss Clarice F. Miller, both of this city, procured a marriage license Wednesday and left via the interurban, without revealing their destination. However, it is thought they went to Hillsdale to have the knot tied. Mr. Carper has been employed at the Schless dry goods store for some time but resigned a few days ago and accepted a position with the Indiana Fuel and Light company.

Harry Claus has gone to Fort

Wayne, where he has accepted a position.

County Agent A. Z. Aehart is spending the week and attending the state fair. Before his return home he will spend several days at Purdue, where he will make further investigations concerning the soil problems of DeKalb county.

At the county commissioners' meetings which have been held three days this week, but little business has been transacted. The Peter Teutsch and Daniel Wagner drains were docketed and the two roads to have been bid on Wednesday will have to be let at some future date as no bids were received for either.

Charles Smith spent Thursday in Fort Wayne on legal business.

The Auburn schools opened Monday and 896 pupils are enrolled. There are 195 in the high school alone, and 700 in the grades. Never in the history of the schools have they been so crowded for room. Grades 4, 5 and 6 are very crowded and the high school situation is presenting a difficult problem for Superintendent Blossom. The new high school building to be erected before next fall is certainly badly needed.

Los Angeles police last year arrested one person for every twelve of population.

TRANSFORMING A FACTORY INTO A PALACE

Library Leading Into Billiard Room.

Priceless Antiques Are Found in Apartments, the Floors of Which Are Covered with Kokhara and Kerminsha Rugs, While on All Sides of the Building Is the Grim Rush of Trade.

HOW many of the folk who live down in the heart of a city have looked longingly on the cool, shaded boulevards and parked ways of the outer edge?

How reluctantly they have boarded the cars that hauled them discontentedly back to where hot tenements crowded one another on treeless streets and where the steel tracks glisten in the heat.

How many of those who live downtown would hesitate to exchange abodes with their fortunate fellow-citizens? None. Wrong!

There is at least one. He owns a palatial home in the western end of St. Louis, and in which he lived for nine years, and he has moved from it to a home down near the shopping district and for the simple, sole reason that he considers it a better place.

He is T. M. Sayman. His factory and palace in one is at 2117 Franklin avenue.

Living at downtown hotels where every luxury is provided the guests is not an unpleasant way of living, and is common enough in its appeal to many. But this man does not live at a hotel—moreover, he lives in a nine-story building that is given over to business from cellar to roof, all except the seventh floor, which holds his apartment.

The ten-room apartment, ranged along the south and west walls of the seventh floor, however, has features that explain adequately why their occupants find the place more than tolerable.

The luxurious apartment and the fact that it is in a wholesale business house, the proprietor of which is the occupant, is not the only remarkable feature of the building. On the third floor of the same building is a great ballroom, a skating rink, a basket-ball court, billiard rooms, shower baths and plunges, which are for the enjoyment of the proprietor and his employees.

More, a roof garden tops the great building, and a rifle range is constructed along one edge of the roof.

The apartment of the owner of the building is richly and beautifully furnished. A valuable collection of Bokhara and Kerminsha rugs cover the floors; on the walls are hung priceless pictures from the masters; there are rare tapestries and Oriental porcelains, whose value is beyond estimating; everything that can beautify and render comfortable are found in this unusual setting.

Forty years ago, a youth cut loose from a circus to which he was giving the talents that he valued more than the proprietors thereof. Ten years before that he had left home in Richmond, Va., with not even parental consent. During the ten years that followed he was farmer, circus water carrier, pole boy, speller, ticket taker, performer on the parallel bars, sleight-of-hand artist, and a half-dozen other things that the versatile profession of circus performer required.

Up and down the land and across from coast to coast the youth traveled, acquiring such an education as an impressionable boy in his teens will gather under such circumstances, that are crowded with instructive experience.

All the great circus rosters of performers carried his name, and his memories of the days of late boyhood are wrapped about the celebrities of the tanbark.

When he detached himself from his engagement with the circus he resorted to his performing talents to support himself. He started out with the proverbial shoestring. He halted crowds on the street corners, and when they had given attention to his song or his monologue on the humor of the human race, he sold them the things that they were on their way to the stores to buy. His packet of Yankee novelties held what they wanted, and he made them want what it held.

He moved from one end of the country to the other, and a commercial-theatrical trip took him to Nashville, Tenn. There he anchored an unusually long while, and a half dozen years' association with the doctors of the city and in the classroom of a medical college gave him the training that played such a great part in his after life.

The lure of the legerdemain, the tank of the tanbark, so early in life exercising such a thrill over him, were destined to influence the later years, and while only a youth of 23 years he again stood spell-binding the crowds on the casual corner while he purveyed soaps and remedies, and whatever else he made their hearts desire.

The natural genius, augmented by a few years of experience, so effectively improved his address that to accommodate the following he moved onto the lots and increased his circus and his sales. Between the high trapeze acts of the death-defying Devereaux, the amiable clowns passed among the audience and delivered to eager upraised hands the soaps and liniments and remedies that the eloquence of the young doctor recommended so persuasively.

His fortune grew in leaps and bounds, he says, until he found that it was necessary to quit the road and enter the manufacturing end to supply his trade.

A large painting of a coal-black mare is among the treasures that decorate the building of the downtown apartment. It is a picture of Dolly, the mare that drew the first wagon carrying the traveling doctor and his show along the roads that led to villages and towns and through the cities to the lots where from his upraised sides he looked upon his audiences with entertaining smile.

Dolly knew what rewards a grateful master could afford a good servant. When age blinded the faithful Dolly, she was retired and pensioned with a life of comfort and ease. Not far from the building where now is housed the plant and beautiful abode of its owner is this same wagon, standing uncertainly on its often-renewed rims, and with the prospect of so remaining out of the wind and the rain. The wagon, too, has been pensioned to a life of ease.

For there is nothing for Dolly and her wagon to do. The great painted wagon that was the stage and the stock bearer of the business could carry but a thousandth fraction of the merchandise that fill the floors of the nine-story building that succeeded it.

The few clowns that grinnaced and chuckled and tumbled to the delight of the audiences of other days are superseded by the hundreds of serious persons who punch the time clock and at noon calculate such things as profit-sharing and other modern topics of economy and efficiency that would be absolute jargon to the genial buffoons that thought as much of pro-still, though they are not exercised on the corner nor on the lot as they were.

His delight is as of old, in horses and in dogs and in animals generally that are trainable to the performances that caused the eyes of his audiences to pop with wonder in the days of his itinerancy.

His thoroughbred horses and dogs are his prime distraction from the business that they helped him to build. Back of the great building is another in course of construction that will house these friends in quarters that are planned with a special attention to their greatest comfort. His favorites, Bernice B. and Rex Denmark, are the winners of many prizes at local and foreign shows.

Two things—or perhaps a twofold thing—account for the change from the traveling wagon and the circus sale scheme to the plant that holds a value in the hundreds of thousands. They are, first, a terrific intensity put upon the task at hand, even if it be the relating of a humorous story, and, secondly, a complete willingness to consider every detail of a piece of work, or every proposition that is put in front of him even though it be severely tedious, and to make a decision upon it immediately.

He has been making quick decisions that implied radical moves all his life, and he has not suffered thereby. Never does anything fall from his attention. He can watch a dozen actions and repeat with accuracy the progress and state of each. This knack was undoubtedly developing a laugh as of getting on order.

The only resemblance—the faintest echo of the old days—is afforded by the scene on the employees' floor when the ballroom is filled by the trippers of the light fantastic.

The giving over of this space to the entertainment of his employees is characteristic of the attitude of this beloved employer. An entertainer he is who delights in his task.

He is never absent from the dances or the basket-ball games that are indulged in on that third floor. It is his entertainment to entertain those with whom he works. He is friend and adviser to them as well as companion in their recreation.

The old talents, the old hobbies are not neglected. His oratorical powers, his wit and speech that persuaded crowds that he was their benefactor and that he brought to them the things that were for their good, rest with him opened by watching the up-goings of hands in the flare of the gasoline area that lighted the audiences of the roadshows. Never did he miss any.

Dr. Sayman is 63 years old, but he has to insist on this to get credence. He is exceptionally active, directly oversees the work done in the plant and occasionally lured some younger fellow into accepting a challenge to go to the mat with him. He rides and shoots with the avidity that usually is found in the enthusiastic youth many years his junior.

Great good humor, that no annoyance seems to be able to destroy; an aggressive generosity that seeks opportunities to favor his neighbors, a great concern for the welfare of his employees—their comfort, their self-advancement, especially in economy and thrift—are the outstanding characteristics of the man who is uniquely and interestingly self-made.

LOCAL WHEAT PRICES SAME AS THURSDAY

There is so much speculation in wheat that it is utterly impossible to tell what prices will be paid from one day to another, declared a local dealer Friday. The price is just as liable to be down Saturday as it is to be up. As a matter of fact there is no telling. Local dealers Friday paid $1.43, the same as on Thursday.

The price on other grains remain practically the same, except that there is a slight increase in rye. For rye local dealers are paying from $1 to $1.10.

CHICAGO GRAIN AND PROVISIONS.

Chicago, Sept. 2.—Lower quotations today tended to weaken the wheat market here. The prospect of a bullish report from Washington this afternoon formed something of a handicap for the bears but confidence in values was seriously disturbed by Liverpool reports of a strike of mill operatives. Opening prices, which ranged from 1c off to 3/4c up, with December at $1.53 1/2 to $1.54, and May at $1.54 1/2 to $1.55 1/2, were followed by slight gains but then a moderate setback all around.
Corn eased off with wheat. After opening 3/4c lower to 1/2c advance the market displayed a general inclination to sag. Liberal buying for a large export concern strengthened oats.
Provisions gave way with hogs.

OPERATORS TRAVEL

17 MILES EACH DAY

Elevator Captains in the Shoaff Building Take Journey Daily.

Traveling 45,000 feet into the air and then 45,000 feet back again, or a total distance of 90,000 feet, nearly seventeen miles, is quite a trip to take every day in the year. No aviator or balloonist have ever been able to attain this altitude, yet in the city of Fort Wayne there are two persons known to make the trip daily.

Men who go up in the air either do it for pleasure but usually for a large sum of money. Yet these two men are not doing it for either one of the two above mentioned reasons. However, they are making their livelihood by this means.

Perhaps some have grasped the wrong idea that these two men make this sensational climb of 45,000 feet in one stretch. This is a false impression. They never get any higher than ninety feet from the ground. When they get up ninety feet they return to the ground and then repeat the operation.

The two men referred to are J. L. Dupee and George Wilson, the dusky gentlemen who are captains, first mates and entire crew of the two lifters that ply alternately between the first and ninth floors of the Shoaff building at Calhoun and Berry streets.

By actual count these two young men make an average of 500 trips a day. The distance from the first floor to the ninth floor is ninety-one feet. Multiplication of these two figures will give you the above named space through which the two men travel each day.

One day, not very long ago, each elevator boy furnished himself with a pencil sharpened on both ends and they started to work one morning. Every trip they made they counted the number of passengers they carried and recorded the number. By evening they were forced to look up a friend who was the owner of an adding machine because the list was too long to add without the aid of the mechanical device. The adding machine therefore, is accountable for the fact that during that day the two men carried a total of 6,346 passengers.

Not All Sunshine. George and Dupee, as the two men are familiarly known, wish to say that the life of an elevator man is not what it looks easy and all that, but when you get down and try to do it yourself, it is altogether a different problem.

"We have to cater to all classes of people," one of them stated. "Some are jolly, while others are very hard to please. Men who reside in larger cities expect us to give them the same city, or Pittsburgh, or Chicago, where they have hydraulic elevators and can go forty-five stories in twenty-one seconds, the time it takes us to go the nine stories here. Of course they get peeved because we give them such slow service when it is not our fault.

"Another thing we have to contend with is the fact that when a person wants to go up or down and are in a hurry and we do not happen to get there just as soon as they would like us to, they take their spite out on the buzzer and indicator. When we do get there we are met with a mouthful of unpleasant remarks.

ENVIRONMENT GUARANTEED IN LAFAYETTE PLACE

Few additions in this section of the country which are selling at the prices put on Lafayette Place lots are guaranteed the environment which is assured this tract by the restrictions that have been placed upon it. No building may be constructed in any part of this addition costing less than $2,500, and in certain portions of it homes may not be constructed for less than $3,500, and in still other parts the minimum cost is placed at $4,500. These restrictions, together with the restrictions referring to building lines on each and every lot, and the elimination of all features which might lower the character of a neighborhood, promise homes of a high quality for Lafayette Place, and as a consequence the addition is proving exceedingly popular. For further particulars see the Wildwood Real Estate Company, Shoaff building.

"Some people get the idea that they own the elevator, or apparently it seems so. They ring for the elevator and when it stops on the floor where they are they put one foot in on the elevator and keep the other one on the outside and finish a conversation with some one else in the hallway. Of course, all we can do is wait until they finish. We could not start because if we did we would be liable to be up at the next session of court on a charge of involuntary manslaughter.

"The sudden stops and jars cause us to get an awful headache at the close of the day's work. Sometimes when we finish we are so nervous we really do not know what we are doing.

Hands No Longer Mates. "The opening and closing of the large sliding doors have caused our hands to wear down, so that now after three years of work, our hands look as though they are not mates."

The man with the pencil and pad in his hand stood behind the elevator boy and made several trips up and down. "What do you do when somebody gets sore when they do not get the kind of service they would like to have?" he inquired.

"Well, I tell you," he said, turning half way round on his chair and stopping at the next floor right flush with the doorway, "we try to give the best service we can. However, we have heard so much grumbling that we have gotten used to it."

As the reporter stepped from the elevator, one of the captains of the lifters said, "Well, you can tell them for me, that the life of an elevator man is not what it is cracked up to be," and the click of the catch on the door was the signal that he was on his way to the ninth floor.

Doctor Tells How To Strengthen Eyesight 50 per cent In One Week's Time In Many Instances

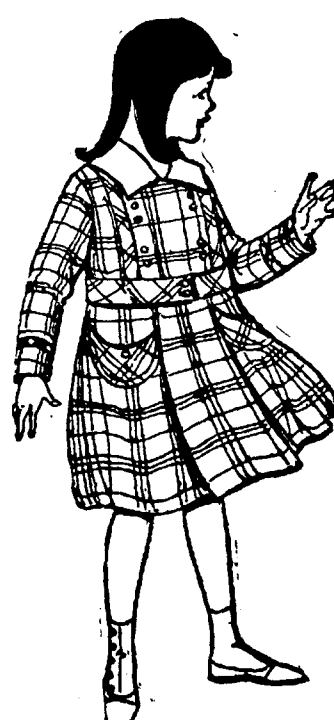

Free Prescription You Can Have Filled and Use at Home.

Philadelphia, Pa. Do you wear glasses? Are you a victim of eye strain or other eye weakness? If so, you will be glad to know that according to Dr. Lewis there is real hope for you. Many whose eyes were failing say they have had their eyes restored through the principle of this wonderful free prescription. One man says, after trying it: "I was almost blind; could not see to read at all. Now I can read everything without any glasses and my eyes do not water any more. At night they would pain dreadfully; now they feel fine all the time. It was like a miracle to me." A lady who used it says: "The atmosphere seemed hazy with or without glasses, but after using this prescription for fifteen days everything cleared. I can even read fine print without glasses." It is believed that thousands who wear glasses can now discard them in a reasonable time and multitudes more will be able to strengthen their eyes so as to be spared the trouble and expense of wearing glasses. Eye troubles of many descriptions may be wonderfully benefited by following the simple rules. Here is the prescription: Go to any active drug store and get a bottle of Bon-Opto tablets. Drop one Bon-Opto tablet in a fourth of a glass of water and allow to dissolve. With this liquid bathe the eyes two to four times daily. You should notice your eyes clear up perceptibly right from the start and inflammation will quickly disappear. If your eyes are bothering you, even a little, take steps to save them now before it is too late. Many hopelessly blind might have been saved if they had cared for their eyes in time.

Notes: Another prominent Physician to whom the above article was submitted, said: "Bon-Opto is a very remarkable remedy. Its constituent ingredients are well known to eminent eye specialists and widely prescribed by them. The medicine guarantees it to strengthen eyesight 50 per cent in one week. It is a very good drug and is one of the very best known to the world. It is a very good drug and is one of the very best known to the world. It is a very good drug and is one of the very best known to the world."

Brass Buttons for School Frocks.

BY BETTY BROWN. This Military Little Maid is very proud of her brass buttons and her pockets. Both brass buttons and pockets are seen on many of the dresses for school wear. This little frock is made of plaid, suiting with collar of white. The pockets and belt are bound in black.

Harvard university, having observed that 117 of its 175 instructors wear mustaches, concludes that the mustachio be trays brains in the wearer.

INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

(By E. O. SELLERS, Acting Director of the Sunday School Course of the Moody Bible Institute, Chicago.)
(Copyright, 1916, Western Newspaper Union.)

LESSON FOR SEPTEMBER 10

THE ARREST OF PAUL.

LESSON TEXT—Acts 21:17-40.
GOLDEN TEXT—Thou shalt be a witness for him unto all men of what thou hast seen and heard.—Acts 22:15.

No study of the book of Acts is complete unless the teacher impresses upon his pupils the opportunities for living the Christian life in the normal environment of the home or school, at work or play. Deep interest attaches to every detail leading up to Paul's visit to Rome. Therefore let the teacher trace Paul's journey from Miletus to Jerusalem, which occupied about four weeks, and took place in the early part of the year A. D. 57.

1. The Arrival (vv. 17-20). The Spirit revealed to the disciples and to prophets that if Paul went to this city he would be in great danger, and the Spirit was not forbidding but only teaching him for he knew Paul had a great work to do in Jerusalem, and that he only could do it. Everywhere Paul went he "searched for" (v. 7) disciples, with whom he tarried and whom he enlightened in the way of truth. Arriving in Jerusalem, he appears to have made his home with Mnason, outside of the crowded city, thus being less exposed to danger and finding a place of rest. At a public reception (v. 18) Paul reports of his work, and no doubt he laid his strongest emphasis on what God had wrought through him, among the churches of Asia. The leaders of the Jerusalem church received the gifts Paul brought from the Gentile churches, glorified God for what he had accomplished, but saw clearly that, to accomplish his statesmanlike purpose, something must be done to make clear that the false reports as to Paul's teaching were discredited (vv. 20-22). They therefore resorted to diplomacy (vv. 23-26). To the many thousands of Jews gathered on this festival occasion in the city, some of whom were zealous for the law, they declared first that Paul taught all the Jews which were among the Gentiles not to forsake Moses; second, that he had not taught them not to walk after the customs of Moses. The facts were Paul obeyed the Jewish ceremonial laws personally, as a matter of race, not as a condition of salvation.

11. The Arrest (vv. 27-38). Paul's attempt at conciliation resulted not in peace but in more discord. Every true servant of God is sure to be misrepresented, and it will not do always to attempt to set straight all the lies that are told about him. God will take care of the lies and of our reputations. Most of the charges that men, even Christians, bring against one another are based upon "supposition" (v. 29). It was not a new experience for Paul to be mobbed. As the maddened Jews dragged him out of the temple he must have recalled the treatment of Stephen in which he, himself, had had a hand (7:57, 58). How frequent it is that we, ourselves, are in due time treated in the same way in which we have treated others (Gal. 6:7). It was the intention of the Jews to kill Paul at once without a trial (26:10, 11). They fancied they were doing God's service (John 8:12). This lesson is a striking example of the utter folly and wickedness of mob law. Paul's time had not yet come, and all the mobs on earth could not kill him until God permitted it.

111. The Arrangement (vv. 37-40). Findings of the riot came to the chief captain, equivalent to our colonel (Acts 23:26). Paul was bound with two chains, one from each of his arms to a soldier, secured, yet left free to walk with his guards, thus fulfilling the prophecy of Agabus (v. 21). Mobs usually have great respect for soldiers, for they are inwardly cowardly. No sooner was Paul on the stairs which led to the top of the fortress than the mob, afraid that they were about to be balked of their vengeance, made a mad rush at him, with cries of "Kill him; kill him!" and Paul, unable in his fettered condition to steady himself, was carried off his feet and hurried off in the same path his Master had trod (John 19:15) and he was again to hear that cry: "Kill him; kill him!" (Ch. 22:22). During all this tumult Paul had but one thought, how he might witness for his Master, and bring some of his blinded accusers to a saving knowledge of Christ. Thus it was that he asked for the privilege of speaking, and most courteously did he make his request. He spoke to the captain in the Greek tongue, not in Hebrew, and great was the surprise at the captain.

Practical Application. When we are attacked, no matter for what cause, if we confidently look for deliverance and exercise self-control, God will take care of us.

Such conduct is disconcerting to our enemies. Diplomacy is often dangerous and misunderstood. Circumstantial evidence is never of great value.

There is, however, a desirable form of diplomacy as when Paul addressed the soldiers in his native tongue. Paul's principle was in essentials, firmness; in non-essentials, liberty.

STATE PARDON BOARD FACES BIG SESSION

Sixty-Nine Cases Set Down
for Hearing Beginning
September 25.

Indianapolis, Sept. 8.—Eighteen new cases will be presented to the state board of pardons when it meets Sept. 25. Cases of four life-term applicants, who formerly were refused, will be reopened, and forty-seven continued cases are set to come up for consideration. One man serving a life sentence for murder and one serving a sentence of from two to twenty-one years for manslaughter are in the list of new cases. In all, sixty-nine cases will come before the board. The board will be in session through Sept. 27.

Clarence Parker, sentenced for life in Henry county, April 2, 1913, for the murder of Irvin White, at Richmond, will ask for a commutation to two to twenty-one years for manslaughter. It appears in a letter written to the board by his attorney, D. C. Harlan, of Richmond, that White and Parker were unknown to each other and that they had a fight as a result of a quarrel after a game of cards in a saloon, where both men had been drinking. White died from fractures of the skull received in the fight when Parker kicked him.

Pardon Received.

The letter maintains that the fatality resulted from no deliberate attempt at murder, but that it was an accidental occurrence and that the prisoner should have been convicted on a manslaughter charge instead of murder. A petition signed by a large number of Richmond citizens has been received at the office of the board.

Antonio Mendes, a Brazilian gypsy, seeks an unconditional pardon so that he may return to his native country. Mendes was sentenced to serve two to fourteen years in the state prison for manslaughter committed in Elkhart county. He was convicted of the charge of killing a gypsy woman following an inter-tribal war.

Ethan A. Dausman, Goshen, attorney for Mendes, asserts in a letter to the board that two tribes of gypsies had united near Goshen and four days later celebrated the union by a feast at which barrels of beer and whiskey played a large part. A general fight followed the festivities and one woman, of the Mendes tribe, and two sons of Mendes were shot. Mendes, himself, was stabbed in the thigh. The woman and one of the sons died a few days later.

Will Leave Country.

Although the woman killed was of Mendes' tribe, and although Mendes had called the sheriff to the scene, his conviction for the death followed vigorous efforts on the part of the opposing tribe. Others under arrest were dismissed. Dausman writes that Mendes has a wife and three children, and that he will leave the country for his native land if released.

The other new cases are as follows: Burt Dickey, sentenced from Vigo county, Jan. 7, 1916, one to eight years, Indiana reformatory, for receiving stolen goods.

Garland Milligan, Howard county, May 28, 1914, one to eight years, reformatory, petit larceny.

Stanley Lonsberry, Perry county, Nov. 10, 1915, two to fourteen years, reformatory, horse stealing.

Charles Kahn, Wabash county, Sept. 16, 1914, two to fourteen years, reformatory, burglary.

Howard Williams, Wabash county, Sept. 16, 1914, two to fourteen years, reformatory, burglary.

Alva Christian, Decatur county, Jan. 4, 1915, two to fourteen years, reformatory, forgery.

Sentence Revoked.

Elmer Sweezy, Decatur county, March 30, 1915, one to eighteen years, reformatory, petit larceny. Sentence suspended. Sentence revoked in February, when he was arrested on a charge of stealing from a box car.

Clyde Gibson, Grant county, five to fourteen years, reformatory, robbery.

Harry Miller, Tippecanoe county, Nov. 24, 1915, one to fourteen years, reformatory, grand larceny.

John Nichols, Tippecanoe county, Nov. 24, 1915, one to fourteen years, reformatory, grand larceny.

Elda Harshman, Warren county, May 2, 1916, one to eight years, state prison, larceny.

George Davidson, Jefferson county, July 1, 1915, two to fourteen years, state prison, forgery.

Floyd Black, Greene county, ten to twenty years, state prison, burglary.

Jacob Smith, Marion county, Nov. 10, 1915, 290 days, penal farm.

Frank Zatlui, Marion county, June 1, 1916, nine months and $100 fine, penal farm, petit larceny.

Robert Brackett, Marion county, June 1, 1916, one to fourteen years, state prison, larceny.

Reopened Cases.

The reopened cases are as follows: David Dunean, Shelby county, April 17, 1900, for life, state prison; murder.

Rufus Warren, Madison county, April 4, 1911, for life, state prison; murder.

John Maury, Kosciusko county, Nov. 6, 1905, for life, state prison; murder.

Harry Gempel, Marion county, July 31, 1915, two to twenty-one years, state prison; subornation of perjury.

The continued cases are as follows: William A. Adams, Sullivan county, April 20, 1880, for life, state prison, murder.

John James, Montgomery county, Dec. 10, 1905, for life, state prison, murder.

John DeBoard, Davies county, Jan. 21, 1907, for life, state prison, murder.

Forty-one other continued cases may receive attention at the September term if there is time for their consideration.

Washington, Sept. 8.—Paving the way toward possible acquisition of the sand dunes of northern Indiana for a national park, the senate yesterday adopted the following resolutions offered by Senator Taggart:

"Resolved, that the secretary of the interior be and is hereby directed to investigate and report to congress at its next session, the advisability of securing by purchase or otherwise all that portion of the counties of Lake, Laporte and Porter, in the state of Indiana, bordering upon Lake Michigan and commonly known as the sand dunes, with a view that such lands may be created a national park.

One of the big engines of the N. Y. C. caught on a stall gate yesterday as it was being moved from the round house in the north side and completely wrecked the building. The roof fell on the engine, but Hostler John Chandler was protected by the cab and was not injured. Foreman George Martin and Machinists Leonard Hutson and Gill Chandler, who had been at work in the building, had just left when the crash came. Three other locomotives were in the round house and were covered with debris, but no damage to them occurred. The building was old and the damage was only a few hundred dollars.

ONCE FOOTBALL HERO, NOW JUST AN OUTCAST

Ex-Carlisle Star is Sorry Spectacle Among Indian Kinsman.

BY JACK JUNGMEYER.
 Kodiak, Alaska, Sept. 7.—Once football hero at Carlisle.

Today an outcast among his Aleut people here.

High tide and ebb in life of Peter Dobrowsky, who personifies the tragic struggle of the younger Alaskan natives to climb up into the modern world—from barabara to skyscraper!

"Very few of us," he said, cleaning cod in his dory, "ever try to break away from this hopeless existence. And of those few nearly all come back again to 'the reservation and the blanket.'

"I suppose," he went on, "it is the call of the blood. The overwhelming homesickness that causes us to return to the things we knew as children, to the old folks."

"The outside, with its strange bustle, frightens and confuses us."

Alert, vigorous, ambitious, Peter went to Carlisle at the age of 11 with several other native Alaska school boys. It required courage.

"I had to fight my own mother to go," he explained, defiantly slitting a cod. "My people said I was headed straight for perdition. The village was shocked. The church frowned upon my going. My relatives felt I was turning my back on them. It was not easy."

"I spent five years at Carlisle. Then I worked in a San Francisco commission house. I was making good. And it was a fine, splendid life, this new one in the big, busy world."

"But then that terrible homesickness came upon me. It was too strong to resist—and here I am, trying to eke out a bare living by selling an occasional catch of fish.

 Peter has found his old world closed against him.
 "Why," he lamented, "I had even forgotten the language of my mother. I can't speak her tongue, and she doesn't know mine. She looks at me so pathetically—trying to find in me the boy that left her at 11. It is hard, for I love her. And this is part of what it means to climb to new levels, to stop from the barabara toward the skyscraper."

Peter is going outside again this fall.

"And that means I shall never come back here again," he said. "For one thing, if no other, I must go. I must show these other youngsters here that we can crawl up out of this miserable existence and stay up. We older fellows have a solemn duty to perform—no matter how much it hurts."

Bloomington, Ind., Sept. 8.—Bloomington, the seat of Indiana university, voted yesterday to remain in the dry column, giving a majority of 388 against saloons, the largest margin ever recorded in a local option election in the city. The figures were larger than even the dries expected and were a great disappointment to the wets, who claimed a victory last night on the showing of their poll. The wets carried only two precincts, and those by greatly reduced majorities as compared with two years ago. The only way the wets could explain the result was by saying they had failed to get out their vote.

The "College Hill" precinct in the Third ward showed a falling off of about sixty in the vote because so many Indiana university faculty men and resident students are on their vacations. Virtually all of these were expected to vote dry.

NEWS OF FORT WAYNE'S NEIGHBORS

YOUNG COUPLE ELOPE.

Van Wert, Ohio, Sept. 8.—Kerns W. Wright, a former deputy recorder of Van Wert county, whose home was then in Delphos, was one of the principals of an automobile elopement, with Miss Margaret Gardner, also of Delphos, the second party. Wright, who is now employed as a buying agent for the Continental Cement company, with headquarters in St. Louis, went to Tovey, Ill., where his bride was appearing as a goddess of liberty in a rent hypnotic show being conducted by her father, George A. Gardner, of Delphos. They had long been sweethearts, but fearing that the girl's parents might fear the breaking up of their show, the young people took Father Gardner's automobile, drove to Taylorville, Ill., and were married at the Presbyterian manse. The bride will remain with her parents until the close of the season and after October 1 will be at home with her husband in apartments in St. Louis.

WILL MOVE TO DECATUR.

Decatur, Ind., Sept. 8.—J. S. Hines has sold his undertaking establishment to Samuel E. Black, former partner, who retired from the business only a few weeks ago when he sold his holdings to Mr. Hines. Mr. Black has now formed a partnership with Murray Scherer, of Decatur, and will move the equipment from this city to Decatur, where the newly formed partnership will engage in the undertaking business. The equipment is to be shipped to Decatur at once. Mr. Black came here from Bryant, where he was at one time engaged in the hardware and implement business. Mr. Hines has not yet announced his future intentions.

NEW COUNTY JAIL.

Auburn, Ind., Sept. 8.—That Dekalb county will have a new jail next year is now an assured fact. The county council Thursday afternoon passed the appropriation of $45,000 asked for by the commissioners of Dekalb county for a new structure. This money will become available early next year and the work on the construction of the new building can start early in the spring. Dekalb county has needed a new jail for a number of years but the commissioners have felt that they could get along with the old building until a new one could be constructed without imposing an additional burden on the taxpayers.

WELL CONDUCTED COUNTY.

Warsaw, Ind., Sept. 8.—W. A. Marsh and T. D. Barr, state accountants, have completed examinations of the records in Kosciusko county, and they said yesterday that in no county of Indiana have they found county affairs administered with as much economy as here. They said the county tax rate of 19.9 cents is the lowest in any county in which they have worked, and in spite of this low rate the county has no outstanding debts and has a balance of more than $62,000.

HURT IN RUNAWAY.

Montpelier, Ind., Sept. 8.—Andy Rapp, well known butcher, and brother of George Rapp, sr., of Hartford City, was badly injured when the horse frightened as Mr. Rapp was stepping into his buggy at the Rapp slaughter house, north of here. Two wheels of the vehicle passed over Mr. Rapp. The attending physicians said it would take twenty-four hours' time to determine the extent of his injuries.

HOSPITAL PLAN REJECTED.

Huntington, Ind., Sept. 8.—The five democrats who comprise a majority of the county council voted against including the appropriation for the new county hospital and against including the levy of the commissioners in their levy for taxes to be collected next year. The two republican members of the council voted to make the appropriation and include the levy of the commissioners in the ordinance to be passed by the council.

DIVORCE SUITS DISMISSED.

Huntington, Ind., Sept. 8.—The divorce suit of Ross Curley against Gertrude J. Curley was dismissed in circuit court yesterday at the plaintiff's costs. The divorce suit of Debbie A. Barradall against Norbine E. Barradall was dismissed at the defendant's costs. The divorce suit of Corn V. Morris against Clarence Morris was dismissed at the defendant's costs. The suit for support brought by Maggie Davidson against John K. Davidson was dismissed at Davidson's costs.

FORMER SHERIFF DEAD.

Bluffton, Ind., Sept. 8.—William H. Higgins, sheriff of Wells county from 1898 to 1902, died yesterday afternoon at the home of a daughter, Mrs. John Neff. The deceased came here last Monday from Monroe, Wash., where he had been located the past seven years in the lumber business. He complained of being ill, but it was not regarded as serious. Early yesterday he suffered from hemorrhages and sank rapidly.

AUTO IS BADLY DAMAGED.

Hicksville, Ohio, Sept. 8.—An automobile driven by Miss Flora Conley was badly damaged, when near the First National bank corner the engine refused to work and the car began to run down the hill backward. The car struck an iron hitching rack near the city hall and about demolished the body of the rear seat of the machine.

PIONEER PASSES AWAY.

Warsaw, Ind., Sept. 8.—Samuel Huff, 80 years old, died yesterday at his home near Pleasant Grove. Death was due to a complication of diseases. He had been ill for sometime.

RUSSIAN CRIMINALS FLOCK TO AMERICA

Slav Wolves of the Underworld Posing as War Refugees.

Seattle, Wash., Sept. 8.—Arrival of a number of Petrograd's and Moscow's most desperate criminals in the guise of Russian war refugees has resulted in extra precautions by police and immigration authorities along the entire Pacific coast. Led by two Slav wolves of the underworld, an organization of Russian outlaws has just been wiped out in the west after a two years' reign of terror resulting in ten deaths and many wounds.

Banded together to rob banks, 19 Russians secured $22,000 within a few months between British Columbia and Los Angeles, Cal., killed two police officers and wounded four citizens. In a series of running battles and barricade fights with posses, eight of the bandits were finally killed, seven were captured and four, including the two notorious leaders, escaped. The last of the arrests and convictions, that of Souloff Aslemdek, recently put the finishing chapter to this reign of imported criminals.

A quarrel in a Slav lodging house here over their spoils led to the capture of half dozen of the most desperate members of the gang by Burns operatives and the police.

Always heavily armed and ready to shoot at the slightest show of resistance, these Russian brigands held life more cheaply than any desperadoes who have recently operated in the west.

It was their practice in holding up banks to intimidate the cashier and tellers by shooting glass windows and counters into shivers, and many a bank clerk today carries the scars of such splinters in his face.

Three of the leaders, who directed the operations of the gang without actual participation in the robberies and shootings, are known to be in the west still. The authorities fear that an attempt is being made now to organize another bandit gang by bringing in from Russia former outlaw associates of the men already here.

That is the tip from the underworld, and that is why the arrival of Russian war refugees is being so closely watched.

FRANCE, NATION OF BEARDS, TO BE BEARLESS; NURSES SHAVE FOR SOLDIERS.

Frenchmen, always proud of their short pointed beards, must have them cut, the government has decreed. They are insatiable in trenches. So, at least until the end of the war, France will be a beardless nation. The only consolation for soldiers is that, in many cases, Red Cross nurses do the cutting and shaving, as shown in the picture.

Some Petticoat News

A Remarkable Purchase and Sale

Some time ago—before the sharp advance in prices of silks—we contracted with three leading petticoat manufacturers of high grade petticoats for several hundred garments to be made after our own specifications.

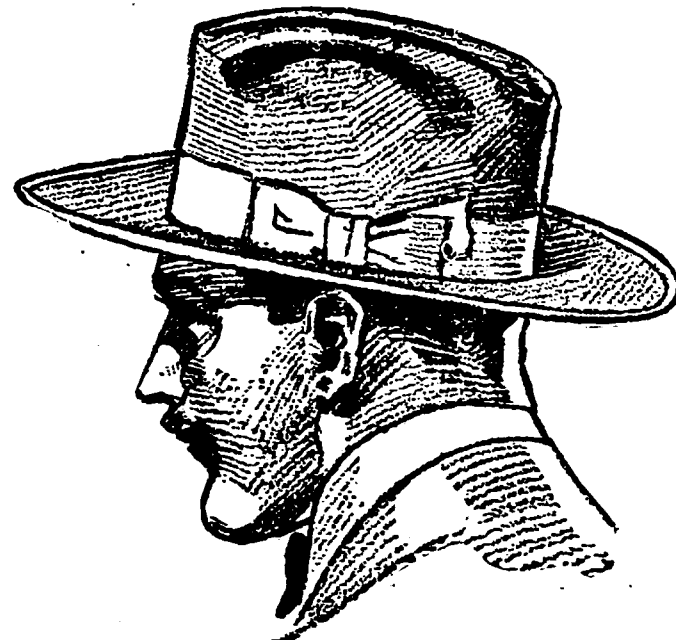

The petticoats are now here and are unquestionably the finest lot of choice styles ever shown in Fort Wayne. There are petticoats of every wanted shade and style, some in plain tailored effects, others elaborately trimmed and ruffled, in sizes for misses and matrons. The present vogue calls for a petticoat with every suit and gown. Considering the present condition of the silk market, the prices are remarkably low. We ask you to see the unusual values at

$2.95, $3.95 and $4.95

37 HARRISON HILL HOMES UP TO DATE

At the end of the year of 1915, Hilgemann and Schaaf, in checking up the results of their efforts on Harrison Hill, the delightful new addition just south of Rudolph boulevard, on the west side of Calhoun street, found that twelve homes had either been placed under construction or had been contracted for. At that time they established a quota of twenty-five additional homes in Harrison Hill as the height of their expectations for the year of 1916, and on Wednesday of this week they were delighted to find that this entire quota had been filled, for on that day a contract was let for the 37th home in this addition. With the months of September and October, which are always good real estate months, to go on, it is expected that the number of homes built or contracted for in Harrison Hill at the end of the 1916 season will reach at least forty and possibly forty-five. Further details regarding the development of Harrison Hill may be obtained from Hilgemann and Schaaf in the North American building. Advertisement.

Duofold Bed Divan, $52.50 Chair and Rocker

Including a Duofold Bed Davenport, Chair and Rocker Exactly as Illustrated Above

The Ideal Living Room Furniture of Today

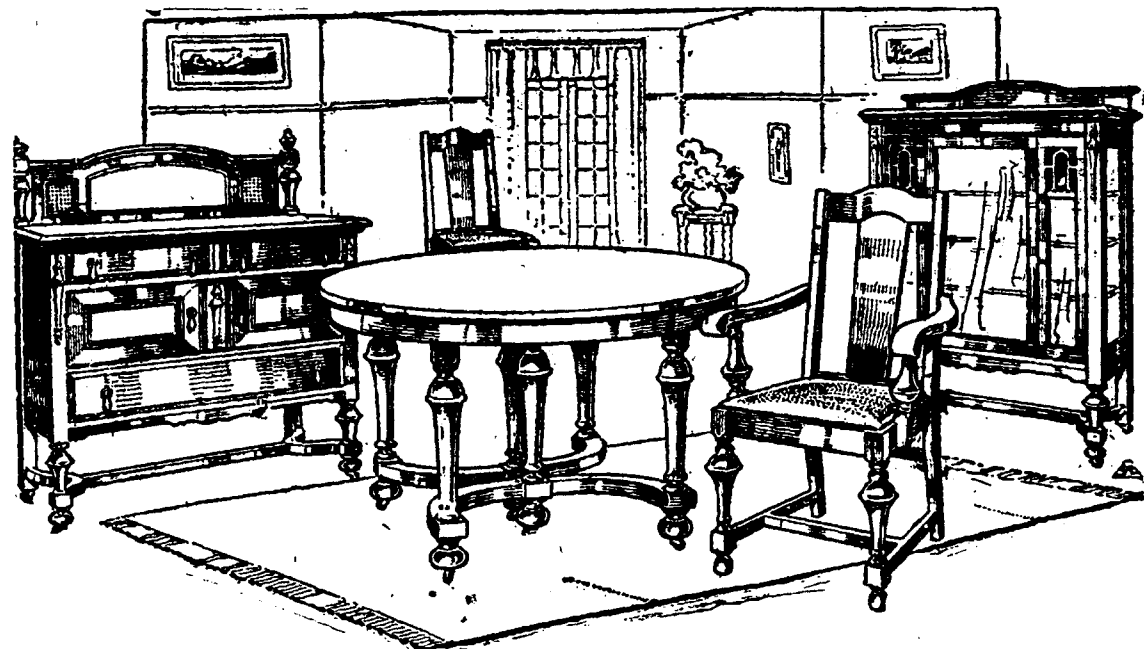

We can safely venture to say that there are more of these living room suites sold today than any other type of furniture for the living room. The reason is very obvious. Not only is this type of furniture more comfortable than the stiff back, spindly variety of former days, but it is also more practical.

Living Room by Day Bedroom by Night

It's the simplest thing in the world to convert your living room into a bed room with this Duofold outfit. With two slight operations this Divan can be quickly changed into a full-sized bed. They open up into the same sized bed as the bed davenport except that you lie with your head to the back of the Divan.

Small Deposit Places Outfit in Your Home

It is our object to prove to the most skeptical that furniture of a high quality can be bought on low credit terms without paying a big profit for the convenience. Did you ever, in all your experience, see a three-piece Duofold outfit of this character selling for less than this special price for cash?

William and Mary $115.00 Period Dining Suite

Including 46-inch Table, Buffet, China Closet, with 5 Chairs and Master Chair. All Leather Upholstered

The Handsomest Design Of the 1916 Season

Upholstered in Genuine Spanish Leather

The five Chairs and Master Chair are upholstered in genuine Spanish leather—the most expensive and the longest wearing leather on the market today. Unlike many of the period styles of today the chairs are absolutely comfortable, too.

Furniture Like This is Good for Generations

Furniture of this character is not only good as long as you will use it, but it will be considered the proper styles when your children are as old as you are now. Period furniture of this quality will never lack favor.

BASEBALL ATHLETICS

HILLINGER MAKES SELECTION OF TEAM

Good Line-Up Named to Play the Westerns in Series.

Capt. Bill Hillinger, of the all-star nine of the shop league, has made his selection for the all-star team that is to face the Western "Gassers" in a post-season series Saturday. The team looks as good as the champions and is featured with players that know baseball and also the good hitting artists. The team as Bill saw it is as follows:

Dietrich, Bowers, and Grimes, Turners, pitchers; Laible, Bowers, and Lauterberg, Duddles, catchers; Devibiss, Bowers, first base; Prince, Electric works, second base; Rabus, Turners, shortstop; Henry, Turners, third base; C. McKee, Electric works, right field; Hillinger, Bowers, center field; Dutch Meyer, Pennsy, left field.

The Western Gas outfit is without a doubt the best amateur team developed around these parts in many seasons. Its members are all hitting kings. The two teams are made up of stars and will give the liveliest game of ball the town has seen for a long time. Capt. Hillinger wishes the players whom he has selected to get in touch with him at once so he may be able to complete his plans for the game. Members of the all-stars are requested to be at Fisher's bath house at 1:30 o'clock Saturday.

CLEARY IS WAITING FOR SUNDAY TO COME

The Delphos team will find a willing opponent in the Clearyites when it comes to Fort Wayne Sunday afternoon. The team that Mart's prides have to meet is of class and is well known in Fort Wayne. Distel, the old standby, is to pitch for the locals and his side partner, Heine, will backstop for his snoots. "Dummy" Kilm needs no introduction to Fort Wayne because of his popularity with the fans of the town. He is coming ready to show up his old town and to make monkeys of its players if possible. The game will start at 2 o'clock and Farnan will umpire.

SALLEE IS SICK.

New York, Sept. 8.—Slim Sallee, the Giants' big southpaw, is seriously ill with an attack of ptomaine poisoning at his hotel in this city. The pitcher first became aware of the symptoms a day or two ago, and they became so acute Thursday that he was unable to leave the hotel. This is the second time in less than two years that Sallee has suffered from ptomaine poisoning.

STARS BACK IN FOLD.

Chicago, Sept. 8.—Three of last season's players on the Oak Park high school team have announced their intention of serving on the eleven this year. Coach Thistlewhite said Thursday: The players are Gordon Shepherd, captain; Layman Worthington, tackle, and Raynor Timme, guard.

NEW COACH EMPLOYED.

Monmouth, Ill., Sept. 8.—Coach Herman Stageman, former University of Chicago football star, who is to direct athletics at Monmouth this year, arrived Thursday and announced a football schedule of eight games as follows: Sept. 28, Iowa Wesleyan here; Oct. 6, Penn college at Oskaloosa; Oct. 14, Coe college at Cedar Rapids; Oct. 28, Northwestern college, Naperville, here; Nov. 4, Lombard at Lake Forest; Nov. 11, Lake Forest at Lake Forest; Nov. 18, William and Vashti here; Nov. 30, Knox here.

TO LET THEM PARTICIPATE.

St. Louis, Sept. 8.—T. G. Watts, president of the W. A. U., announced that he had received word from the committee of the N. A. A. U. that they would permit the eight athletes who competed in the recent meet here to compete for honors in the national championship meet at Newark, N. J. The athletes who in all probability will bring honor to the W. A. U. is Bob Simpson, of the University of Missouri, holder of the world's record for the 120 yard high hurdles. The W. A. U. athletes who will compete are: Bob Simpson, John McCrawley, Irwin Mahl, Floyd, Hickman, Frizzell, Bob Probst and Irwin Biel.

CHANCES ARE SLIM.

St. Louis, Sept. 8.—The chances of the St. Louis Americans for winning the pennant this season are not as bright as present as they were a few days ago, due to the injury of Henry Severoid, the mainstay of the St. Louis catching department, in a recent game with Cleveland. The injury will prove a costly one as Severoid was pounding the ball hard and was putting up a great game behind the bat. Manager Jones undoubtedly will send Catcher Hartley behind the bat in the absence of Severoid.

CAN'T FIND 'EM.

Detroit, Mich., Sept. 8.—Coach Billy Sullivan, of the Detroit Americans, who has been on a scouting trip, returned recently with the information that promising ball players are unusually scarce in the minor leagues this season. Sullivan scoured the country from the New England league to the Pacific coast, and did not make an offer for a single player. He said the pitchers and catchers were the poorest lot he ever looked over.

PRACTICE TO START SOON.

Ann Arbor, Mich., Sept. 8.—Autumn football practice at the University of Michigan will start Tuesday, Sept. 19. Candidates have been invited to report Monday. Four veterans have scholastic deficiencies to clear before they can join the squad. These men are Pat Smith, fullback; Walter Niemann, center; James Whalen, end, and "Fritz" Behor, guard.

WALKED PLANK ROAD.

Kendallville, Ind., Sept. 8.—Which road do you take to Fort Wayne and how many miles is it? Inquired a tourist from Michigan this morning. "Yes, I know it is twenty-eight miles," said a gray-haired man in the rear seat of the automobile, "for years ago I used to walk the plank road several times a week going and coming from Fort Wayne to my home north of here. That has been a long time ago and I had many a wearisome trip."

REV. GRIMES RE-ELECTED.

United Brethren Conference Votes to Retain Superintendent.

Warsaw, Ind., Sept. 8.—Delegates attending the annual session of St. Joseph conference of the United Brethren church here voted unanimously for the re-election of Rev. J. E. Grimes of North Manchester, as district superintendent. The following were admitted to the ministry as members of the conference: W. L. Eller, B. F. Feighter, H. B. Cain, J. W. Dickinson, J. P. Heighly and Elmer Reidenbaugh. Addresses were delivered by Bishop H. H. Fout of Indianapolis, Rev. W. E. Schell, secretary of education, and Rev. W. P. Noble and Rev. O. O. Walrad.

WELSH WANTS TO FIGHT WHITE.

Denver, Col., Sept. 8.—That Freddie Welsh doesn't fear to meet Charley White over any distance is evidenced by the latest offer of Harry Pollok, manager of White, to match the champion against White for a finish fight of "forty-five rounds or more if necessary."

Pollok said the only stipulation would be that Welsh must get the same money for the fight that Willie Ritchie got when he lost the title to Welsh—$25,000. Welsh's manager expressed his willingness to go to South Africa for the fight or to put it up to "Baron" Long, of Los Angeles, to stage the match at Tia Juana. Nate Lewis, White's manager, said that Stakeholder Smith still had $1,000 of White's forfeit money in his hands and declared that he was ready to let it go as a guarantee of his willingness to make the match, but insisted that the referee be chosen from a list of twelve names to be submitted by him.

BOWLING LEAGUE TO BEGIN SEASON OCT. 2

At a meeting held Thursday evening at the Metropolitan alleys the Fort Wayne Industrial bowling league was formed. Rules and by-laws will be considered at a meeting Friday evening, Sept. 22. At this time every club must post $25. Each club will hold a meeting soon to elect a captain who will act for them in future meetings.

The clubs which will compose the league are as follows: Journal-Gazette, Bowers, Duddles, Wayne Oil Tank, Packard, Rolling mills and Wayne Knitting mills. Although it is not probable that any of the teams will fail to post the money, in case this happens there are three teams watching for a chance to break into the league. The league schedule opens Oct. 2.

CALLS BALL LEAGUE TRUST.

San Francisco, Sept. 8.—A suit charging that the Pacific coast league is a trust and that it has conspired to monopolize baseball in California to such an extent that players outside the league are unable to make a living was evidenced by the United States district court here Thursday. Mrs. Esther Jacobs, complainant, seeks to recover $31,500, three times the amount she claims to have lent the defunct Sacramento club, whose franchise was sold to the Salt Lake City club. The suit is brought under the Sherman anti-trust law.

"You should know better," said the judge to John. "Discharged."

"Making eyes on the street again, eh?" said the judge to Helen. "It'll be $19 this time."

City and county school officials do not know a John Osborn. It is barely possible, however, that the teacher referred to in the above dispatch gave a wrong name, but told the truth as to his profession.

Bertha E. Hyer Says Anderson Man Jilted Her.

Indianapolis, Ind., Sept. 8.—Bertha E. Hyer, of Cincinnati, O., seeks $15,000 as heart balm in a suit filed in federal court Wednesday against Leopold Gilbert, said to be a wealthy resident of Anderson, Ind. According to the complaint, the defendant promised matrimony on July 4 last, but has failed to carry out his matrimonial representations to her up to the present date. The complaint recites that the plaintiff "lost an advantageous matrimonial connection with the defendant, who was and is a man of means and position and her affections have been blighted, her feelings lacerated and her spirits wounded." The marriage was to have taken place at Pittsburg, Pa., and, according to the plaintiff, she had made all preparations for the event.

SWEDAN HAS HARD JOB TO UPHOLD NEUTRALITY

Belligerent Naval Operations in Baltic Keep Swedish Officials on Jump.

Stockholm, Sweden, Aug. 20.—(Correspondence of The Associated Press.)—The fear expressed in government circles here that belligerent naval operations in the Baltic this summer would place a heavy burden upon the neutrality of Sweden seems to have been amply justified by the events of the past few weeks. The Swedish navy, small but efficient, has worked night and day to keep the territorial waters free of infringement, but despite this vigilance submarines and stealthy destroyers of the warring powers have slipped into the three-mile limit and stolen away with a prize.

Germany has been the chief offender of late, but the Russians were guilty of poaching earlier in the summer and still hold two German steamers taken within the three-mile limit despite the protests of the Swedish government. The Germans seem to have adopted the practice of capturing a ship, taking off such supplies as they need, and then releasing the vessel with a polite apology. Recently a Swedish ship, the Oscar II—not the ark of peace but a tiny little white steamer belonging to the Svea line—was captured by a German. It is no strange sight along the coast to see a German and a Russian "luggie" churning the waters side by side, or to see a German and an English ship pass pay a fortune to anyone who could run a cargo of oil past the British blockade. The incidents of sunk or captured ships have been many, but there have been far more unheralded instances where raids have been prevented by the presence of Swedish cruisers, destroyers and torpedo boats. It is no easy task to patrol a coast line which stretches from the northern crescent of the Gulf of Bothnia down through the entire length of the Baltic and out into the Cattegat, nor is it always possible to "chaperon" all the merchant ships flying belligerent flags and seeking the neutral shelter of the three-mile limit. A man destroyer and taken to a German Baltic port. There every bit of lubricating oil was removed from the steamer and she was allowed to proceed. The Germans naturally expressed their willingness to pay for the oil. They would in the night without the slightest sign of recognition. And it is always safe to assume that somewhere along this jagged, rocky coast there is lurking a spider-like destroyer of the "enemy" ready to pounce upon the steamer the moment it may stray "outside" or sometimes through over-eagerness to step inside the limit and "persuade" the richly laden tramp to steer "a little wide" of the dangerous coast.

There have been numerous incidents of late wherein the Swedish naval vessels have been stripped for action against belligerent destroyers and submarines, and some of the naval officers here in Stockholm say they have rather regretted it has never come to "blows" for they have had all the drudgery of war with none of the glory.

One of the newest Swedish torpedo boats, the Castor, is commanded by Prince William, second son of the king and a very popular young man. The prince is a great favorite in Stockholm, but the duties of the coast patrol have kept him away for a long time and his slim little gray vessel has been one of the chief defenders of Swedish neutrality.

A Cool Kitchen When You Want It—A Warm Kitchen When You Need It—All in One—Compact, Efficient, Economical Appliance

Moore's Cast Iron Combination Ranges

YOU KNOW something about Gas Ranges. You are quite familiar with Coal Ranges but do you know about a Combination Coal and Gas Range that works equally well with either fuel or both. We confess that we did not until after a most searching investigation discover a Combination Range that would really work satisfactory with both fuels without making a lot of disagreeable changes in the parts. Moore's Wizard Combination Gas and Coal Range fills every requirement. You can bake with gas or coal as you wish without the change of a part. It's so simple you will wonder why it has not been made before. In addition there are

Moore's Special Labor-Saving Features

The coal section is a regular size coal Range. The gas section is a standard size gas Range. The oven has all the advantage of both Ranges. Here are some of the special features. A glass oven door with patent method of fastening in the glass so it won't break—an accurate oven thermometer—Mrs. Rogers' Cooking Guide—a Moore's Patented Controller Damper—an Anti-Scorch Cover—Moore's Economical Fireback has solved the waste fuel problem. Burns that which would be soot. These and many others we ask you to come and investigate.

SOCIETY WOMAN TO HUNT GOLD and MERMAIDS on BOTTOM of the OCEAN

tion in the electrical and automobile fields as an inventor and designer, and who had worked out a plan for a deep-sea diving apparatus. That is how she became interested in deep-sea diving, and, being of an intensely practical turn of mind, she decided to take up the hunt for lost treasure. She entered the Leavitt Company and since then has been working on the deep-sea diving apparatus.

OLD Father Neptune is a miser, and we are going to rob his treasure vaults of fortunes greater than would be the realization of the wildest dreams of the Eldorado," she says. "Deep-sea diving is the last field of endeavor in which a woman would be supposed to enter, and

"With this armor as a shield against the pressure of the water, I can go down 400 feet and work with ease, whereas the ordinary methods fall at a depth of 175 feet.

"We have procured the location of steamers which went down with rich treasure, getting the information from government charts, and we expect to start work next summer.

"After a trial, at which we expect to demonstrate conclusively that a diver can stay under water four hours and work at a depth of 400 feet, we're going after the wreck of the Pewabic, which went down years ago off Thunder Bay, in Lake Huron, with a load of copper bars," she announced.

"When we have salvaged that, we will turn our attention to the Atlantic Coast.

"I'm going to make my first descent in Southern waters, probably next summer.

"I'm going to hunt sunken treasure because I need the money," Mrs. Goodman says. "I'm not going into it purely for the excitement of the thing or for notoriety. This is business realize the routine work is anything but gentle, easy exercise that they will be called upon to do. Probably it is more violent and harder and more trying work than they have done physically since they have attained their majority, but the enthusiasm prevails in every considered camp.

The target practice, which is looked forward to as a relief from the drudgery of camp routine, threatens to be a disappointment, however, in that the regulation army rifle still retains its weight and its kick. And the matter of hitting at what you shoot, from the regulation position, is not considered the simplest thing in the world. The target practice is a primary department for shooting under real war service conditions. Military shooting is a mighty difficult proposition when the wind and weather conditions are against one, and at the same time, compared to the shooting conditions met with in actual warfare, for there is a great difference. Objects shot at in war are small, indistinct and at great or unknown ranges, and, of course, the soldiers are under stress of great excitement.

It would be just as foolish for a shooter, however, to start in to practice under war conditions without a preliminary training in straight target shooting as it would be for a grammar student to go to college without stopping for a while at high school.

One of the first rules the beginner must learn thoroughly is always to keep the rifle at safety unless he is ready to fire. At all military encampments this rule is very carefully enforced. Practically all slow fire military target shooting is done in the prone position. The rules state that there must be no support for the rifle from his left elbow to the muzzle.

Logic

If there was one thing that little Nancy hated, it was going to bed. There was always an argument before she retired to rest.

"Come, dear," said her mother one evening. It is getting quite late and you should be upstairs in bed."

Nancy's little brain worked quickly. "But mother," she protested, "it won't be any earlier up there than it is down here!"

has attracted much attention. Verse written at the age of 13 was published in leading magazines, and later her writings, both prose and poetry, have appeared in many publications.

In recent years she has been a leader in woman's club work.

Born under the zodiac sign of the Gemini, Mrs. Goodman lives up to the astrologer's claim that a person so born will have a many-sided life. She has written poetry, made political speeches, ruled over women's clubs, graced many ballrooms and presided at other social functions, has been a dramatic critic and a success as a business woman and financier.

Enthusiasm for Citizen Soldier Camps Increases

WITH the approaching summer comes talk and enthusiasm for the coming citizen soldiery military training camps which many cities and communities are endeavoring to have the government establish. Camps where the business men, with patriotism and a desire to be properly trained in military affairs should his country need his services, sprang into prominence and popularity last year in the East.

Thousands of solid business and professional men have volunteered to attend these camps if the War Department will establish them. They

the suit of armor they are building for me now. When it is done I am going to Southern waters, where it is said conditions are most favorable for submarine observations, and go down, and down, and down.

"I think the bottom of the sea is built of rings like coral reefs, all covered with a flora to us unknown. I am going to invade the flower gardens of the mermaids and show new specimens of botanical growth to all of you. Deep-sea fishes, strange shells and many other things will go into the collection I hope to make. It is decidedly worth while, even if you never think of the practical side. The men folks of the company can go down to the wrecks of the Hancock, the Wilhelmina, the General Grant, the Husar and the Marguerita and provide a life of luxury for us all. I am going down to see, to learn."

DEEP-SEA diving is the all-absorbing topic of Mrs. Goodman's conversation, but it is by no means the only thing of interest about her. She comes of sturdy Scotch stock, and had not her father left the land of his birth and refused to return she would today be Lady Campbell. The father's title would have been Lord John Burdette Campbell, he being a direct descendant of Sir Colin Campbell. Since early girlhood this remarkable little woman with me. And there isn't any reason why I can't do it as well as any man.

NO, I am not afraid," said Mrs. Goodman. "Everybody I talk to asks me that silly question. The great experience, the wonderful adventure, makes the experiment worth while. Just think! I will see things no woman has ever seen before, and will gain knowledge which has been locked in the bosom of the deep since time began. See here's the oxygen tank for

Mrs. Goodman is not at all the type of woman one would expect to attempt it. With all her advanced ideas concerning woman's sphere and her well-proven business talents, she is decidedly feminine in demeanor and appearance. She is a wee bit of humanity, weighing just 99 pounds, and measures but 4 feet 10 inches from "tip to tip."

"I've been working on this plan for two years with an inventor who has constructed a bronze diving armor," she said.

OWN at the bottom of the sea, in vast stretches of branching coral, in fields of growing sponge, in meadows starred with gorgeous blossoms, in cool dim caverns, in that mysterious place where man has never trod, where the mermaids are supposed to disport with strange monsters of the deep, where abound flora and fauna such as only the wildest imagination can picture, there is a wealth of treasure, unheeded by the myriad living creatures about it, who merely regard it, if they regard it at all, as refuse from that mysterious place they have never seen, up there, somewhere above them.

For thousands of years it has been accumulating there. Gold and silver and precious stones, the cargo of many a treasure ship which has gone down to the bottom of the sea. That much is known to man. Tracing through the history of these lost ships one finds records of hundreds of them which have gone down to add to the store of treasure on the floor of the ocean.

And besides this treasure, once the property of man, who knows what other wealth is there awaiting the human who can venture into the depths?

Full many a gem of purest ray serene
The dark unfathomed caves of ocean bear.

Thus sang Thomas Gray. And there are many who believe that in those dark, unfathomed caves and in the stretches of forest and field and meadow there are gems and metals such as are not produced on the surface of the earth.

Jules Verne, in his great flight of imagination, "Twenty Thousand Leagues Under the Sea," tells the story of the wonderful growing pearl, as large as a coconut, in one of these ocean caverns.

The bottom of the sea is unknown territory to man. True it is there have been occasions when man has walked on the floor of the ocean, but never where the floor was far, far down in the depths. And even in these shallows, comparatively speaking, new species of fauna and flora have been found. What is further down?

A SOCIETY woman is going to try to answer this question. She intends to visit the depths of the ocean where no human has ever penetrated. She is going not only out of curiosity and in the interest of science, but also on business, for she will search for some of the stores of treasure from lost ships.

She is Mrs. Margaret C. Goodman of Toledo, Ohio, who has become the secretary-treasurer of a company which makes diving armor. Mrs. Goodman is a former newspaper woman of Detroit, and some time ago she was sent to interview B. F. Leavitt, who had gained a reputa-

Record-Breaking Term of Congress Complete

Big Battle Raging in Southeastern Rumania

ENDS ITS WORK AT 10 O'CLOCK

Wilson Commends Congress for Helpful and Humane Legislation.

TOTAL WELL TOWARD TWO BILLION MARK

Session Was in Many Respects Greatest in All History.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 8.—Congress adjourned sine die this morning at 10 o'clock, concluding a session, record breaking in many respects with appropriations and authorizations for the future, running well toward two billion dollars.

In a statement issued following adjournment of congress President Wilson called attention to the helpful and humane legislation passed and declared that while he regretted additional legislation dealing with the recent dispute between the railroads and their employees had not been completed he had every reason to believe the question would be taken up immediately after congress reconvenes.

What Mr. Marshall Said.

Vice President Marshall in his address to the senate said:

"When I assumed the duties of this office I thought it would be a terrible thing to keep silent but the longer I stay here the more I think it is wiser to keep silent. We are about to leave here, some of us to point with pride and others to view with alarm, but I hope when we will all have come back we will have forgotten the animosities of the campaign and will remember that we are good friends."

Congress, at the session closed today, appropriated exactly $1,826,439,210 which, with obligations and authorizations for the future makes the total $1,855,384,485. These figures, announced in speeches by Representatives Fitzgerald of New York, democrat, and Gillett, Massachusetts, republican, were defended by the former and attacked by the latter as half a billion dollars greater than any session of the republican congress.

As senators and representatives assembled, sleepy-eyed from brief rests, following the arduous night sessions both houses marked time awaiting the final formalities of the greatest session of congress in many respects in history.

In closing addresses, while awaiting the arrival of President Wilson, references to the long program of legislative achievement, dominated chiefly by national defense preparations at a cost of more than $600,000,000 were made. Democrats lauded the record of the session and commended it to the country.

As the gavel was suspended to sound the end of the session recapitulation of the nine months' work showed that there had been appropriated for the year 1917 for expenditures of the government more than $1,600,000,000 and that authorization had been made for future expenditures which would bring the grand aggregate of appropriations almost to the $2,000,000,000 mark.

Administration champions in informal reviews of the congress answered republican taunts of a "two billion congress" with declarations that the "United States is a two billion dollar country."

Soon after 9 o'clock President Wilson went to the capitol to sign bills.

Because of the arrangement for adjournment of congress this morning the president cancelled the cabinet meeting and several engagements with senators and representatives.

During the session of congress closing today 17,800 bills and 642 resolutions were introduced in the house. Of these 252 bills became laws and 33 house resolutions were adopted in addition to 150 private bills and resolutions passed. The Final Day.

This was the final day of the Sixty-ninth Congress.

Washington, Sept. 8.—President Wilson's statement regarding the work of the session of congress just ended was as follows:

"A very remarkable session of congress has just closed, full, as all recent sessions of the congress have been, of helpful and humane legislation, which constitutes contributions of capital importance to the defense, the economic progress and the wholesome life of the country."

"It is to be regretted that the session could not have lasted long enough to complete the program recently projected with regard to the accommodation of labor disputes, between the railroads and the employees, but it was not feasible in the circumstances to continue the session any longer and therefore only the most immediately pressing parts of the program could be completed."

"The rest, it is agreed, has merely been postponed until it can be more maturely deliberated and perfected. I have every reason to believe that it is the purpose of the leaders of the two houses, immediately upon the reassembling of congress, to undertake this additional legislation. It is evident that the country should be relieved of the anxiety which must have been created by recent events with regard to the but it was not feasible in the circumstances."

DEATH COMES TO MRS. ELIZABETH C. HANNA

Member of Prominent Pioneer Family Expires at Age of 87 Years.

Mrs. Elizabeth C. Hanna, widow of the late Henry C. Hanna and a member of one of the most prominent families of Fort Wayne, passed away at her residence, 420 East Berry street, Friday morning, at 7:30 o'clock. Death came at the age of eighty-seven years and followed a comparatively brief illness.

Mrs. Hanna, despite her advanced age, retained her good health and facilities until a week ago, when she was seized with an attack of acute indigestion. Since that time she gradually grew weaker and it was known Thursday that the end was drawing nigh.

The deceased was born in Coburn, Canada, but came to Fort Wayne when she was ten years of age. The following year she returned to Canada, but when she was nineteen she came back to this city and had resided here ever since. She saw the city grow from a small trading post to its present size.

Her maiden name was Elizabeth Carson and she was a sister of the late Judge W. W. Carson, of Fort Wayne. She was married to Mr. Hanna sixty-five years ago this coming October 25.

As a member of the First Presbyterian church she was an active worker in its affairs. Surviving she leaves three sons: Joseph T., Henry C. and Robert B., all of this city, and two grandchildren, Robert B., Jr., and Agnes Taylor Hanna, also of this city.

NEW COUNTY AGENT READY FOR SERVICE

A. J. Hutchins Arrives After Having Attended the State Fair.

A. J. Hutchins, new Allen county agricultural agent, has returned from the state fair, where, in conjunction with C. Henry, recently resigned as county agent for this county, he put on an exhibit at the fair including pictures of home improvement work and the oat smut check.

Mr. Hutchins says he was impressed with the diversity of things which the county agents were doing. There were exhibits by nineteen or twenty agents, he says, and practically all of them had something different. Mr. Hutchins states that he will take up the work as nearly as possible where Mr. Henry left off and especially will be active in work among the live stock breeders, including the Hunttown Live Stock and Agricultural association and the Fort Wayne District Shorthorn Breeders' association.

Mr. Hutchins comes to Fort Wayne from Decatur, Adams county, where he remained for one year. Previous to that time he spent two years in Clark county as agricultural agent with headquarters at Jeffersonville. He has had three years of active work in the field and has been efficient at all of those places.

TWO MORE MEN SENT TO FORT HARRISON

Two more recruits were accepted at the local recruiting station for the Indiana national guard Thursday afternoon and Friday morning they were sent to Fort Benjamin Harrison. They were William Black, aged 22 years, of Monteville, and Dewey Mowery, aged 19, of Dunlap, Ind. This makes a total of four men who have been accepted at the station in charge of Second Lieutenant Howard Miller.

Next week Lieutenant Miller will establish temporary offices in small towns near Fort Wayne and recruiting work will be done there.

SAY STRIKE IS BROKEN

NORMAL SCHEDULE
ON SUBWAY AND L

King of Strike-Breakers is Seeking to Make Boast Good.

New York, Sept. 8.—With subway and elevated trains being operated apparently on normal schedules, traction officials insisted today that New York's strike has been broken.

Fifty per cent. of the "green cars" of the New York Railway company's surface system were running, the company announced, and police department reports indicated that the walkout was not having a widespread effect. Union leaders claimed at noon that 3,500 men were on strike on the subway and elevated roads and 4,000 men on the green car system.

All cars on the so-called "green" lines, representing the greater part of the surface system, in Manhattan and the Bronx, had been withdrawn at 8 o'clock last night, after maintaining during the day a service that was barely 20 per cent. of normal.

King of Strike-Breakers on Job.

When the surface cars were started out again at 6 o'clock this morning the situation was in charge of James T. Waddell, known as the king of strike-breakers. Mr. Waddell came here from Chicago last night, making the run by special train in twenty hours. He promised to crush the strike in forty-eight hours.

"I have 3,500 strike-breakers here," said Waddell, "and 2,700 of these are now working. There are more than enough to control the situation. Subway and elevated trains ran last night and this morning as usual. Fearing that the strikers would be able to interrupt the services thousands of persons yesterday patronized the multitude of jitney automobiles that mobilized at every important center, but today the traveling public returned to its accustomed routes, by subway and 'L'."

A number of elevated trains were attacked during the early morning but in no case was there any approach to a mob riot. Strike sympathizers on the roofs of tenement houses bombarded the trains with bottles and bricks, and in one instance with pistol shots. None of the bullets took effect but several passengers were cut by missiles and broken glass. The police surrounded the blocks from which the missiles came and searched the roofs but made only a few arrests. Rumors of a plot to blow up the subway caused the police to maintain a watch at every underground station, but the subway trains ran during the night and early morning without molestation.

VETERANS OF CIVIL WAR HOLD REUNION

The annual reunion of the Forty-fourth Indiana volunteer infantry was held Thursday at Waterloo, at which time Comrade Solomon Cox, of Angola, was elected president of the veteran association. William Biel was chosen vice president and Miss Josephine Willis, daughter of Comrade Willis, who held the position until his death, was named treasurer and secretary. The 1917 reunion will be held in Angola. The Fort Wayne veteran, who attended the reunion were Captain W. A. Kelley, Jasper Edsall, M. Thomas and W. Daugherty.

18-YEAR-OLD GIRL IS INDICTED FOR MURDER

Huntsville, Ark., Sept. 8.—Naomi Bech, 18-year-old daughter of a farmer living near here, was today indicted on a charge of first degree murder. She is said to have admitted that she shot and killed Earl Sison, 29, son of a neighbor, on July 11.

They had been sweethearts, but had quarreled. The girl is reported to have said that she killed the boy because he cursed her when she sought a reconciliation.

NET EARNINGS HIGHER.

Washington, Sept. 8.—Sixty-seven of the large steam railways earned a net revenue of $545 per mile during last July, an increase of $43 a mile over July, 1915. A summary made public today by the inter-state commerce commission shows net revenues totalled $41,355,321 compared with $36,328,588 in 1915. The largest gains were made in the east.

Physical Director Plans Busy Winter

MISS ELEANOR S. BILL.

Miss Eleanor S. Bill, new physical director at the Y. W. C. A., is planning a busy season in her department. At the present time she is making arrangements for a tennis tournament to be given at Sweeney park, starting Saturday, September 16.

CAPT. BARLOW HAS NO COMPLAINT TO OFFER

New York, Sept. 8.—Details of the firing on and stopping of the American steamer Owego by the German submarine in the English channel on Aug. 3 (Waddell, known as the king of strike-breakers. Mr. Waddell came here from Chicago last night, making the run by special train in twenty hours. He promised to crush the strike in forty-eight hours.)

Captain Barlow confirmed cable reports that he was unable to see the submarine because of a thick haze. He said that apparently there was no intention on the part of the U-boat's captain to hit the Owego and added that he had no complaint to make.

CHARLES S. BASH IS SERIOUSLY ILL

Charles S. Bash, one of the best known business men of Fort Wayne, is seriously ill at his home, 1114 West Wayne street. He was taken sick Wednesday morning and Wednesday evening his condition was extremely grave and members of the family were summoned to his bedside. However, he rallied and since that time has shown marked improvement. He is suffering from hardening of the arteries. Mr. Bash has been in failing health the entire summer.

HUGHES FINDS MAINE CAMPAIGN STRENUOUS

Portland, Maine, Sept. 8.—Charles E. Hughes entered today upon the second of three strenuous days of campaigning in Maine, whose elections are to be held here next Monday.

The nominee left here at 8:45 a. m. for Lewiston, where he was scheduled to speak at 10 o'clock. Afternoon meetings at Waterville and Pittsfield were on the program in addition to a night meeting at Bangor. A number of brief stops, some with short talks and for the purpose of shaking hands with persons at various railway stations, also had been arranged.

STUDENT AVIATORS BADLY HURT IN FALL

New York, Sept. 8.—Flying at a height of between 600 and 700 feet over Governor's island today, a biplane containing J. Walter W. Struthers and Charles Wiman, student aviators in training, for the aero reserve corps authorized recently by President Wilson, became unmanageable and fell to the ground after a series of short spirals by which Struthers, who was piloting the machine, was unable to avert the accident.

Each aviator had one leg broken and received cuts and possibly internal injuries. Both are expected to recover.

Total Attendance for Week Has Been About 140,000

Indianapolis, Ind., Sept. 8.—The Indiana state fair closed today after having been visited by approximately 140,000 persons since Monday morning. All of the special attractions were given today, but most of the live stock shows for premiums ended Thursday or early today.

BEATEN BY A HEAVY VOTE

EFFORT IN AID OF
MR. HUGHES FAILS

Convention Delegates Are Rapidly Learning How to Cast Votes.

Atlantic City, N. J., Sept. 8.—The National American Woman Suffrage association convention today defeated by an overwhelming vote a resolution that the association in the present national campaign support only those candidates for national offices who pledge their support to the passage of the Susan B. Anthony amendment for a federal constitutional amendment. The resolution was recommended by Mrs. Raymond Robins, of Chicago, and a number of other delegates.

Delegates who say they expect to be enfranchised before many years have passed, are taking time by the forelock and are learning how to vote.

Follow Primary Laws.

In electing their national officers the delegates are following much the same plan of states where there are state-wide primary laws. The candidates filed petitions duly signed by a certain number of persons, to have their names placed on the primary ballot. The time for filing nomination papers closed late last night and today a primary election was held. The two candidates receiving the highest vote for any one office will be placed on the election ballot. Delegates have been practicing on the machines in order to be able to vote without making a mistake. Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, national president of the organization, tried one in New York a week ago and voted a full ticket in 17 seconds. Others are trying to break the record she has established.

Election laws have been adopted that prohibit women from electioneering at the polling place and from carrying on their campaign for favorite candidates within one hundred feet of the polling place, which is in one of the parlors of a beach front hotel.

No Opposition to Mrs. Catt.

With the exception of three officers who have announced they will retire all the present officers expect to be re-elected. So far as can be learned Mrs. Catt has no opposition for president. It is said Mrs. Walter McNab Miller, of Columbia, Mo., will be elected first vice president to succeed Mrs. Frank M. Roosevelt, of Pittsburgh, Pa. Mrs. Thomas Jefferson Smith, of Kentucky, is said to be the probable successor of Mrs. Miller as first auditor.

One of the principal matters before the convention today was the resolution declaring that the message of the federal amendment through congress is the paramount object of the association. It has created much debate and was expected to be further discussed today. President Wilson will speak tonight.

AUTO SKIDS; OVERTURNS.

Three Painfully Hurt in Accident Near Princeton.

Princeton, Ind., Sept. 8.—Three people were seriously hurt near here last night when an automobile driven by Merrill Howe, 35, on the way home from a dance, skidded and turned completely over. Howe has broken ribs and internal injuries. Mary, his sister, is unconscious with concussion of the brain, and Miss Frankie Hatch, Gregeville, Ill., had her right arm crushed.

ADVOCATES HEALTH SCHEME OF GERMANY

Dr. J. H. Gilpin Would Battle Disease Germs by Many School Recesses.

As the most effective precaution against disease germs after school opens, Dr. J. H. Gilpin, secretary of the board of health, advocates the health scheme employed in common schools of Germany.

"Germans are known for their resistance powers," Dr. Gilpin says. "Their wonderful showing against the world in the present war is partly due to that. They get much of their health training in the schools."

"I believe especially in their hourly recess plan. It would be a fine thing for Fort Wayne schools. The plan is to have a ten minute recess every hour during the school day. The children are driven out of doors at every intermission. They are forced to fill their lungs with fresh air. They must take exercise. They change their position. It gives the school room a chance to air out and the children a chance to take on a cargo of pure air. It is the best fortification against disease."

"It would be a fine thing for Fort Wayne schools to start at this time when constant vigilance against germs must be maintained. Children would soon become accustomed to being turned out for a constitutional every hour. They would work better when they returned to the classroom. Their bodies would be stronger in disease resistance power."

Exact precautions are to be taken in the schools this year. Teachers are to be given special instructions on maintaining healthful conditions. Children who are not clean are to be sent home. Any child showing the slightest indisposition is to be ordered examined by a physician before he or she can return to school.

"I do not fear an epidemic of infantile paralysis longer," Dr. Gilpin said Friday. "I think the danger point in the hold of that plague upon Fort Wayne is passed. But other ailments will come. Children are bound to fall prey to the minor diseases. The sickness record would be much lighter I think if the recess plan used in German schools were adopted here."

DR. LYON'S SON HAS VERY NARROW ESCAPE

Big Machine Started to Tip Over High Embankment on River Road.

Arthur Lyon, son of Evangelist Millard H. Lyon, of Winona, Lake, who conducted a series of tabernacle meetings here a couple of years ago, and who spoke at the Bowser plant Thursday, had a narrow escape from injury and probably instant death when a big Buick touring car which he was driving started over the embankment along the Tippecanoe river road, three miles west of Warsaw.

Young Lyon attempted to pass a road scraper to which four horses were being driven, and in so doing the big machine started to tip and leave the road. There were several men working on the scraper at the time and seeing the predicament the driver was in, hurried to his assistance. They managed to keep the big machine from rolling down the bank by bracing it until it could be pulled back into the road.

The bank along the river road was fully twenty feet high and had the machine turned over it is probable that Mr. Lyon would have been seriously, if not fatally injured.

INDIANAPOLIS WANTS IT.

After National Headquarters of Railway Mail Clerks.

Indianapolis, Sept. 8.—A movement to bring the national headquarters of the Railway Mail Clerks' association to Indianapolis, has been started. The executive committee of the national association is said to be intending to consider in the near future a change in the location of the headquarters which at present are at Portsmouth, N. H. Members of the fifth division, which includes territory in Indiana, Ohio and Kentucky are arranging to make the invitation from Indianapolis a strong one.

Bread Consumers Regard Increase as Necessity

Dealers throughout the city state that very few people have complained or grumbled about the raise in the price of bread. Citizens in general regard it as the natural consequence of the high cost of living and do not blame the dealer or the baker for the advanced prices. Of course, there are a few now and then who blame the dealer for the increase, but upon explanation that flour has gone up, all seem to realize that it is a natural consequence and can not be avoided.

RUSSIANS ARE ON OFFENSIVE

Strike at Bulgars and Germans from Danube to the Black Sea.

Furious Attacks by German Armies Fail to Beat Back Their Foes.

Today's War News Given in Summary

The beginning of a great battle in southeastern Rumania is reported unofficially from Petrograd. The Russians are said to have taken the offensive over the entire Dobruja front, attacking the invading Bulgarian and German forces from the Danube to the Black sea.

An undated Bulgarian official report announces important victories for the invaders in this region. It is said the German and Bulgarian forces have captured the fortified town of Dobric, or Bazardjik, fifty miles southeast of Bucharest, and three towns on the Rumanian Black sea coast, near the Bulgarian frontier. Sofia concedes that the Rumanians have occupied the important Hungarian town of Orsova, capture of which has previously been reported unofficially.

German troops along the Somme front last night made repeated efforts to take back ground won by the French in their latest advance south of the river. The struggle over the ground between Berny and Chauvins was marked with unusual violence. Paris announces officially that the assaults of the Germans availed them nothing and the French everywhere held their ground.

On the Verdun front also French troops were subjected to a counter attack, the object of which was to reconquer German first line positions over a front of nearly a mile northeast of Verdun, which the French took yesterday. These efforts were unsuccessful, the report says.

The British troops on the Somme front were comparatively inactive. Further north, near Ginchy, the British raided German trenches and, London says, inflicted severe losses on the occupants.

An official Bulgarian statement of Sept. 4, dealing with the earlier phases of the invasion of Eastern Rumania, tells of the defeat of the Rumanians in two engagements and reports a successful Bulgarian advance along the Rumanian Black sea coast.

London, Sept. 8.—The beginning of a great battle in southeastern Rumania, where the Russians have taken the offensive against the Bulgarians and Germans, is reported in a Rome dispatch given out by the Wireless Press.

The struggle is now under way on the whole front between the Danube and the Black sea. Fighting is particularly desperate near Balcik, on the Black sea coast, about ten miles north of the Bulgarian frontier.

This information, the wireless dispatch says, was received in Rome from Petrograd.

Bulgars Claim Victory.

An undated official Bulgarian report received here today says that the Bulgarian and German forces which are invading eastern Rumania have captured the fortress of Dobric Bazardjik and the seaports of Baltik, Kavarna and Kaliakra. The occupation of Orsova by the Rumanians is conceded in the Bulgarian statement.

British troops southwest of Lille last night raided the German trenches southeast of Ginchy and near Pichebourg l'Avoine, inflicting severe losses on their occupants, says the British official statement issued this afternoon.

SESSION HAS BEEN BIG ONE

Vast Deal of Work Marks the Total of Congressional Achievement.

NATIONAL DEFENSE WAS THE BIG ITEM Law Preventing Railroad Strike Came as Later Important Issue.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 3.—The first session of the Sixty-fourth congress which adjourned today was concerned chiefly with national defense. When the gavel fell congress had directed reorganization and re-equipment of the army and navy for defense of the country at the unprecedented cost of $655,000,000 with authorizations that will increase the total in three years to nearly $800,000,000. With all other expenditures, appropriations were brought to the grand total of $1,637,583,682, the greatest aggregate in the country's history and exceeding that for the last fiscal year by more than half a billion dollars.

Expenditures, necessitated by preparedness and the calling into action of military forces to meet the Mexican emergency demanded revenue legislation in the closing days of the session. Congress responded by doubling the normal tax on incomes, creating an inheritance tax, minimums tax and miscellaneous excise taxes to raise $395,000,000 and by directing sale of $130,000,000 Panama canal bonds.

Some of its Accomplishments. Congress established a tariff commission; a government shipping board to rehabilitate the American merchant marine; a workmen's compensation commission to administer a new uniform compensation law; a farm loan banking system; a child labor law; enlarged the system of self-government in the Philippines and enacted many other important laws which had been contemplated by the administration.

The session was disturbed throughout by frequently recurring threats of foreign complications from the European war and imminence at one time of a diplomatic break with Germany; interference with American mails and commerce, invasion of American soil and killing of Americans by Mexican bandits, and danger of actual war with Mexico.

Later in the session trouble arose in the senate over the nomination of Louis D. Brandeis, of Boston, to succeed the late Justice Lamar as a member of the supreme court. Weeks of investigation and deliberation by the judiciary committee ended in confirmation of Mr. Brandeis by a large majority.

Prevented Rail Strike. In the week before adjournment congress was occupied with legislation which prevented a threatened nationwide railroad strike. President Wilson after futile negotiations with the officials of the railroads and railroad brotherhoods, submitted the controversy to congress, recommending legislation to avert the strike and to prevent such emergencies from arising in the future.

After a week of consideration during which the president visited the capitol daily, conferring with administration leaders, a bill was passed to establish an eight hour day as a basis for pay of railroad workers, the present rate of pay for ten hours' work not to be reduced and the men to receive pro rata pay for work in excess of eight hours, pending an investigation by a special commission into the effect of the eight hour day on railroad revenues.

Many Important Laws. Most important legislative enactments of the session, exclusive of laws for national defense, were the following: Railroad Eight Hour Day Law—Establishing eight hours as the standard for reckoning the compensation of railroad employees operating trains in interstate commerce after Jan. 1, 1917, and providing for a commission of three to investigate the effects of the eight hour standard, present wages not to be reduced during the investigation, nor for thirty days thereafter, and work in excess of eight hours to be paid for at a pro rata rate.

Government ship law—Appropriating $50,000,000 to operate ships in foreign and coastwise trade when unable to lease them to individuals or private corporations.

Child Labor Law—Denying interstate commerce to products of mines and quarries employing children under 16 years of age, and factories, mills, canneries and other establishments employing children under 14 years.

Rural Credits Law—Establishing a Farm Loan board in control of a system of farm loan mortgage banks.

Workmen's Compensation Law—Providing uniform sick and accident benefits for employees of the federal government, and benefits to dependents in case of death.

Emergency Revenue Law—Providing for doubling the normal income tax on the lowest class; making an additional surtax ranging from one per cent on that portion of incomes exceeding $20,000 to 13 per cent on amount of incomes in excess of $200,000; levying a graduated tax of one to ten per cent on inheritances ranging from $50,000 to $5,000,000; a ten per cent net profit tax on manufacturers of munitions, five per cent net profit tax on manufacturers of materials entering into munitions; a license tax on actually invested capital stock of corporations capitalized at more than $99,000; wine, beer and liquor excise taxes and miscellaneous stamp taxes.

Good Roads Law—Providing for cooperative federal aid to the states for construction of highways, and appropriating $75,000,000 to be spent in five years.

Postal Savings Law—Amendment increasing the amount which individuals may deposit from $500 to $1,000 with interest and an additional $1,000 without interest.

Federal Reserve—Amendments, including amendment to the Clayton anti-trust law permitting officers and directors of member banks to become officers and directors of not more than two other non-competing banks; amendments permitting national banks to establish foreign branches, liberalizing regulations for discounting commercial paper and permitting member banks in towns of 3,000 or less population to act as agents for insurance companies.

Railroad Legislation—Creation of a joint sub-committee of senate and house interstate commerce committees to investigate necessity for further legislation for railroads and the interstate commerce commission, question of government ownership of public utilities and comparative worth of government ownership as against government regulation.

Tariff—Creation of a non-partisan tariff commission of five members to investigate and advise congress on tariff revision; repeal of the free sugar provision of existing tariff law; amendments increasing duties on dyestuffs to encourage manufacturing dyestuffs in the United States; enactment of an anti-dumping provision to prevent dumping of foreign made goods at less than foreign market prices; authorization for the president to retaliate against foreign nations prohibiting importation of goods from the United States by laying an embargo against imports from offending nations.

Cotton futures act—Providing a prohibitive tax on cotton sold for future delivery in futures or wash sales.

Philippines—Law to provide for a more autonomous government of the islands, enlarging self-government, reorganizing election laws, establishing an elective senate and promising independence whenever, in the judgment of the United States the Philippine people demonstrate capability for it.

Grand total.....$1,637,583,682 In addition to the total there were authorizations for expenditures in future years, including naval, good roads, tariff commission and other expenditures to bring the total to approximately two billion dollars, but these amounts do not properly apply to the appropriations for the fiscal year.

Much Miscellaneous Work. In addition congress enacted an unusually large amount of miscellaneous legislation, including reorganization of the patent office, provision for trial of space system in place of weight system for payment for railroad mail service and leaving to the interstate commerce commission determination of the method and rate of pay; creation of a national park bureau in the department of the interior; establishing warehouse regulations for cotton and grains and providing for a year of the government war risk insurance bureau; uniform law making bills of lading negotiable.

Proposed legislation which failed of enactment and has gone over until next winter includes the immigration bill, the corrupt practices act to limit campaign expenditures for election to the president, vice president and members of congress; a vocational education bill passed by the senate; conservation legislation, including the public lands, water power bill, the Shields' navigable streams water power bill, which failed in conference; the oil leasing bill, including relief for California oil men; a flood control bill, which passed the house, and a bill to establish citizenship for natives of Porto Rico.

Four Treaties Ratified. Four treaties were ratified by the senate. The most important was the long pending Nicaraguan convention, providing for the acquisition of a canal route and naval station rights in the Bay of Fonseca for $3,000,000, and that ratified in the closing hours provided for the purchase of the Danish West Indies for $25,000,000. Another was the treaty with the Republic of Haiti providing for an American financial protectorate. The much-disputed pending treaty with Colombia, after several years of consideration, was favorably reported by the foreign relations committee with an amendment reducing from $25,000,000 to $15,000,000 the proposed amount to be paid for the partition of Panama. The treaty, however, was never taken up in the senate because of unrelenting opposition to it on the part of many senators, and it remains on the calendar. A treaty with Great Britain providing for protection of migratory birds on both sides of the Canadian border was ratified. Death claimed four members of congress during the session. Senators Shively, of Indiana, and Burleigh, of Maine, and Representatives Brown and Moss, both of West Virginia. Representative Witherspoon, of Mississippi, died just before the session began.

RESOLVE TO BUILD MANY NEW SIDEWALKS Board of Works Confirms Resolutions and Grants Alley Contracts.

Petitions for a dozen new concrete sidewalks were acted upon favorably by the board of works in regular session Thursday night. Few objections to the improvements are expected. The walks will be finished this fall.

Location of the sidewalks petitioned for are as follows: Jackson street, from Lavinia street to the south line of lot No. 3 in Chipman's addition; on the south side of Walnut street, from Fairfield avenue to Oakley street; on the east side of South Wayne, from Organ avenue south; on both sides of Beaver, from Federal to Rudisill boulevard; on the north side of Greenlawn avenue, from Koch street to Hensch street; on both sides of Leith street, from Calhoun street to Hoagland avenue; on the south side of Grace avenue, from Fox street to Broadway; on both sides of Grant street, from Washington street to Mamme avenue; on the west side of Lantz street, from Tennessee avenue to Delaware avenue, and for the paving of the alley south of Creighton avenue, from Fox street to Miner street.

The Grace Construction company was awarded contracts for paving the following alleys with concrete: The alley between Jefferson and Washington, from Monroe to Francis; between Calhoun and Harrison, from Douglas to Brackenridge; between Washington and Jefferson, from College to Nelson; between Hanna and Webster, from Creighton to Woodland; between Fairfield and South Wayne, from Wildwood to the first alley north of Wildwood; between Hanna and Weiser Park avenue, from Pontiac to McKee.

A petition for the construction of a sewer in the alley north of Rudisill avenue, from Indiana to Beaver avenues, was referred to the city engineer, with instructions to prepare plans and specifications for the proposed improvement.

Assessment rolls were adopted for the sidewalks on State street, from Parnell to Florida drive, and for grading and sidewalks on Sinclair street, from Runyon avenue to the Grand Rapids & Indiana railroad.

PRESIDENT UP EARLY TO ATTACK DAY'S WORK

Much to Do Before Wilson's Departure for Atlantic City Address.

Washington, Sept. 3.—To complete the work incidental to the adjournment of congress President Wilson was up early today signing bills, executive orders and commissions which he desired to dispose of before leaving for Atlantic City at 1 o'clock this afternoon. He arranged to go to the capitol to sign the urgent deficiency, the revenue and other bills passed in the closing hours of congress.

The president will arrive at Atlantic City shortly after 5 p. m. today and will remain at a hotel there until he speaks tonight at the convention of the National Woman Suffrage association. The president did not prepare his surprise speech fully in advance, but plans to develop his position that while he believes in votes for women he thinks that each state should settle the question for itself.

President Wilson had on his list of callers today Sir Cecil Spring-Rice, the British ambassador, who was to present King George's reply to the president's appeal to all the European belligerents for an agreement permitting the shipment of relief supplies into portions of Poland, occupied by Teutonic armies.

The reply was said to follow the position already laid down by the allies, that Germany's insistence upon the right to feed her garrison on Polish products, makes it impossible for them to allow supplies to go into the country through their lines.

URGES OBSERVANCE OF PRISON SUNDAY

Indianapolis, Sept. 3.—The Indiana board of state charities has started the work of calling attention to the fact that Prison Sunday is to be observed the last Sunday in October. Amos W. Butler, secretary of the state board, is sending post cards to pastors of various denominations all over the state, asking them to unite with those who have observed the day in past years. The cards ask for an answer and read: Will you unite with the thousands of other churches throughout our land in the observance of Prison Sunday—the last Sunday in October? The extended recognition of this day by our churches is very gratifying and we earnestly hope to have your co-operation this year. The appeal comes to call to present the cause of the prisoner; the offender, the one who is neglected and dependent; to show the causes of crime, degeneracy and poverty, to learn how we minister to those who have fallen and what must be done to prevent the fall of others. No collection is desired. We will send you our "Prison Sunday" pamphlet free of charge on request.

Mr. Butler says he is receiving a generous response to his requests for co-operation in observing the day.

Report on Indiana Indeterminate Measure is Encouraging One.

Indianapolis, Ind., Sept. 3.—A report on the results of the application of the indeterminate sentence law in Indiana has been compiled by the state board of charities and corrections, and was made public today.

After speaking of the good the indeterminate sentence law was accomplished by permitting paroles to prisoners and offenders deserving such, the report says in part:

"This law has now been in operation in Indiana nineteen years. Within that time 9,538 men and 277 women, a total of 9,815, have been released under its provisions. More than sixty per cent of these (6,984 to be exact) have been discharged from parole, having lived up to the terms of their conditional release for at least one year. The sentence of 480 expired while they were on parole, 102 died, 637 are still under supervision. Altogether, these constitute 73.8 per cent of the whole number paroled, leaving only 2,607, or 26.4 per cent, who violated their paroles. This is a remarkable testimony to the value of the system. It is well known that under the former method of definite sentence the figures were practically reversed.

"The system has its financial advantages as well. It costs an average of $175 annually to maintain an inmate of one of three state prisons. Paroled prisoners must earn their own living and the records show that they have succeeded. An accurate account is kept of all cash receipts and reported to the proper authorities. The 9,815 men and women who have been paroled in the past nineteen years earned a total of $2,736,657.01 during the time they were under supervision, paid their own expenses and when they ceased reporting had savings on hand amounting to $501,542.94, an average of $50.81 each."

TRACTION ENGINE EXPLODES. One Fatally Hurt, Others Seriously Burned in Accident.

Batesville, Ind., Sept. 3.—Herbert Gunther, 21, was hurled one hundred feet into the air and so badly scalded and burned that he is not expected to live and three others were burned seriously when both ends of a traction engine were shattered by an explosion here yesterday. The injured are William Schupier, 50; Fred S. Oppenhaus, 35, and William Ahrens, 21. The explosion occurred while the men were engaged in shredding corn. A horse, which was nearby, was thrown fifty feet by the force of the explosion.

There will be a meeting of the Second ward club of the Young Men's Democratic league tonight at 8 o'clock at democratic headquarters, 126 East Main street.

Byron Hayes will preside, he being captain. Edward Bresnahan and L. M. Bane, attorney, of the board of governors, will have charge of the meeting. Elgin C. Lochrane, Ed Quillman, Wayne Monahan and Ed Hammond are members of a committee working with the captain and governors at this meeting.

Earl Peters, secretary for Congressman Cyrus Cline, will give the principal address, his subject being, "The Young Man in the Political Life at Washington."

There will be a meeting of the Jefferson Drum corps at 8 o'clock tonight over democratic headquarters. Those in charge of the meeting are preparing for an enthusiastic gathering.

Pension Bill Passes. The widow's pension bill, for which Congressman Cyrus Cline fought, has passed the senate. The bill provides for an increase of pensions for widows of civil war veterans from $12 to $20 a month. Mr. Cline has been a hard worker for the pension bill and has made several speeches in the house in its favor.

MUST HAVE HIGHWAY BUREAU. Senator Taggart Gets Ruling on the Case of Indiana.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 3.—Each state must organize a highway department before the department of agriculture can co-operate with it in the distribution of funds provided for by the federal good roads act.

A ruling to this effect has just been given by the department of agriculture in the case of Indiana where there is no highway department. The ruling was sought by Senator Taggart of Indiana.

TREVINO'S WIDOW APPEALS. Objects to Court Order in Appointments for Estate.

San Antonio, Texas, Sept. 3.—Appeal from the county court appointing E. O. Cord, guardian and Gerontino Trevino, Jr., principal heir to more than $15,000,000 left by the late General Gerontino Trevino, was filed in the seventy-third district court here yesterday by Mrs. Guadalupe Zambrano Trevino, widow of the general. The estate is located largely in Arizona and Mexico.

STUDEBAKERS WILL SPEND $1,500,000

Enlargement of Plant to Require 6,000 Employees at South Bend.

South Bend, Ind., Sept. 3.—The Studebaker corporation made announcement today of the perfection of plans for the extension of the South Bend plant, at a cost of $1,500,000, which will increase the number of employees to more than 6,000. Contracts for the erection of new foundries and machine shops have already been let.

With the completion of the present plans the plant will be further augmented by the addition of other buildings at a cost of $1,000,000. By January, 1918, it is expected to have 7,000 men on the payroll in South Bend.

Half a million dollars will be spent in increasing the plant in Detroit, Mich., during the next year. When the entire undertakings are complete the capacity of the combined factories will make it possible for the corporation to exceed $100,000,000 annual turnover.

The average number of employees here has increased from 2,701 in 1913 to 5,023, due to the use on automobile work of available facilities at South Bend. The total wages and salaries now disbursed by the corporation in South Bend exceed $4,000,000 a year, while the average rate of hourly wages has increased 50 per cent above the rate of 1912.

SECOND WARD YOUNG DEMOCRATS TO MEET

Three Ladies Have Narrow Escape from Injury When Limousine Turns Over.

Three young ladies who were pleasure riding in a large seven-passenger Dodge limousine owned by the Brudi Transfer company and driven by Miss Naomi Brudi, had a narrow escape from serious injury at 5 o'clock Thursday afternoon when the large car turned over on its side after crashing into the rear of a delivery wagon. The accident occurred at Mamme avenue and Lombard street.

The young ladies were held prisoners until liberated by Dr. G. G. Brudi, of New Haven, who chanced along. The three occupants of the limousine escaped uninjured and all three were taken to their homes by Miss Brudi's father, who was called to the scene.

Witnesses say that Miss Brudi was not to blame for the accident since she was forced to make a quick turn in order to avoid striking another machine which went rushing by her. After striking the delivery wagon and damaging it to a great extent the large car struck the curbing and then fell over on its side.

"HOGGING OFF" CORN IS GOOD PLAN, SAY AGENTS

Lafayette, Ind., Sept. 3.—A recent bulletin issued by the agricultural extension department of Purdue university devotes considerable space to the question of "hogging off corn." It says:

"The opinion that hogging off corn is a wasteful and shiftless practice has been more or less common among good farmers. Feeding tests, conducted under average conditions, however, prove quite the opposite."

Among the advantages experiments in various parts of the state in co-operation with county agents, have shown are the following:

"More pork produced from the corn crop.

"Rapid and economical gains in hogs.

"Labor and expense saved in harvesting and marketing crop.

"Saving of crib space.

"Corn stalks left in better condition for next year's work.

"Corn crop is fed in field where grown, and to a large extent plant food contained in the crop is returned directly to the soil.

"Manure produced by the hogs is scattered evenly over the fields."

ANOTHER WHITE MAN SEES BLONDE ESKIMOS

Some Progress is Made in Clearing Ethnological Mystery.

Saskatoon, Sask., Sept. 3.—The tribe of blonde Eskimos which Harry V. Radford, of New York, the murdered explorer, reported he had found on Coronation bluff far in the arctic zone, have again been visited by a white man. In a letter received today from Rev. H. C. Girling, of Emmanuel college, by Rev. Dr. Carpenter, principal of the college, the missionary announced he reached the fair dwellers of the arctic on Oct. 10, 1913, and remained with them some time.

He asserts that he is the first white man to dwell among the new found people, who since their discovery have constituted an ethnological mystery and formed the goal of unsuccessful expeditions. The letter was dated last December from "Camp Necessity," ten miles from the blonde tribe, the first of whom, the missionary said he found about ten miles east of Cochrane Point.

Referring to the education of the new people, Mr. Girling said that a great deal already had been accomplished in the direction of vocabulary and grammar, the fair skinned race having only a dialectic difference from the Mackenzie river Eskimos.

20 RACERS ENTER FOR THE HARVEST CLASSIC

Indianapolis, Sept. 3.—Twenty automobile race drivers have entered for the harvest classic races to be held at the Indianapolis motor speedway Saturday. A number of them now are at the speedway tuning up their cars. Many of them have raced over the course before. Three events are on the program, twenty miles, fifty miles and 100 miles. Injuries to drivers and cars in other recent races is said to have reduced the number of entries here by at least five.

Following are among the drivers who have entered the races: Altkon, Merz, Ostewig, Christiansen, Wilcox, Rickenbacher, Buzane, Galvin, Henderson, Milton, D'Alene, Gable, Klein, De Palma, Devlin, Muller and Toft. Three cars have been entered in the race for which the drivers' names have not been announced.

SAYS HUSBAND HARD PERSON TO SATISFY

"Mr. Hughes is Certainly Well Pleased With Tanlac, However," Wife Asserts.

"My husband is a hard man to satisfy with a medicine but he is greatly pleased with the results Tanlac brought him," Mrs. Willard Hughes, of 3212 Pokey avenue, said on April 11. Mr. Hughes is a well known conductor for the Pennsylvania railroad.

"My husband suffered from catarrhal affections of the head and stomach and nervousness bothered him severely," Mrs. Hughes continued. "He also suffered from kidney trouble. He was unable to sleep and the catarrh which was his worst trouble had ruined his appetite, and caused him to have headaches and experience frequent dizzy spells. The kidney trouble caused severe pains in his back.

"It was only a few days after Mr. Hughes started taking Tanlac that he began to improve. He slept more soundly and felt rested in the mornings and his appetite became much better. He sleeps fine now and feels stronger and better in every way. The headaches and dizzy spells, due to catarrhal affection have been banished and he says the kidney trouble has been greatly relieved.

"I gladly recommend Tanlac and I know my husband recommends it from the bottom of his heart."

Tanlac, the Master Medicine, is especially beneficial for stomach, liver and kidney trouble, catarrhal complaints, rheumatism, nervousness, sleeplessness, loss of appetite and the like and is a fine reconstructive tonic.

Tanlac is now being specially introduced and explained in Fort Wayne at the four Meyer drug stores—Wayne and Calhoun streets; Calhoun and Columbia; 1420 Calhoun and Broadway and Taylor streets.—Advertisement.

CROOKS IN WAKE OF CAMPAIGN JOURNEYS

Thieves Reported Reaping Very Rich Harvest of Pocketbooks.

(Special Correspondence.) Seattle, Wash., Sept. 7.—Charles Evans Hughes, republican presidential candidate, has a big "following" of dips and confidence men.

President Wilson will have 'em, too, when he goes campaigning.

This year, more than ever before, say secret service men, the itinerary of the party standard bearers is being made the "big time circuit" for the light fingered gentry of crookdom.

Scores of them are known by the police to be following in the wake of the Hughes party across country, though the first big haul by detectives was not made until after the republican nominee had reached Seattle.

Here "The Gorilla," 53, a notorious character; the "O. K. Kid," equally well known in police records; "The Bug," the "Louse Kid" and several other many-alias companions were arrested on charges of operating in a picnic crowd, following the Hughes meeting.

Past records of "The Gorilla" and the "O. K. Kid," also known respectively as R. N. Robertson and William Watson, show them followers of presidential campaigns. They were arrested at Peoria, Ill., in the wake of the McKinley special.

"The O. K. Kid" and Harry Gardner, were charged here with grand larceny, while the other members of the alleged gang were held on open charges growing out of scores of complaints by persons whose pockets had been rifled at the Seattle picnic.

Secret service operatives with the Hughes party had tipped off the local police that a number of notorious "dips" were attending the candidate's meetings.

Partisan enthusiasts are apt at spell-binding climaxes to forget all about their loose change and watch fobs dangling carelessly. It is then the "dip," working his way through the packed crowds, suddenly loses interest in statesmanship and adds his own personal "touch" to the joyous occasion.

It would seem a wise precaution, Seattle police suggest, for campaign audiences to applaud with the feet or by whistling like the "gallery god," leaving the hands free to protect the pocket fortune.

TURN OUT REAMS OF NEW MEXICAN MONEY

Coinage of Gold and Silver to Follow the Present Issue of Paper.

Mexico City, Aug. 30.—(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)—The destruction of the so-called Vera Cruz

issue of Mexico currency and the issuance of the new paper money known as "infalsificables," have made the government printing office one of the busiest spots in Mexico. The Vera Cruz bills, over $50,000,000 worth of which have been destroyed, are cut into strips in a hydraulic press, transformed into pulp and made into cardboard and pasteboard, of which there is great scarcity. This product finds a ready sale and it is possible that the government may also destroy old documents to produce material for a government box factory in the near future.

The department now is working at high pressure to turn out the new "infalsificable" $2 bills, sorely needed because of the scarcity of small change.

Not only the modern presses, but even the old hand presses are being utilized to expedite the work.

The tremendous quantity of stamps and post cards printed under the Huerta regime are being revaluated by the impress of a special die changing the denomination.

The stamping out of copper coins has been begun and it is announced this is to be followed shortly by the coinage of both gold and silver.

DAILY BIBLE READINGS FOR THE HOME

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

What the Sentinel Had to Say About Persons and Events Twenty-Five Years Ago.

- Titus 2:1-14.
1. But speak thou the things which become sound doctrine:
 2. That the aged men be sober, grave, temperate, sound in faith, in charity, in patience.
 3. The aged women likewise, that they be in behaviour as becometh holiness, not false accusers, not given to much wine, teachers of good things:
 4. That they may teach the young women to be sober, to love their husbands, to love their children,
 5. To be discreet, chaste, keepers at home, good, obedient to their own husbands, that the word of God be not blasphemed.
 6. Young men likewise exhort to be sober-minded.
 7. In all things shewing thyself a pattern of good works; in doctrine shewing uncorruptness, gravity, sincerity,
 8. Sound speech, that cannot be condemned; that he that is of the contrary part may be ashamed, having no evil thing to say of you.
 9. Exhort servants to be obedient unto their own masters, and to please them well in all things; not answering again;
 10. Not purloining, but shewing all good fidelity; that they may adorn the doctrine of God our Saviour in all things.
 11. For the grace of God that bringeth salvation hath appeared to all men,
 12. Teaching us that, denying ungodliness and worldly lusts, we should live soberly, righteously, and godly, in this present world;
 13. Looking for that blessed hope, and the glorious appearing of the great God and our Saviour Jesus Christ;
 14. Who gave himself for us, that he might redeem us from all iniquity, and purify unto himself a peculiar people, zealous of good works.

Very Much Better, Thank You

Rescinding by the Allen county council of its earlier refusal to sanction an appropriation of $50,000 for the erection of a tuberculosis hospital at the new county farm, and action which now makes that sum available for the work is a matter for immense gratification and we think the public will cordially approve it. The earlier attitude of the council was a sharp disappointment, and that body took the correct course when it discovered that it had probably made a mistake in delaying this important work. It reversed itself, and in so doing gave evidence of its disposition to meet as far as possible, the desire of the public which, after all, must foot the bill.

In exact justice to the members of the county council who voted adversely on the original consideration, it should be stated that they at no time entertained hostility to the hospital plan, but were moved by the belief that not sufficient investigation of the matter had yet been made, and that it was highly desirable to secure the services of landscape and sanitary experts for a proper survey of the grounds and a determination of the precise location of the hospital before there was necessity for an appropriation. When more definite assurances were given that all this would be done, the council freely gave its approval to the proposal. The Sentinel is very glad to see the way open to uninterrupted progress in providing for Allen county an institution that will return fine dividends in providing care and cure for those who may be assailed by the white plague and in conserving the lives and the health of others who may find themselves thrown in contact with them. It is one of the most important works Allen county has ever undertaken.

Orders of the war department for the mustering out of some 15,000 national guardsmen who have been in federal army service on the Mexican border is evidence of the Washington desire to dispend with the troops along the Rio Grande just as quickly as it is safe to do so, and orders for the discharge of further units may be reasonably expected to follow very soon. There is in Washington a full realization of the fact that for many men the service is involving personal hardship and sacrifice, and there is no disposition to prolong it beyond the limit of absolute necessity. Recent manifestation of better control of the situation in northern Mexico by the Carranza government, and hope for a complete and definite understanding from the New London conferences of the joint commission have greatly brightened prospects for adjustment of the harassing situation that has confronted Uncle Sam along the southern border since before the advent of the Wilson administration.

Vigorous and well-grounded complaint is being made by the vast majority of retail grocers in Fort Wayne that some men engaged in the trade are persisting in keeping their places open on Sunday, and they make no secret of the fact that unless the practice is discontinued, prosecutions will follow. There can be but one outcome to that. It will mean fines and costs that will vastly more than wipe out any profits that can possibly be made in the illegitimate traffic. The Sunday grocery is not only against the law, but there can be no possible defense for it on the ground of public necessity. It is an offense to those who have regard for the sanctity of the Sabbath and it is unfair to others in the trade who are faithfully observing the law. Those who are not doing so will either take counsel of good judgment and abandon the practice or presently discover that they have been making an expensive mistake.

The attorney general of West Virginia in a ruling declares that the prohibition party is not a political party in West Virginia and that it has no right to have its nominees for presidential elector certified for a place on the ballot because it failed to poll the required 5 per cent. of the total vote and is otherwise at variance with some portions of the West Virginia law. But why worry? Maybe J. Frank Hanly is already reconciled to the loss of West Virginia.

And it still remains a trifle difficult to comprehend how Mr. Hughes' carping criticism of President Wilson and his administration offers either argument or evidence that Mr. Hughes and his program would be in any wise preferable to Mr. Wilson. The tactics thus far pursued by the distinguished nominee of the republicans will prove much more effective in producing public nausea than public enthusiasm.

At least it can never be charged that congress failed to put in full time on the job. The democratic conception of the duty to public office is to stick to business until the work is accomplished. That is precisely what the present congress has done.

When other sources of diversion fail, New York seems always able to supply a street railway strike.

(Toledo Blade.)
In northern Indiana there is a stretch of sand dunes that for years have been the scene of a struggle between the forces of nature and the forces of man. It was worse than waste land since it was to pay taxes on it and get no returns. If a quarter century ago some man had come along with a feasible scheme to utilize this dune country he would have been acclaimed a savior and, on his death, have been given a monument challenging in impressiveness that one to the soldiers in Indianapolis.

But the people have changed greatly in twenty-five years. They can look at land from other viewpoints than its usefulness in raising corn, planting mortgages and furnishing foundations for mammoth red barns. It has been discovered that these Indiana dunes have a distinct plant life highly interesting to the botanists. There are forms of animal life which in the cultivated sections of the region have been killed off. The student of nature finds the dunes fascinating in that they show the adaptation of life to peculiar environments, the struggle of life to survive against disadvantages, its bravery in the face of starvation, harsh climatic conditions and winds which are sand blasts.

These things are now considered worth while, worth preserving. And so we find the Chicago papers protesting against letting the dunes "disappear before the advancing march of commercialism." They are desired as permanent parks, camping sites, schools for students and restful haunts contrasting with restless city streets.

TORE OFF OFFICER'S STAR WHEN ARRESTED

Josie Jackson Drew Crowd as She Battled With Patrolman.

Traffic was blocked and nearly a thousand people crowded about the northeast corner of Calhoun and Lewis streets, Thursday night, to see Josie Jackson, 24, colored, struggle and scratch and writhe in the clutches of Patrolman Janning. The woman tore off the officer's star and trampled it up under her feet. She tore his coat.

Lining arrested Miss Jackson on a loitering charge. She had been under police surveillance for some time. She resisted arrest and used violent language, while a large crowd gathered at the busy corner. She was fined $25 and costs in police court Friday morning.

Poisoning Case Dismissed.
Testimony was introduced Friday morning to show that the horse belonging to George Neum, gardener, corner of Lake and Anthony boulevard, had died ten days before poison was found in one of the stalls in Neum's barn.

Tony Nottif, who used to be a business with Neum, had been arrested on a charge of poisoning the horse because police understood that the animal died from poison found in a stall. It was shown that there was no ill feeling between Nottif and Neum and the case was dropped.

Took Carburator for Pay.
Lorres Clark, 20 years old, 538 East Jefferson street, took a carburator from the barn of the Brudi Transfer company because he was afraid he would not be paid for a half week's work for the company. He took the spotlight for overtime work, he told in police court.

The youth was released without a fine after a lecture from Judge Kerr.

Friend Robber Bound Over.
Charles Daugherty, 30, accused of taking $23 from the pocket of Charles Bennet, his friend for forty-five years, white Beuret hung in a drunken slumber on a bench at Robison park, last Monday, was bound over to the higher court.
He is held under $300 bond on a grand larceny charge. Benet, the man who was robbed and who has been held in jail as witness in the case, was fined $1 and costs after he pleaded guilty to a drunk charge Friday morning.

Auto Thieves Returned.
Edward Schuchman and Carl Horn-back, the young men who stole two Ford automobiles from the streets of Toledo and later sold the machines to farmers at Gracill, were turned over to Toledo officers Friday morning. The stolen cars were also driven back to Toledo during the day. "We are through with the automobile stealing business," both of the young men told a reporter just before starting their return journey.

Other Police Court Cases.
Edward Ferrel, colored, paid a fine of $11 for intoxication Thursday morning.
Later in the day he said his "manners slipped up on him" and he started out to load up again. He was arrested on Lafayette street shortly after dark when he engaged in the pastime of whitening his colored friends with talcum powder.
He will be in jail for some time as he was unable to pay the second fine of $25 and costs.

E. F. Hutzell will be tried Tuesday on a speeding charge.

Assault case against Louis and Henry
Bernman was dismissed.

Francis Coats was fined $1 and costs after pleading guilty to a charge of public intoxication. The following were released after being found guilty of drunk charges: Sherman McGowan,
Frank Morse, Frank McFarland, Gust
Hansfield and Joseph O'Neil.

IN THE CHURCHES

GIVE PASTOR LARGE PICTURE OF FATHER

Westfield Church Presents
Rev. Potts With Gift on Return from Funeral.

The members of Westfield Presbyterian church at the regular Thursday evening Bible study class meeting presented Rev. T. F. Potts with large, handsome framed picture of his father, who passed away a few days ago. Rev.
Potts attended the funeral and returned home Thursday. The gift is highly appreciated by Rev. Potts as it comes as a token of the high esteem the members of his congregation have for him.

Rev. Potts' father died at his home in Cannonsburg, Pa., at the advanced age of 81 years. He had resided in that city for nearly fifty years. He was a member of a family that has been prominent in eastern Pennsylvania since the colonial days. Thomas Maxwell Potts was a descendant of the mother of the first white child born north of the Mason and Dixie line.

The deceased devoted much time to genealogical research work and was a corresponding member of the New England Historic Genealogical society. In 1877 he published several volumes of his work, including "A Short Biographical Sketch of Major James Potts." In 1901 he published the volume, "The Potts Family." He is survived by the widow and five sons.

PLAN FOR WINTER WORK.

Executive Committee of Associated Christian Workers Meet.

The Associated Christian Workers executive committee met Thursday evening at the home of A. C. Storer, who lives north of the city. The reports were heard concerning the summer's work and the financial standing.

J. M. Fitch was elected to the vacancy of first vice president. Edgar Hall was elected secretary to serve an unexpired term. The association is making arrangements for a halloween social on October 31 and for the annual rally for the silver cup on Thursday, December 7. A big banquet will be given November 25. The committee in charge is as follows: Miss Blanch Van Buskirk, chairman; L. Pontius, Sherman Burson, L. Kern and J.
Fitch. The nominating committee is as follows: Perry Ruffing as chairman, Cyril Chandler, P. Van Buskirk, K. Stover and Edgar Hall.

Wants All Members There.
Prof. F. M. Price, teacher of the Men's Bible class of the Wayne Street

M. E. church, is urging that all members be present for the session next Sunday morning at 9:30 o'clock.

Simpson League Program.

Mr. Blessing will lead the Epworth League service at Simpson M. E. church
Sunday evening. The subject is "Rally Day," and F. P. Brown will sing, with Miss Logue as his accompanist.

Holds Yearly Election.

The South Wayne W. C. T. U. held its annual election Wednesday afternoon, the following officers being elected: President, Mrs. Martha Studebaker; vice president, Mrs. Lida
Price; corresponding secretary, Mrs.
Mitchell; treasurer, Mrs. Robert Langston; delegate to state convention at Huntington, Mrs. T. Shidder; alternate, Mrs. Seclar.

Minister to Speak at League.

Rev. W. E. Pittenger, of Middletown, gave an address Thursday at the Port Wayne district conference of the Epworth league at the Simpson M. E. church. He spoke on "Social Service."
The evening program was devoted to discussions by the department conferences. The Port Wayne district includes five counties, covering 3,000 miles. About 2,500 young people of the Methodist Episcopal church are members of the league in this district.

Select New Minister.

The Grace Reformed congregation elected Rev. Nevin H. Schaaf, of Philadelphia, as pastor, Thursday evening, to succeed Rev. A. K. Zartman, who resigned. Rev. Mr. Schaaf has been highly recommended and the church is anxiously awaiting his acceptance.

Will Present Sketch.

The Woman's Missionary society of the Wayne street Methodist church will hold an open meeting Friday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. The principal feature of the program will be an original dramatic sketch, "The Joy of Knowing." The cast is as follows: Mrs.
Arthur Remmel and Miss Katherine Jay, representing members of the society, and Miss Margaret Gross, Ruth Lane, Margaret Langford and Katherine McCurdy, representing respectively colored, Indian, poor white and Porto Rican girls.

Rabbi Takes Up Residence.

Rabbi and Mrs. Saul Schorr and family, of the congregation of the H'Nai Jacob have taken up their residence at 212 West Pontiac street. All friends are requested to visit them. The rabbi will officiate at the services Friday evening at the synagogue at the corner of Monroe and Wayne streets. He will render a musical program.

Will Re-Open Classes.

The First Baptist church will open the Sunday school to the children Sunday in view of the board of health action in lit-tling the ban. The school will expect back to the classes all children that were excluded when the ban was put in force.

"JULIET," 78, AND "ROMEO," 92, ELOPE WITH AID OF LADDER.

Beaver Falls, Pa., Sept. 4.—Out of
wed. But Miss Grant's father, age 96, got wind of the affair. Armed with a shotgun loaded with salt, he went to the clerk's office on a mule. He prevented the wedding.

But Miss Grant and Williams say they will be wed yet.

WEATHER CONDITIONS.

During the last 24 hours the lake low area has moved eastward to the mouth of the St. Lawrence, the northwestern high area has moved southeastward to the Mississippi valley and another low area has developed over the Canadian northwest, and loops of this depression extend southward over the Rocky mountain region. Light showers have fallen in Oregon and Washington, and rains have occurred over an area extending from Oklahoma and Kansas northward through the central Mississippi and Ohio valleys and lake region to the St. Lawrence valley and eastern Canada. Heavy rainfalls of an inch or more occurred at Erie, Fort Smith and Concordia. The temperature has risen over northeastern sections, and in the Rocky mountain and northwestern sections, while in the central valleys and lake region the weather is somewhat cooler.

Northern Indiana News Brevities

The county council of Dekalb county has fixed the tax levy at 29.3 cents on each $100 of assessed valuation, the same as last year.

The fourth case of infantile paralysis is reported in Elkhart county. The victim is Dwight Thornton, age 19, a high school graduate. Both legs are paralyzed and his condition is serious.

Indiana National Committeeman E.
G. Hoffman, of Fort Wayne, delivered an address at the organization meeting of Whitley county democrats at Columbia City, Wednesday evening.

The Waco dancing pavilion at Lake Wawasee has been closed for the season.

The Gundersen evangelistic party is to hold tabernacle meetings at Waterloo beginning the first of January.

The total vote in the Noble township gravel road election in Dekalb county in which the road was defeated by two votes, was 145 for the road and 147 against.

Little Edgar Clark, of Kimmell, the infant victim of infantile paralysis, is reported as improving. Although unable to walk yet the child can creep around and is gaining strength. Physicians believe the child will completely recover from the attack.

TRUSTEES' MEETING.

There will be a meeting of the township trustees Saturday in the office of
D. O. McComb, county school superintendent. Matters pertaining to the opening of the schools will be discussed.

CARD OF THANKS.

We desire in this manner to thank our many friends and neighbors and the Catholic Order of Foresters for their kindness and sympathy, also for the beautiful floral offerings at the death of our beloved husband and father,
MRS. MARY FEIST AND CHIL-DREN.

Autumn Clothes

--For-- Women and Misses

Clothes from the Seelberg Shop conform to a standard well dressed women universally recognize.

The freakish, the trashy apparel are side tracked before they reach our door.

We aim to give something that will endure, but at the same time something out of the ordinary.

The difference is quickly seen in the originality of design, a dash of appropriate trimmings and correct lines account for the desirability of the SEELBERG GARMENTS.

Miss Alice Curtis has returned from Rome City, where she spent the summer.

Mrs. Max Sander, of Indianapolis, is visiting in the city, the guest of Mrs. Grime, of Madison street.

Mrs. Leonard House entertained delightfully on Friday afternoon a dozen friends of Miss Myrtle Carter at bridge.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Dreier and family have come home from Rome City, where they spent the summer at their cottage.

Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Keegan and children are to motor to Rome City to be week-end guests of Dr. and Mrs. Eric Crull.

Mrs. Russ Harroff, accompanied by Mr. Harroff's sister, Miss Stella Harroff, of Detroit, have gone to Fremont, Mich., for a visit.

Mr. and Mrs. George Buehler have returned to Toledo, O., after a visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. Franke, of East Lewis street.

Miss Irene Byron, Miss Alice Tourtellot and Miss Eleanor Hill went to Clear Lake on Friday afternoon to remain over the week-end at Camp Lakeside.

Mrs. George Byrrode and daughter, Mrs. Adam LaMar and daughters, Lucella and Martha Bell, have returned to Chicago after a visit with her mother, Mrs. James A. Graham, of East Lewis street.

Mr. and Mrs. Ferd Urbahn and daughter Elizabeth and Mrs. Hannah Mohr come home on Friday evening from Rome City, where they spent the summer.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Gilmartin are to close their summer home at Rome City and return to the city on Saturday so the children can start in school the coming week.

Mr. and Mrs. L. G. Ellingham, of West Wayne street, are entertaining Mr. and Mrs. Edward Taylor and sons, Edward and Heber, of Indianapolis, and Miss Marie Whitehead, of Albany, Ga.

Miss Elsie Paul went to Chicago on Friday for a few days' visit. Miss Paul will go to Michigan university to continue her studies and her sister, Miss Louella Paul, is to enter the university this fall.

Miss Muriel Baxter, of West Woodland avenue, entertained a company of girls at a sewing and porch party on Thursday afternoon. Tempting things to eat and drink were enjoyed as well as the visiting.

Miss Edith Hughes has come from Harbor Springs, Mich., where she has been with her mother and sisters for several weeks for two weeks' stay. Miss Hughes will return north about September 15 and will remain through the month of October.

The engagement of a former Fort Wayne young woman, Miss Helen Marie Steisler, who now lives in Muncie, to Leon Frank Matthews, has been announced. The wedding will take place at the bride's home in Muncie, in University avenue, on Tuesday, Sept. 19, at 3 o'clock.

Miss Helen May Irwin has received word that her father, Frank W. Irwin, of Indianapolis, who has been in South America for a number of years, is to make a visit home as soon as he can arrive after sailing from Rio Janeiro tomorrow. Mr. Irwin's last visit home was in January, 1914.

Several well known musical young women of the city have formed a musical club for mutual improvement and the pleasure of their friends. Members are Miss Christine Pepe, violinist; Miss Georgia Bauer, mezzo soprano; Miss Ed Simon, soprano; Miss Juliette Lange, pianiste; Mrs. Abram Jones, pianiste and organist.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Applegate, of 2329 John street, left on Thursday night on an extended eastern trip of about a month or six weeks. Mr. and Mrs. Applegate expect to stop in Philadelphia to visit Mr. Applegate's parents and also a sister in New Brunswick, N. J., and from there will go to New York and other places of interest.

Miss Meyer, of Harrison street, entertained the members of the Mimosa club on Wednesday evening in a delightful manner to compliment Mrs. Lillie Stiller Bowerfind, of Cleveland, who had been here on a visit but who returned home on Friday. An elegant supper was served from a table that was very lovely with its decoration of pink and white asters.

Miss Blanche Bilderback entertained on Thursday afternoon in honor of Mrs. Cecil Max, who is visiting her father, Judge Vesey. Mr. and Mrs. Max have just moved to Muncie from Mobile, Ala., where they have lived since their marriage, and Mr. Max will continue his former business as manager of two drug stores in that city. Mrs. Max left Friday for Muncie.

Mr. and Mrs. Otto Simon, of Chicago, have been in the city for a few days visiting Mrs. Simon's mother, Mrs. Minnie Schmit, of Wells street. Fort Wayne friends will be interested in knowing that Mrs. Minnie Schmit Simon, wife of Theodore Simon, of Chicago, has recently returned from Denver, Col., where she went several months ago for the benefit of her health, which is now very much improved.

Miss Henrietta Petgen entertained on Thursday evening in honor of her sister, Miss Celeste Petgen, whose marriage to Jerome Lauer will take place on Sept. 27. The early part of the evening was occupied in sewing for the bride-elect, then followed a game of bridge and after that a luncheon was served that gave still more pleasure to the guests. Misses Edna Petgen and Lucille Drukot served the refreshments. Other guests were Misses Lindmilla and Georgia Lauer, Margaret Miller, Alvin Keller, Mary Reiter, Eleanor Snyder, Ella and Marguerite Hartnett, Celia Hayden, Nellie Schrack, Elsie Finer, Clara Gilmore, Clara Miller, Gertrude and Flora Beverford, Geraldine DeWald and Mrs. Vernon Tannehill.

Mertz-Rehrer.
Miss Nina M. Rehrer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Rehrer, of Huestis avenue, and Mr. Homer A. Mertz, a son of Mr. and Mrs. William Mertz, of South Calhoun street, were married on Thursday afternoon at 4 o'clock at the home of the bride. Rev. Ralph W. Looze, of Huntington, a brother-in-law to the groom, officiated at the ceremony, the bride plighting her truth with a ring. Relatives and a few friends were present. The bride was attended by Miss Carrie Mahlin and the groom by Mr. Albert Steeler. The bride wore a beautiful gown of white georgette crepe combined with tulle and real princess lace. The bride did not wear a veil but her flowers, a shower bouquet of roses and swansonia with chiffon ribbon, was a beautiful part of her costume. Miss Mahlin wore a handsome green gown of crepe de chine and georgette crepe and a touch of black velvet ribbon, well set off by a bouquet of Shawyer roses tied with pink chiffon ribbon. Following the exchange of felicitations an elegant wedding dinner was served, covers being laid for thirty people. Green and white were the colors of the decorations and white asters were the principal flowers used. Later in the evening the bride and groom left for lakes of the northern part of the state for a few days. On their return they will be at home for a day or so with Mr. and Mrs. Rehrer, 1232 Huestis avenue but will begin housekeeping at once in their own bungalow, at 3518 Fairfield avenue. For traveling the bride wears a suit of hunter's green with silk net blouse and a black velvet hat with a touch of green in its trimming. The bride has been a stenographer for the General Electric company for some time and Mr. Mertz is equally highly esteemed by all who know him. Mr. Mertz is a bookkeeper for Hattersley & Sons.

Jackson-Bowersock.

A pretty home wedding took place on Thursday evening at 1102 Huestis avenue when Miss Vesta Bowersock, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. Bowersock, and Mr. Oscar Jackson, of Roanoke, were married by Rev. Mr. Gillespie, also of Roanoke. Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bly were the attendants. The bride wore a white net and satin gown with pearl trimmings and looked exceedingly well in it. The bride did not wear a veil, but she carried white roses and swansonia. Little Zella Bowersock, a niece of the bride, was flower girl and Mrs. Ada Bowersock played the wedding music. The bride and groom are taking a two weeks' trip and will visit relatives in Roanoke and other points. Mr. Jackson is a winner for the Duple Manufacturing company and with his bride will soon be at home to their many friends.

Spurling-Beitzell.

A pretty wedding that took place on Thursday evening was at the home of the bride, Miss Myrtle M. Beitzell, daughter of Mr. William Beitzell, 621 Fifth street, to Mr. Harry Spurling, also of this city. Only immediate relatives and close friends were present. The marriage service of the Episcopal church was read by Rev. Charles W. Shoemaker, of Trinity M. E. church. A bountiful dinner was served immediately after the marriage service. During the evening a company of boys and girls of the neighborhood gave the bride and groom a charivari.

Schlatter Family Reunion.

The third reunion of the Schlatter family was held on Thursday afternoon, Sept. 7, in Robison park. The attendance was lower by nearly one hundred and fifty persons owing to the prohibition of children by the board of health. Some of the parents could not attend because they could not leave the children and the program was marred by the absence of the juveniles who were to take part. Officers for the family society are: C. C. Schlatter was elected president; Enoch Schlatter, vice president; Mrs. Susie Olsen, secretary, and Albert Schlatter, treasurer. Mrs. Olsen is the first one named Schlatter to be elected to office. She was a Miss Schlatter before her marriage.

A Country Party.

Peter Sorg was given an agreeable surprise in the way of an unexpected gathering at his home of a number of friends on Wednesday evening. Enjoying the pleasant time were Messrs. and Mesdames Harley Summers, Ed Smith and daughter, Ed Miller, Linn Swann and son, George Monnet and son, Frank Beckman, Mike Wolf, Callistus Harbor, Clarence Scherer, Ray Kimmel, Joe Krouse, Edward Palmer, Adam Krouse, Aaron Henry, Joe Deck, Edward Sorg, Frank Moses, Thomas Henry, Frank Hatch, Joe Sorg, John Delmy, George Landstoffer, Miss Hattie Sorg and Messrs. Hank Larson, Henry Fox and John Gray.

March-Cummings.

Miss Nevada Viola Cummings and Mr. George A. March, both residents near Union Chapel, on the Bluffton road, were united in marriage on Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock by Rev. J. M. Stewart at his residence, 845 Columbus avenue. Mrs. Stewart and the bride's father, George W. Cummings were witnesses of the ceremony. Mr. March is a florist and has a new home for his bride at Stop 10 of the interurban line to Bluffton.

AT THE PALACE

CATCHY NEW SONGS.

"School Days" at New Palace Brimming Over With Hits.

Gus Edwards is serving a brand new "School Days" act at the New Palace for the week end. It is garnished with a batch of catchy new song hits and some nifty dancing steps. The two closing numbers, a ball game in which the audience participates, and a farce military drill, are roundly applauded. The setting is the same as the usual "School Days" act but there the resemblance stops. Erwin and Jane Connelly, two artists of the best school of endeavor, are presenting their beautiful little sketch "Sweethearts," in which this team have achieved fame and fortune during the last fifteen years. The playlet is a little gem and it is being done by two people who are thoroughly competent to give expression to the artistic touches, written into it by its author, Sir Gilbert.

John and Winnie Henning, the Kill-Kare couple sing and dance and talk and play. John's tall and knows all about his own lanky legs which he propels through some crazy dance steps. The team is there all the time.

Luna and Anelika, the Hawaiian entertainers, are bringing a breath of their native island to the bill through the medium of their Hawaiian dances and musical airs. Lewis and White, a team of attractive looking girls with a batch of new character songs, are a welcome diversion, while Bert Kenny and Nobody in the skit, "Nobody With Me," will never find any glooms marching in their wake.

AT THE MAJESTIC

"Twilight Sleep" for Men Only This Evening.

"Motherhood is the greatest thing in the world and is of equal importance to both sexes," Mrs. Liggett says. "We should face the fact that the real cause of our decreasing birth rate is the physical fear of motherhood which exists among our young American women. When father, as well as mother, face the situation squarely and demand that science do something to cope with the situation, we will soon find some solution of the elimination of the fear of motherhood, and we will have larger American families and healthier mothers and children."

Mrs. Liggett has given her lecture to men only in every city on her tour of this state and of Michigan. In Detroit she raised a fund for the establishment of a twilight sleep ward in the Woman's hospital of that city.

Men only will be admitted tonight, but women only again tomorrow afternoon and evening.

AT THE TEMPLE.

"Sinners" Closes Successful Engagement Tomorrow; "Kick In" Next Week.

New York's great success, "Sinners," will conclude a successful engagement tomorrow. There will be the usual Saturday matinee and with the advance seat sales especially gratifying, the attendance will be large. The Temple players are steadily increasing in popularity and their work as a company has delighted scores of people. Next week another splendid bill is coming. "Kick In," the sensational comedy-drama which remained on Broadway for an entire year, has been secured by the Temple Stock company and will be presented by them next week. Here is a brief outline of the story of this play, which was greeted by the critics as superior in every respect to "Within the Law."

Chick Heves and his wife, both ex-convicts, have decided to go "straight." They do not, however, part with all their old associates. Two of these old friends are suspected of having stolen a diamond necklace. Chick is arrested and taken to police headquarters under suspicion of knowing something about the theft, and is put through the third degree. Chick clears himself, but the police continue to bound him. The real thief seeks shelter with Chick and his wife and it is granted him. He ungratefully dies on their hands and leaves them to dispose of his body. That problem is finally solved, but it is immediately followed by a worse one. The dead thief himself has been robbed of the necklace by Chick's brother-in-law. Chick, desperate and hunted, nearly gives up his newly made resolutions of honesty, but his wife shows him the hopelessness of trying to win at the old game.

He turns the necklace over to a detective who has promised immunity to everyone concerned if he will do so. The detective is not playing fair and arrests Chick. A magnificent fight follows, during which Chick's wife comes to her husband's rescue by stabbing the detective with a hypodermic needle filled with morphine and together they overpower him.

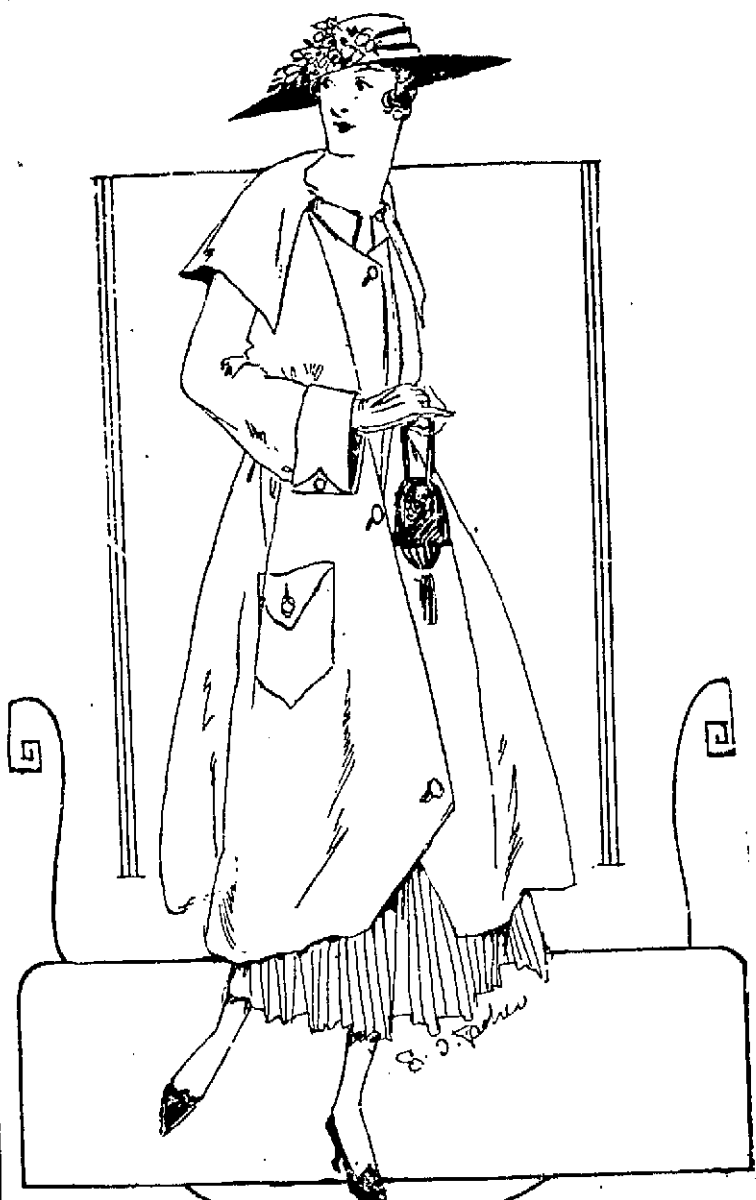

The reformed couple finally throw themselves on the mercy of the law. In a full confession to the commissioner, they make clear their innocence. The commissioner relents. Their trials and tribulations are at an end and they go forth to follow, unmolested, their new life.

OF INTEREST TO WOMEN

UNUSUAL LINES FOR THE FALL COAT

YOU may find the thermometer rather disconcerting and the weatherman disappointing when you are looking for cool weather, but before you know it autumn's cool winds will be a blessing and then where will you be, if you have no snug coat awaiting to be slipped on? So take time for the forelock, even if it is a warm job, and have something in readiness for the first cool days or nights.

It is a very certain thing that velours and their kin outrank all other materials for the fall coat. They are for the most part unlined, the one can line them if one desires, or else make them on loose enough lines to allow for another garment, like a sweater, to be worn under them later on.

Here is a coat in the sketch that is made on rather loose lines and yet is not bulky or ungainly. The curiously shaped front argues well for a stout figure. The fullness of these two diagonal cut pieces is held in at the sides and back with a narrow belt, although the belt might be omitted and the coat allowed to hang straight.

Three new style points are combined for the rest of the coat, for you have a vest effect which will be seen in some of the season's suit coats as a variation of Louis XV styles, the upstanding Japanese collar and the full shoulder cape.

So well worked up are these that one does not interfere with the other nor do the styles conflict. The deep cuff and the patch pocket make it an up-to-date coat, indeed.

If the corners of the coat are cut off as pictured, then the bottom button is necessary to the design; but if the edges are left straight the button may be omitted and the coat left to fly free from the waist.

GET THE CHILD INTERESTED

WHILE it is well understood that a child should be occupied with play during most of its waking hours there are times when every game suggested lacks appeal and the child begs for work similar to that of the work done by grown-ups. It is at such a time that the wise mother should interest the child in the work of earning for her stockings. With careful teaching a child should soon learn to darn her stockings neatly. Tell her first of all that the stockings should be darned on the wrong side. Let her begin one-half inch to the right of the hole and a little above. Make a vertical line of small stitches, extending the same distance below the hole; turn, keeping the second row of stitches very close to the first and the spaces opposite the stitches. At the end of each row leave a loop, which allows for shrinking. Make each line of stitches longer than the one before it, until the center of the hole is reached; then decrease in the same manner, making a diamond in shape. In darning across the hole begin the same distance above and pick up every other stitch, as in weaving. Pack the wool threads closely and leave a loop at the end of each line as before, also making a diamond shape. Around the edge of the hole will be found frayed loops of the stocking. Pass the needle under and thru these loops, thus throwing them upon the wrong side. When the hole is mended nothing will show on the right side but the well-woven stitches which fill the hole.

To make the work of darning fascinating, let the youngster keep her stockings in a pretty basket or a darning bag. Whenever one you choose, fit it up with all sorts of thread and needles and a little emery bag to keep her needles bright and shiny. If you wish her to learn to embroider, put a small dolly or some other small article into the bag or basket, along with a supply of embroidery thread, not forgetting the white darning cotton for padding. By having the embroidery to do she can break the monotony of darning.

AND FINALLY—

HAVE you cleaned the tiny black marks off your white shoes before putting them on? They are only small and won't show, you think, but they will show, and they don't add to the toilet. Is your skirtband neatly fastened to your waistband in the back? Are your gloves cleaned and mended, or are they "only half soiled and two fingers worn out"? Is the collar on your suit coat fresh and white? Is the inevitable dust brushed from your hat, and is your cell neatly arranged? If not, all these things should be attended to before making an appearance on the street or in public at all. If so, then you are all ready to face forth for your outing.

Messaline the Vogue?
Kindly advise me if gray messaline is stylish.
Messalines in any color are coming back with satins and other supplies. Gray is a very stylish color.

BROCADED SILK EVENING GOWN

DRESSES in two materials are very much in vogue, and where two materials are used the combination of two colors is used. Brocaded satin is always more or less in vogue in the beginning of the fall season. For the coming season the material is more popular than ever. The original of this illustration is a corallored satin with white flowers. The combination of metallic lace and brocaded material always results satiate.

factorily. Proof of this assertion is witnessed here. A very novel use of the lace is used over the shoulders and arms. On either side the lace is weighted with corn-colored silk tassels. The manner in which the brocaded material is used is very practical for bordered fabrics or for the combination of silks and serges.

HAND-PAINTED IVORY

THE vogue for hand painting has descended or ascended to the boudoir dressing table. Complete ivory sets may be had painted in the most delicate shades. The mirror and large pieces have quite a large design, covering about one-quarter of the piece. The comb and smaller pieces have a very small and dainty design. For a room hung in pink or blue this dresser set would be exquisite. Water colors, of course, will not "take" on ivory, but oils or the new "pen painting" is very effective and will last for some time if care is given the toilet set.

UNCLE SAM PLANNING GREAT NEW INDUSTRY

Initial Steps Taken to Produce Linen Here on Large Scale.

The only country in which the production of flax fiber has increased consistently in recent years is Russia, the report states. In the British Isles and in France the production has decreased in spite of all efforts to keep the industry growing, and in Austria-Hungary, Belgium and the Netherlands the industry has not been able to hold its own. The American production has never been of importance. Thanks to liberal government aid and to cheap labor the Russians had gradually been getting a monopoly of the business up to the time the war broke out.

In the United States flax has been raised almost entirely for the seed, which is used to make the well-known linseed oil so necessary for the production of good paints and varnishes. Of some 3,000,000 acres of flax raised in this country in 1915, the department of agriculture estimates that only 2,000 acres were devoted to flax for fiber. The bulk of the straw from the seed-bearing plants is burned and used for fertilizer. It should be borne in mind, however, that flax growing for seed and flax growing for fiber are separate and distinct industries. Some flax is grown for both seed and fiber, but a decision must be made as to which is to be the more important product, just as the sheep raiser must decide whether mutton or wool is to be the primary consideration. In Europe the farmer not only raises the flax, but prepares the fiber for the spinner. This preparation requires several processes, one of which, known as "retting," requires considerable cheap labor and much time and is in addition a most disagreeable process for the workmen. The problem in this country is to find some chemical process of retting that can be carried out at a factory and thus allow the farmer to confine his attention to the agricultural end of the industry. This is the only condition on which the American farmer will take to growing flax for the fiber, Mr. Clark thinks. Some progress is already being made in chemical retting and at least two concerns are now buying flax stalks from the growers for further treatment. Chemical processes have been tried before without much success, but one of the new concerns is now selling chemically retted flax to Europe and the other is making coarse linens for use in clothing and for curtains.

Even if a good all-American linen is produced in this country, however, there still remains the great problem of finding a market for it. That means that time and effort will be required to persuade the consumer to buy the domestic product instead of the imported. Many people invariably choose the imported article when it is displayed alongside of domestic products, almost regardless of quality. The president of a mill now making dyed and bleached dress linens from American flax has found that, small as is his product, there is difficulty in getting the jobbers and department stores to handle it. The tendency is to assume that, even though it is apparently of excellent quality, it cannot equal the old-fashioned linens from abroad. There will never be a better time than the present to popularize the domestic product, for the imported article is scarce and high priced. In normal times our imports of linen goods vary from 25 to 30 million dollars, and the demand had been steadily increasing up to the time of the war.

The bureau's report is entitled "Development of an American Linen Industry," Special Agents Series No. 122, and may be obtained for the nominal price of 5 cents from the superintendents of documents, Washington, D. C., or from the nearest district office of the bureau of foreign and domestic commerce.

WHEN THE SNOW FLIES.

(By Betty Brown.)

The picturesque Louis XV. collar, which, in chiffon or silk, adorned many summer frocks, will reappear when the snow flies, but its winter guise will be moleskin, ermine, silver muskrat or some of the many kinds of fox. The collar that fashion borrows from the French king is really a cape and it is never so pretty as when draped loosely over the shoulders to make a frame for the face, but as this sketch from Fashion Art shows, the regal neck-piece may be pulled up comfortably around the ears. Muff-cuffs didn't disappear with the snows of last winter. They are with us again, cut on new lines of course, much smarter, I think, and just as comfortable as the "muffs" that captured our affection last winter.

WILL PICNIC SUNDAY

Sons of St. George Will Enjoy Big Muskmelon Feast.

The annual outing and picnic of Robin Hood lodge, Sons of St. George, a local organization of Englishmen, will be held next Sunday on the Sand Point road at Luke Durnell's summer residence. One of the features of the day will be a muskmelon feast.

The second great feature will be the cricket game to be staged between the married and single men. On July 4 the single men were defeated by four wickets and Sunday they will be out after revenge.

Besides muskmelons there will be other eats in plenty, including watermelons, ice cream, cake, chicken, ham, lemonade, tea and other refreshments. Members and other Englishmen who wish to attend are asked to take the Bluffton interurban and get off at Stop 9. The large crowd will leave on the 9 o'clock car.

MUST REMAIN SOBER FOR NEXT FIVE YEARS

Otherwise Son is Refused Share in Millions Left by Kerens.

St. Louis, Sept. 8.—Vincent Kerens, son of the late Richard C. Kerens, multi-millionaire railroad magnate and former ambassador to Austria-Hungary, who died last Monday in Merion, Pa., must remain sober five consecutive years and prove it if he is to gain control of his share of his father's estate.

This is one of the provisions of Richard Kerens's will, which was filed Thursday in the probate court here. The estate is estimated at $5,000,000. Otherwise Vincent will draw $500 a month, of which $450 must be paid to his wife, from the income of the estate for the rest of his life and at his death his share of the estate will go to his two sisters.

The will establishes trust funds of $50,000 for each of six grandchildren, a trust fund of $200,000 from which $6,000 a year is to be paid to another son, Richard C. Kerens, Jr. The rest of the estate is to be divided into three equal parts. Two daughters, Mrs. Gladys Kernes Colket, of Marion, Pa., and Mrs. Madeline Kernes Kenna, wife of Edward D. Kenna, a lawyer of New York and London, each will receive one-third of the residuary estate and the remaining third is placed in trust for Vincent Kerens.

FRANK DRY GOODS COMPANY

Will Require Use of the Standard for Fruits and Vegetables.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 8.—Standards for Climax baskets for grapes, other fruits and vegetables and other types of baskets and containers used for small fruits, berries and vegetables in interstate commerce are fixed by an act approved by the president. The law will become effective November 1, 1917.

The effect of the act will be to require the use of the standards in manufacturing, sale or shipment for all interstate commerce, whether the containers are filled or unfilled. A large part of the traffic in fruits and vegetables in this country enters interstate commerce. The law relates only to the containers and will not affect local regulations in regard to heaped measure or other method of filling. A special exemption from the operations of the law is made for all containers manufactured, sold, or shipped, when intended for export to foreign countries, and when such containers accord with the specifications of the foreign purchasers, or comply with the laws of the country to which the shipment is destined.

Standards of three capacities are fixed for Climax baskets—2, 4 and 12 quarts, dry measure. These containers, often known as "grape baskets," have relatively narrow, flat bottoms, rounded at each end, and thin sides flaring slightly from the perpendicular. The handle is hooped over at the middle from side to side. In addition to fixing the capacities of these standard baskets of this type, the law also prescribes their dimensions.

The other standards are for "baskets or other containers for small fruits, berries and vegetables." They are to have capacities only of one-half pint, one pint, one quart, or multiples of one quart, dry measure. Such containers may be of any shape so long as their capacities accurately accord with the standard requirements.

The examination and test of containers to determine whether they comply with the provisions of the act are made duties of the department of agriculture and the secretary of agriculture is empowered to establish and promulgate rules and regulations allowing such reasonable tolerances and variations as may be found necessary.

Penalties are provided by the act for the manufacture for shipment, sale for shipment, or shipment in interstate

EMPEROR WILLIAM WATCHES BATTLE

Paris, Sept. 8.—Emperor William, according to La Liberté's correspondent at the front, is watching in person the fierce struggle that is going on for the possession of Combes. The chief gain of yesterday's battle, the correspondent says, was that of the French, Gen. Micheler's forces, which reached the railroad running from Roye to Peronne and held it for a distance of two and a half miles, with the result that the German lines of communications behind the Somme are now entirely in the hands of the entente allies.

Chaulnes, says the correspondent, is only about two-thirds of a mile distant from the French line and is expected to fall at any time.

The capture of Berry-en-Santerre enables the French to dominate Barleux, which is the last point of support of the German second line of defense and completes the encirclement of Denicourt Park, for which a stubborn struggle is going on.

CRAIGVILLE BANK INCORPORATED.

Craigville, Ind., Sept. 8.—Articles of incorporation were filed with the secretary of state Wednesday by the Farmers State bank of Craigville, Ind., with capital stock of $25,000. Incorporators are Gideon Garber, Joel Neuenschwander, David Klopfenstein, and others. The new bank purchased a site for a building recently from Dr. E. P. Davenport, and will open for business as soon as a bank building is completed.

MACMILLAN IS BACK FROM ARCTIC DASH

Exploring Ship Cluett is Now at Battle Harbor, Labrador.

Battle Harbor, Labrador, Sept. 8.—The exploring ship George B. Cluett, heading the Crocker Land expedition headed by Donald B. MacMillan, entered Battle Harbor yesterday. MacMillan left New York July 2, 1913, in search of "Crocker Land." He went north under the joint auspices of the American Museum of Natural History, the American Geographical society and the University of Illinois. The expedition was directed by the "Crocker Land" committee, consisting of representatives of the three institutions.

With the explorer went Ensign Fitzhugh Green, United States navy engineer and physicist; W. Elmer Ekblaw, geologist and botanist; Maurice O. Tanquary, zoologist; Dr. Harrison J. Hunt, surgeon, and Jerome Lee Allen, wireless operator.

Makes Dash Across Ice.
After establishing their base at Etah, in the spring of 1914, MacMillan and Green made the dash of 130 miles across the polar ice to the supposed Crocker Land, which Admiral Peary, after returning from the north pole, said he thought he had seen.

Led on by a mirage that apparently had deceived Peary, they continued until satisfied there was no land in the location described by Peary. Then they returned, Ensign Green having barely escaped death in an avalanche of snow. Within twenty-four hours after they had left the ice field on which they had traveled for days, according to reports sent by MacMillan to civilization, became a seething, boiling mass of ice.

Makes New Dash.
Although he had satisfied himself that Crocker Land did not exist, MacMillan was not ready to return homeward, but instead elected to make a particularly dangerous journey across the ice to Foully Land, 1,400 miles away.

For many months nothing was heard from MacMillan, and in July, 1915, the schooner George B. Cluett, which had been chartered from the Grenfell association by the Crocker Land committee, left St. John's, Newfoundland, for Etah, Greenland, in charge of E. O. Hovey, chairman of the committee and curator of geology in the American Museum of Natural History, to relieve and bring back the members of the expedition.

INDIANAPOLIS GIRL LOSES LIFE IN RIVER

Indianapolis, Ind., Sept. 8.—Miss Marie Linne, 21 years old, 243 North Summit street, was drowned in White river, near the Ravenswood beach, one mile north of Broad Ripple park, yesterday afternoon. James Kerin, Jr., 1516 East Ohio street, 15-year-old son of James Kerin, a motor policeman, nearly lost his life in an attempt to rescue Miss Linne. Kerin was taken from the water by John O'Hearn, 609 East Twelfth street, after he had gone down for the third time.

Miss Linne was employed in the office of the Furnas Office and Bank Furniture company and had been spending her vacation in a girls' camp at Ravenswood. A number of her friends went to visit at the camp yesterday and several of the party went swimming. Kerin was one member of the party. He was with Miss Linne and the two ventured too far beyond the safety rope into deep water. It is said that neither was an expert swimmer.

PLANS NATIONAL DOG SHOW.

Events Will Be Held in Indianapolis Next February.

Indianapolis, Sept. 8.—Arrangements have been completed for a national dog show to be held here Feb. 13 to 15, 1917, immediately following the annual poultry show. Heretofore the dog shows have been held in connection with the poultry exhibits. The two shows, although separate, will be under the same management. These shows, for eight years secretary, treasurer and general manager of the Coliseum poultry and dog shows at Chicago, is looking after the details of the exhibit to be given here. He says he has received inquiries from prominent dog fanciers all over the country.

GARDNER WANTS PROBE OF FOREIGN INFLUENCE

Washington, D. C., Sept. 8.—Just before Congress adjourned Representative Gardner of Massachusetts, introduced a resolution, which he announced he would press at the winter session, for congressional investigation of organizations which it is alleged under foreign influence have attempted to affect elections of congressmen.

He named the American Embargo conference and the American Commerce and Protective committee among those wanted investigated to disclose the source of their financial support and to determine whether they have violated the neutrality of the United States or any of the corrupt practices acts in connection with elections.

CARPENTERS AT EVANSVILLE.

State Council of Brotherhood Opens Sessions There.

Evansville, Ind., Sept. 8.—The state council of the Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners opened a session today. QUARANTINE WILL BE RAISED AS ANNOUNCED

Signs Which Warn Against Allowing Children in Public Being Removed.

"Oh, Skinny—Hoo—oo."

Youth of the city will be freed from all bonds of confinement with the passing of the day. The so-called rising sun, Saturday morning, will mean liberty, only clouded with the shadow of opening school, for boys and girls under sixteen years.

The city health board made the order to raise the quarantine final, Friday. There have been no new cases of infantile paralysis reported in the past two weeks. Care in observing the quarantine is given as one of the reasons for breaking up the sweep of the dread disease.

All quarantine signs have been removed from homes where children were afflicted with paralysis. All patients are recovering as rapidly as can be expected. It is the belief of the health board members that Fort Wayne is free from attack of the disease for several months at least.

Signs reading "no children allowed here" were removed from the city market by health officers, Friday. With the last flicker of the three red thriller Friday night the cards warning against the presence of boys and girls will be taken from the picture shows. Patrolmen who have said they dreaded telling children to keep off of the streets worse than any duty since they started service, will be free men again.

Building Permits.

Building permits were granted the Wildwood Builders company, Friday, for erecting a frame residence at 647 Greenhwa avenue, $3,000; residence, 1900 Florida Drive, $4,100, and 906 Northwood boulevard, residence, $9,700.

Birth Record.

Born, to Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Schumacher, 909 East Wayne street—a boy.

To Mr. and Mrs. August Dreyer, 2331 North Clinton street—a boy.

To Mr. and Mrs. Henry Wagner, 2930 Gay street—a boy.

To Mr. and Mrs. William Mabe, St. Joseph hospital—a girl.

Fire in Cigar Store.

Central station firemen made a run to the Alter cigar store, corner of Main and Cathoon streets, Thursday night at 9 o'clock, where crossed electric light wires had started a small blaze. Damage was slight.

Made Inspection Tour.

Mayor Hosoy, City Engineer Randall and members of the board of works made an inspection tour through districts of the city, where street improvements are under way, Friday morning. Fifteen streets, avenues and boulevards are in the process of being paved and work is pronounced satisfactory in every case.

Grading on Avenue Finished.

Grading work on Crescent avenue was completed Friday. Teams will start Saturday to haul the first loads of crushed rock for the paving.

Chairman Hays Seeking to Bring Roosevelt Here for Campaign.

Chicago, Sept. 8.—Former Governor Franklin Murphy, of New Jersey, republican national committeeman from that state; former Senator Charles Dick, of Ohio, and republican State Chairman Will H. Hays, of Indiana, were among the visitors at western republican national headquarters today.

Chairman Hays said republicans of Indiana were desirous of having Theodore Roosevelt speak in that state and that a date for him probably would be arranged.

Miss Harriet Vittum, in charge of the woman's vote bureau, announced that a reception would be arranged in Chicago for the eastern women who have planned to tour the west in a special train in behalf of Hughes and Fairbanks.

Ella Flagg Young, former superintendent of schools of Chicago, will work in the interest of President Wilson in the campaign. It was announced today at the western democratic national headquarters. Mrs. Young, who is attending the convention of the National American Suffrage association in Atlantic City, announced her plans to Mrs. George Bass, head of the woman's bureau of the western headquarters.

THE DEATHS.

PARNIN.

Francis Parnin, aged seventy-seven years, a retired farmer, died at 6 o'clock Thursday evening at the residence of his son, August Parnin, of Edna street. Death followed an illness of two weeks, due to complication of diseases. The deceased was born in France, but came to this country in 1853. He settled on a farm in Jackson township, where he had resided until three years ago, when he came to Fort Wayne. He was a member of St. Louis Catholic church at Besancon and also of the French-American society. Surviving he leaves eight sons: Louis, of Pittsburg; Victor, August and Henry, of Fort Wayne; Charles, Joseph, Herman and Aristed, of Jackson township. Fifteen grandchildren, two great grandchildren and two sisters, Mrs. Josephine Erme and Mrs. William Osier, of Arcola, also survive him.

DRESSSEL.

V. J. Dressel, a farmer residing near Ossian, died Thursday evening at the Lutheran hospital at the age of fifty-three years. Three brothers, Henry, of this city; Philip, of Conroy, Ohio, and John, of Ossian, and three sisters, Mrs. Louisa Koons, of Fort Wayne, and the Misses Rose and Sadie, of Ossian, survive him. Until twelve years ago he was employed as a switchman and brakeman on the Pennsylvania railroad.

The remains have been taken to the home of Mrs. Louisa Koons, 1330 Sunday street. Funeral services Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the residence. Interment at Concordia.

BURRELL.

Miss Nellie Burrell, aged 36 years, died at 1 o'clock Friday morning at the family home, 928 Erie street, following an illness due to typhoid fever. She was born and reared in Fort Wayne and was educated in the public schools of the city. Her father, Duff Burrell, preceded her in death seven months ago. She is survived by the mother, three sisters, Mrs. Clinton Glover, of Detroit, and Mrs. L. A. Crawley and Mrs. John Hanson, of this city.

FUNERAL NOTICES.

Miller.—Funeral services for Theodora Virginia Miller will be held Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the residence, 349 French avenue, Rev. Overdier officiating. Burial at Prairie Grove cemetery.

FORBIDS FURTHER DECREES

Federal Control Now for All Resources in Mexico.

Mexico City, Sept. 8.—A decree published by the Carranza government today forbids governors in various states of Mexico to issue decrees affecting the natural resources of the country, including banking, forests, fisheries, mines and public lands, or their administration.

All laws and decrees heretofore dictated by governors are nullified. Under the new order the resources of Mexico are placed exclusively under federal jurisdiction.

DOCTOR DIES, UNABLE TO BREAK LONG VOLUNTARY FASTING PERIOD.

DR. H. G. HUFFMAN, PHOTOGRAPHED AT HIS FASTING CAMP BEFORE BEING TAKEN TO HOSPITAL.

TO SPEAK ONLY BEFORE NON-PARTISAN BODIES

President Wilson Outlines
Campaign Plans to Wisconsin Senator.

Washington, Sept. 8.—President Wilson told Senator Hastings, of Wisconsin, today that his present plan was to make speeches only before non-partisan organizations during the campaign. He did not include addresses he will make before delegations which will be received at Long Branch, N. J.

Senator Hastings asked the president to speak in Wisconsin, but Mr. Wilson replied that he had no present intention of making political speeches in different parts of the country.

The president left Washington at 1 o'clock for a stay which may extend until after the election in November. He expects to arrive at Atlantic City at 5:45 o'clock this afternoon and to-night will speak before the National Woman Suffrage association. After spending the night in Atlantic City he will motor to the summer white house, Shadow Lawn, at Long Branch, N. J., for an extended stay.

The president was busy up to the time of his departure with work incident to the adjournment of congress. After spending an hour at the capitol signing bills, he returned to the white house and attached his signature to many commissions and executive papers.

A staff of secretaries, clerks and messengers left for Long Branch today and will open executive offices tomorrow at Ashbury Park.

The president plans to begin speaking tonight before the convention at 8:30 o'clock. His speech is expected to be brief.

CROCKERLAND DOESN'T EXIST.

Ensign Fitzhugh Green Makes Verbal Report to Secretary Daniels.

Washington, Sept. 8.—Ensign Fitzhugh Green, who accompanied the MacMillan polar expedition in search of Crockerland, today reported verbally to Secretary Daniels that the expedition found no such land as Rear Admiral Peary reported he saw from Cape Thomas Hubbard in 1906. Green will submit a written report later. He told Secretary Daniels today that no such land as Crockerland existed.

REPORTS REVOLT IN MOSCOW.

Berlin, Sept. 8.—Press dispatches from Stockholm to the Overseas News agency report that a revolt occurred recently at Moscow, resulting in the killing or wounding of many persons. According to this account wounded Russian soldiers in a hospital train were left without care, with the result that the crowd assembled and protested. Soldiers refused to fire on the crowd, whereupon police were sent against the soldiers, a sanguinary encounter resulting.

WOULD CONSERVE WILD LIFE.

State Fisheries and Game Commissioner Behind Movement.

Indianapolis, Sept. 8.—The active aid and co-operation of Indiana residents in a campaign to conserve the wild life of the state to a much higher degree than formerly, is being sought by Eugene C. Shireman, state commissioner of fisheries and game, and some of his deputies. A pamphlet prepared under the direction of the commissioner is being distributed all over the state. It urges that all persons interested in restocking the streams and lakes with fish, and in protecting game and wild birds assist in the work. The pamphlet discusses the subjects of "Fish Protection," "Game Birds and Animals" and "Wild Bird Protection." The suggestion is made that county organizations be formed to protect the wild animals and birds.

Mrs. Maggie Dohkamp, 5438 Broadway, who has been seriously ill for some time, is slowly improving.

HUGHES SAYS ENTIRE NATION STOOD AGHAST

Sees Abandonment of Duty in Passage of Adamson Eight-Hour Law.

Lewiston, Me., Sept. 8.—Charles E. Hughes, speaking here today, continued his attack on the administration in connection with the enactment of the Adamson law. Mr. Hughes asserted that the whole country stood aghast at the "abandonment of executive prerogative and congressional duty."

"Now if any one rises in this country to say that I am not the friend of labor," the nominee added, "he knows he is not telling the truth."

"What we need in this country," he said, "is fair mindedness. When we have a grievance the thing to do is to examine the basis of fact. There is not a question in this country that cannot be settled if you get at it in the right way. The bill to which I refer carried on its face the declaration of its own defeat. It proceeded to absolutely impose a wage scale and then to consider it to find out whether it had any business doing it."

"I want fair wages but the principles of American government underlie every contract, every opportunity of labor. Why the laboring men of this country can no more take the chance of surrendering what has been won in our long fight than they can surrender the opportunities of their very existence. These things are vital to labor and to every American citizen. I say, let public officers stand like rocks for principles that are fundamental; let come what may."

TOWN COUNCIL ALSO PREVENTS A STRIKE

Fairmount, Ind., Sept. 8.—When John Winslow, who has charge of the combination hose, hook and ladder wagon used by the volunteer fire department here, threatened to strike for more wages, the council last night forced through legislation which prevented a walkout. Winslow in the future will receive $100 a year, payable quarterly, for taking the apparatus to the scene of any and all conflagrations. Heretofore he has received $5 for each alarm answered, provided the rig was outside the barn before the "out" signal was sounded by the water works whistle, but he protested that his revenue from this source had not exceeded an average of $15 a year. Under the old and new arrangement Winslow provides shelter for the wagon, a horse to make the runs and a driver from his livery barn. Even though the runs are few and far between the excitement of the occasion is so keen that it has ruined every horse he owns, to the extent that the horses have lost their gentleness and he dares not trust them in the hands of women drivers afterward, Winslow told the council in presenting his ultimatum.

WESTERN MEN SHOW CLASS.

Evans and Gardner 3 and 4 Up on Eastern Opponents.

Philadelphia, Pa., Sept. 8.—The two western players, Chick Evans and Robert A. Gardner, finished the forenoon round 3 and 4 up on their respective opponents, Corkran, of Baltimore, and Jesse Guilford, the Massachusetts champion.

Both Evans and Corkran showed a propensity for driving in water and traps in their round but in several cases followed with brilliant recovery. The putting as a rule was mediocre, the players having a tendency to overrun the cup on the hard fast greens.

WHEELING GAMES FORFEITED.

Had Too Many Men When They Gave South Bend Double Drubbing.

Grand Rapids, Mich., Sept. 8.—President E. W. Dickinson, of the Central league, today declared forfeited the two league won by Wheeling on Aug. 13 in a double-header with South Bend. The reason given is that on that date Wheeling had fourteen players, whereas the league rules say that if the limit of thirteen is exceeded by any team all games won by that team while above the limit shall be declared forfeited. The decision upsets the pennant race in the Central league, dropping Wheeling from the top to third place.

GERMAN PRESS REJOICES.

Amsterdam, Sept. 8.—German newspapers greet the news of the capture of the Rumanian fortress of Tutuila with jubilation. The Cologne Gazette recalls that Field Marshal Von Moltke considered this the best point for crossing the Danube but the newspapers do not predict a Bulgarian march against Bucharest.

TWO KILLED; TWO INJURED

Michigan Central Train Strikes Auto at Geddes, Mich.

Ann Arbor, Sept. 8.—Mrs. A. E. Muller of Cleve, Mich., and her son were killed and Mr. Muller and his daughter, Enny, were seriously injured today when their automobile was struck by a Michigan Central passenger train at Geddes.

FEWER CASES APPEAR.

New York, Sept. 8.—A sharp decline in infantile paralysis cases was shown today in the figures announced by the health authorities. The total new cases were forty-eight, or thirteen fewer than yesterday, while the deaths were fifteen, also a drop of thirteen.

CASE AGAINST POLICE
NOW UP TO THE JURY

Jamison's Attorneys at Bluffton Agree to Strike Out Word Malicious.

(Special to The Sentinel.)

Bluffton, Ind., Sept. 8.—The $10,000 damage suit of Emory Jamison, of Winchester, against Chief of Police Charles Lenz and other Fort Wayne police officers and the Kurude Dry Goods company went to a jury at four o'clock Friday afternoon.

Jamison asks heavy damages in the case, which has been before the Wells county circuit court for two days, for false imprisonment in connection with the robbery of the Kurude store, two years ago.

Judge Eichorn in a solemn charge to the twelve jurors shortly before four o'clock, closed a day of legal sparring and forceful delivery.

Attorney Guy Colerick, city attorney of Fort Wayne, made a deep impression when he turned to the jury near the close of his plea, with the following address:

"I make my appeal straight to the heart of you men of Wells county. I ask for liberty of the law to give justice. I beg for the right of our officers to me their best judgment, without fear of being bankrupted by a legal action, to protect our rights."

"I want to bring the case home to you. Suppose a mother, with a babe in her arms, was foully murdered on the threshold of her own home here your county. Suppose she had barely strength to tell your officers that a man with a red sweater had committed the deed. Suppose such a man had started towards Fort Wayne."

"Your officers would wire our police to apprehend such a man. Do you want our police bound in a trying moment like that by fear that they will be held for damages if they should halt the wrong man with a red sweater. As men worthy of representing your community on a jury I know that you will set a precedent in this case which will give officers reason to fear when they start out to bring those who would trample laws to justice."

Colerick and his two allied attorneys, Morris and Simmons, spoke for an hour and fifteen minutes. Attorneys Loy and Squires, for the plaintiff, took more than an hour in their delivery. More than fifty spectators were in the court room during the afternoon.

Was Not Malicious.

It is believed that the prosecution lost much of its power when attorneys for Jamison were forced to admit on Thursday afternoon that there was no malicious intent on the part of Fort Wayne police in having Jamison and his companions detained. Attorney Loy agreed to have the word "malicious" stricken from the original complaint before the session closed Thursday.

Loy built up his argument about the fact that Jamison believed himself perfectly innocent of any crime. He pointed out that Jamison was in the criminal gallery; his face is remembered by thousands who eagerly peered at him as he was carried through Fort Wayne streets a manacled prisoner, and flaunted as a criminal. It is an act of injustice which time can never heal," Loy said.

He also argued that Jamison's health was injured by his treatment at Toledo and in being returned to Fort Wayne.

The defense in their arguments showed that the resemblance between Jamison and the man who helped tie Nightwatchman Karns, at the Kurude store, was so close that arrest of Jamison on reasonable suspicion was justified. Fort Wayne police did all in their power to rectify the mistake when they found Jamison to be innocent and paved the way of the three men back to Toledo. Morris pointed out. That was all any police could do, he said.

EVE MINUS THE FIG LEAF.

She Was Found Hanging Out the Family Wash at Hammond.

Hammond, Ind., Sept. 8.—Chief of Police Peter Austen, of Hammond, is drawing up plans and specifications for a blind policeman. Excited telephone calls from Oakley avenue yesterday informed Desk Sergeant Charles Lee that a woman garbed as Eve, except that she wore no red leaf, was hanging out the family washing. When Patrolman William Lute arrived he had to put on blinders. He found Mrs. John Pearce temporarily deranged by the heat. He wrapped her in a sheet from the line and induced her to withdraw from the gathering multitude.

THREE NEW CASES REPORTED.

Indianapolis, Ind., Sept. 8.—Three new cases of infantile paralysis in Indianapolis have been reported to the city board of health it was announced today. The number of cases in this city since the epidemic in New York started has reached six. The three last children reported to have the disease are under five years old. Strict quarantines have been established.

AUSTRIAN AIRMAN NACTIVE.

Berlin, Sept. 8.—A delayed report from the Austrian admiralty dated Sept. 4 says an Austrian aerial squadron successfully bombed military establishments at Venice and Grado. One Austrian aeroplane failed to return.

Floyd Libbing, of the L. J. Libbing & Co., left for Chicago early Friday morning. While there he will attend the auction of the Orr and Locket company, in the interest of his firm.

SEEK AN INDICTMENT AGAINST MRS. BARNES

Chicago Women Ask Woman a Prosecutor for Trial of Alleged Slayer.

Chicago, Sept. 8.—Indictment of Mrs. Iva M. Barnes on the charge of murdering her husband, James R. Barnes, local representative of a New York firm, in Washington park last Tuesday night, will be sought before the county grand jury today. The body of Barnes was sent last night to Warner, N. Y., for burial.

Representative women of Chicago are preparing a petition to State's Attorney Hoyne, requesting that he appoint a special woman prosecutor to try Mrs. Barnes if she is brought to trial. Mrs. Catherine Vaughn McCulloch, noted suffragist, and a member of the legal profession, declared she might volunteer her services in Mrs. Barnes' case. She also said she would like to see the jury made up half of women and the other half of men. A chain of "not guilty" verdicts since 1907 has freed nearly twenty women accused of murder.

In the absence of State's Attorney Hoyne, the latter's first assistant, Frank Johnston, Jr., made a statement late yesterday. He declared he had no doubt the indictment would be returned and Mrs. Barnes would be rushed to trial immediately, perhaps within a week.

"We already have Mrs. Barnes' statement, taken by Assistant State's Attorney Langtry in the Hyde park police station," said Mr. Johnston. "The statement will be used against her during the trial."

"The Barnes murder is another example of a total disregard for law. There has not been a case handled in this office in which it was considered more important that justice be meted out than in this case."

"I am not passing at this time on the guilt or innocence of the accused. That is for a jury to decide. But a life has been taken, a woman has confessed she shot her husband. It is time the community was aroused to true conditions. Unpunished crimes committed by women are incentives to others."

"A vindictive woman makes the life of a man more unsafe than that of a dog roaming the streets."

Will Rush Case.

Witnesses have been subpoenaed to appear today before the grand jury and evidence has been compiled for submission to that body. The chief witnesses will be Detective Sergeants Mulvey and Keiser, who declare they obtained a confession from Mrs. Barnes that she shot her husband following his refusal to drop a divorce suit he had started, and his alleged attempt to choke her.

This confession Mrs. Barnes repudiated yesterday in a talk at the county jail with a newspaper man.

"I am innocent," she said. "The police questioned me so long that finally I repeated what they said, not knowing what I was doing. The truth is that my husband quarreled with me in the park, we had a struggle, and the revolver went off accidentally. He was a coward."

SPENDS BUT 4 CENTS IN MAKING HIS RACE

Chicago, Sept. 8.—William J. Hennessy, democratic candidate for the nomination for congress in the First district, gets the first prize feature story in today's political chronicle. He also establishes the world's record for inexpensive campaigning.

Yesterday Hennessy mailed to the clerk of the house of representatives his sworn statement of his campaign expenses in Congressman Madden's district. The total cost, he swears under oath, was—

Four cents—two 2 cent postage stamps.

"My petition," he wrote, "was presented to me by friends in my district. When I received the petition it was ready to mail, so I simply put 4 cents in stamps on the petition and mailed it to the secretary of state. That is all the money I have spent and all I intend to spend and I expect to be nominated by a good majority."

THE PARIS.

A Complete Showing of Styles That Reveals Every New and Correct Trend of Fashion

Naturally in every season there are "best" styles—those that meet with highest approval. There are also many effective but apparently minor changes in styles that are made after the season has started. All of these are mirrored in this present large assortment of coats, suits, dresses, waists and millinery.

There really is not a fabric, a color or a really desirable authentic model that is not represented here. We have gathered the most tasteful sorts from the best makers, excluding those that would be inappropriate for wear by women in this vicinity. And with all of these superior properties these new models are priced to give you exceptionally good values!

WORK AS A MEDICINE GOOD FOR PRISONERS

Dr. Bowers Discusses Showing at Hospital for Insane Criminals.

Indianapolis, Sept. 8.—Under the title "Work as a Medicine," an article appears in the current Indiana bulletin of charities and corrections, now ready for distribution, written by Dr. Paul E. Bowers, physician in charge of the Indiana hospital for the insane criminals, in connection with the state prison at Michigan City, which gives interesting data. The idea of furnishing these prisoners with employment took shape last December. Dr. Bowers writes in part:

"A workshop, thirty feet wide and 100 feet long, with plenty of light and ventilation, was constructed. Twelve handlooms and two sock machines were installed and thirty criminal insane patients welcomed the chance to employ their minds and hands."

"The purpose of this work is purely one of treatment and cure."

"Just at this point I will not attempt to measure its medical value, but am pleased to be able to report the following cases: One inmate who was very quarrelsome and a source of great care to attendants, took to his work with such energy that he leads the remainder of the patients working at the looms and holds the record of making eighteen yards of towel per diem."

"Another case is of a boy with suicidal mania. Since the work treatment has been introduced he has been made a sort of overseer of looms, to see that they all are running smoothly. No longer does his mind find time to contemplate how to end his existence."

"Notwithstanding the fact that the workers were insane patients, the attendants themselves, without experience as to the mechanism and operation of the machines, there have been woven 2,639 yards of fine linen towel, at a cost of less than five cents a yard. This same material costs in the open market from eighteen cents to twenty cents. In addition, 3,600 pairs of socks, 100 new mattresses, 100 new pillows, 50 cushions, door mats, floor mats, cloth shoes, rag rugs, hammocks, shopping bags, gloves and shirtings were manufactured. Two hundred and sixty old mattresses and 200 old pillows were renovated and 6,000 pairs of socks darned. Besides this, all the repair work on hospital bedding and clothing was done.

"Outside the workshop the patients practice intensive gardening. On an acre of pure sand there have been grown 50,000 onions, 43,600 radishes, 128 pounds of peas, 2,174 pounds of lettuce, 6 bushels of cucumbers, 39 bushels of beets, 300 watermelons, 1,700 bushels of melons, 850 heads of cabbage, 1 bushel of turnips, 19 bushels of horse radish, 11,000 bunches of celery, 120 1/2 bushels of tomatoes, 1 1/2 bushels of red peppers and other things. The amount supplied the vegetable needs of 250 persons for a season, except for potatoes."

"NONSENSE," SAYS JOHNSON. California Governor Not Disturbed by Threats to Kill.

Sacramento, Cal., Sept. 8.—Governor Hiram Johnson characterized as "nonsense" threats made in two letters to kill him if he did not leave certain large sums of money in a designated place near the state capital. Carmine Prandi, a suspect found by the police lurking near the indicated spot at the time appointed in the letters for depositing the money was confronted by Governor Johnson in his cell last night but the prisoner persisted in his denial of having any knowledge of the conspiracy. "I have been threatened so many times since I have been governor," Governor Johnson said, "that this sort of thing no longer bothers me."

MRS. C.R. DINES

Chicago, Sept. 8.—"I'll stick to my husband no matter how many women try to malign or sue him," says Mrs. Charles Ross Dines, whose husband was notified the day of his wedding that suit for $30,000 for breach of promise has been filed by Miss Edna Grove, of Omaha.

A United States marshal, serving notice of the suit, was an uninvited guest at the wedding, but none of the plans for the affair were changed.

Dines is a professor at Northwestern university. Miss Grove and Mrs. Dines were students at the college. Dines says his engagement to Miss Grove was broken three years ago.

MOTHER-IN-LAW'S HINT GAVE PETTIT ATTACKS

New Details of "Spiritual Promptings" of Slayer Revealed.

Chicago, Sept. 8.—Details of the "spiritual" promptings which caused him to slay his child wife to "save her soul" are contained in a confession said to have been obtained from J. Maurice Pettit, the former Cedar Rapids, Iowa, bank cashier, in jail here, today. The confession was made public by the state's attorney's office.

The murder of Mrs. Pettit occurred on Aug. 31 and Pettit was subsequently captured near Detroit. He is accused of having killed his wife with a razor. In the confession Pettit is quoted as saying that when he was married in the early part of the year, he expected to live with his wife on a "spiritual plane," but that his mother-in-law had hinted to him that if he continued on that theory instead of a normal husband-and-wife relationship his wife might seek other company.

From that time on, the confession read, though his wife was a "pure woman," he had "attacks" or jealous fits, in one of which he cut the throat of his wife and left her lying dead while he fled the house. According to the confession Pettit sought to kill himself on the farm near Detroit where he was captured and that he yet hoped to end his life so he could join his wife "spiritually."

In his confession he said he never had one of the attacks of insanity or whatever uncontrollable feeling it was that led him to kill his wife until after their marriage. "This feeling was one that impelled him to kill her and himself," he said.

fourth congress' first session which began last December. Adjournment was set for an early hour and only the signing of the emergency revenue and minor bills by the presiding officers of both houses was to be accomplished. President Wilson arranged to go to the capital for the adjournment formalities.

Only a small proportion of members were on hand to watch the session. Most had hurried to their homes at the end of the late sessions last night, or even days before, and a month after the political campaign in November they must return for the short session.

Last Night's Work.
Last night both houses accepted the conference report on the emergency revenue bill without record votes and the senate, before recessing an hour after midnight, ratified the Danish West Indies purchase treaty. The general deficiency appropriation bill also was approved as reported by conferees. Today's session was necessitated only by need for time to report the measure in the proper form to be signed. Conferees reached an agreement on the bill early in the evening, after spending three days on it. The report was attacked by Senators Chamberlain and Jones because the amendment for retaliation against Canadian control of Pacific coast fisheries had been stricken out. In the house Representative Gardner denounced the retaliatory provision against foreign interference with American commerce.

The session ends without final action on Senator Owens' corrupt practices bill, on which debate persisted in the senate yesterday and last night up to the time the revenue bill report was taken up. As Unfinished Business.

Senator Owen announced in the senate today that he would not further press his corrupt practices bill at this session, but would let it remain the unfinished business before that body and call it up again next session.

A resolution by Senator Curtis proposing an investigation by a committee of three senators of reports that a lobby representing a foreign government had been busy in Washington opposing retaliatory legislation against Canadian fisheries in the revenue bill, was sent to a committee today and cannot come up before the next session.

A resolution by Senator Curtis, of Kansas, directing the senate lobby committee to investigate the activities of the alleged foreign lobby opposing retaliatory provision of the revenue bill against Canadian fisheries was passed today by the senate.

Usual Hubbub in House.
The usual hubbub characterized the closing moments in the house after Representative Fitzgerald, chairman of the appropriations committee, had made a statement regarding appropriations. In discussing the expenditures Mr. Fitzgerald said the world was ablaze and the American people had awakened to the fact "and to the belief" that even the United States are not so completely isolated from the old world as to be free from all possibility of entanglement before the conflict stops. He said that accordingly extraordinary steps had to be taken in the way of large expenditures for defense.

Representative Gillet, of Massachusetts, said that "applying the democratic standard and logic the session just closed for surpluses in extravagance any predecessor."

In the closing minutes in the house a dozen members clamored for recognition for leave to print remarks in the Congressional Record and their requests were hustled through in record-breaking time.

Few Watch the Windup.
When the house convened at 9 a. m. Speaker Clark, Democratic Leader Kitchin, Republican Leader Mann and a small number of members of both sides were on the floor to watch the windup.

Speaker Clark, addressing the house, said: "I am the only man, I know of, who invariably takes up odds for congress. It is a strange predicament that we are in in this country. Nearly every one would like an office; many run for office, few get office and everybody abuses those who do get the office. I think that the reason that they hop on congress is that it is impersonal and does not hurt any one's feelings in particular. Some day I am going to take a whole hour to discuss the relations of the American congress to the American people."

Soon after the president reached the capitol the revenue bill was ready for his signature. The senate made the concurrent resolution for a 10 o'clock adjournment which already had been passed in the house. The president held a reception in his room as a line of senators and representatives passed through while he sat at the table signing bills. To Senator Simmons the president expressed gratification over the passage of the revenue bill and its many legislative features. He said, however, that he greatly regretted the failure of the Webb bill to provide for establishment of American collective selling agencies in foreign countries.

Committee Notices President.
At 9:30 o'clock the senate appointed Senator Kern and Senator Smoot to notify the president that congress was ready to adjourn unless he had some further communication to present. They were joined by Representatives Kitchin, Fitzgerald and Mann, the house committee, and the joint committee waited on the president at 9:35 a. m.

The president congratulated the leaders on the opportunity for a "well-earned rest." Officially he informed them that he had nothing further to communicate to congress. Senator Kern notified the senate at 9:55 o'clock that the president had nothing further to communicate. Thereupon Senator Nelson of Minnesota, offered a resolution of thanks to the vice president for his impartial conduct in presiding over the senate. The resolution was adopted and the vice president thanked the senate in a brief address. Thereupon the senate adjourned since die at 9:59 o'clock.

Members of the conference committee on the revenue bill pointed out an important change in the income tax section as finally approved, extending the $4,000 exemption, instead of the $3,000 one to "heads of families," whether married or not, replacing the provision of the old law which gave the larger exemption only to "married persons."

While at her dock in New York in July of 1915 an attempt was made to destroy her, fire bombs being found concealed in the hold.

FRENCH LOSSES ARE HEAVY.

Suffer Frightfully in Battles With Germans on the Somme.

Berlin, Sept. 8.—French and German troops again were engaged in infantry fighting yesterday in the region of the river Somme, in France, says the official statement issued today by the German army headquarters staff. The French were repulsed with great loss with the exception of a point to the west of Berny where, the statement added, some portions of trenches remained in the hands of the French. An official statement says that several Russian aeroplanes attacked with bombs German positions in Courland but that the attack was without success. German anti-aircraft guns forced one hostile biplane to land and the occupants were made prisoners.

GERMANS ATTACK VIOLENTLY.

Teuton Efforts to Regain Ground Falls, Declares Paris.

Paris, Sept. 8.—12:20 p. m.—Renewed and particularly violent attacks were made by the Germans on the Somme front last night in an effort to regain ground won by the French. The war office announced today the German assaults were futile, the French holding their ground everywhere.

Violent artillery fighting is under way on the front in Greek Macedonia, the war office announced today. The principal engagements are in progress on the Struma front in the region of Mount Belas, and in the vicinity of Lake Dolan.

CLING TO CAPTURED POINTS.

Petrograd, Sept. 8.—Via London—Russian troops which have crossed the Dvina river north of Dynek were attacked repeatedly by the Germans, the war office announces, but succeeded in holding the captured positions.

JAIL DELIVERY IS

Robert Armstrong Finds Prisoners Trying to Make Escape.

A jail delivery was prevented by Robert Armstrong, turnkey at the Allen county jail, Thursday night at 7:30 o'clock. John Eickels, who is serving time for loitering until his record is ascertained from Richmond, W. Va.; John Platt, of Terre Haute, held for carrying concealed weapons, and Hugh Thompson, serving fifteen days for disorderly conduct, were detected in the act of saving the bars.

After finding the men Armstrong locked himself in the corridor of the jail with other prisoners and alone forced the three men, whom he had caught, into a cell. Before entering the "bull pen," where many prisoners were walking about, the turnkey instructed a "crusty" listen and if anything happened to call the police.

A. C. Gladioux arrived just after the trio of would-be jail breakers had been driven in a cell and assisted in placing other prisoners in their cells. How the saw reached Eickels was a mystery to attachers of the jail. Armstrong was seated in the jail office when he decided to make the outside of the jail on a round. For some time both he and the sheriff were convinced that Eickels was trying to escape. Walking to the west side of the jail, keeping close to the wall, Armstrong heard the rattle of a chain and someone say, "work fast."

Clambering a pile of logs, giving him a better view of the window, Armstrong saw three men grouped there. He recognized Eickels and Platt although he could not see the third man. He then climbed to a window ledge enabling him to see Thompson.

The turnkey then jumped down, ran to the jail office, armed himself with a revolver and "black jack," returning to the point where he could meet the men if they attempted escape from the window. Later he changed his methods, firing five shots to drive the men away from the jail window.

Found Other Prisoners.

He entered the first barred gate and instructed the trusty in the office to inform him of developments. Armstrong found the minor prisoners walking about in the "bull pen." The turnkey walked through the crowd of prisoners and found Platt playing cards. He was carried by a blow of the "black jack" and Eickels and Thompson were also taken in charge. Then another prisoner was ordered to turn a lever looking all the prisoners in the cell in that division of the jail. The three men were transferred to another part of the cell and locked up. One bar of the cell was completely severed at the cross bar. The lower end was imbedded in the stone window sill. A chair taken from a bunk had been attached to the lower end of a device, the prisoners hoping to bend the bar so the lower end could not be drawn from the sockets.

Women Invade Every Labor Field in England, Investigator Finds

Charles Edward Russell
Says There'll Be a Merry Rumpus When Men Return and Demand Their Jobs.

BY CHARLES EDWARD RUSSELL.

London, England, Sept. 2.—Before the war, when women suffragists spoke to street meetings in London they were received with spoiled vegetables, choice egg antiques, brick ends and roars of "Wimmen's ploye is the 'ome!"

If they were to speak at street meetings now they might get the brick ends, the vegetables and the other relics, but even a London mob couldn't repeat that old fake about women's place.

It isn't the home any more. It's the machine shop, the plow handle and the railroad yard.

Last week through these streets there was a parade of women war workers, and the best informed man that looked upon it was astounded, inroads of women in industry had gone so much further than he had imagined. He blinked and stared when he saw the floats from the machine shops, and gasped at sight of a brigade of stalwart and tanned Amazons from the gas works, each with her coal shovel on her shoulder.

Women are shoveling malt in the malt houses, cleaning and hosteling locomotive engines, operating heavy and complicated drills, lathes and metal machines in the shops, working as porters, coachwomen, haymakers and bank clerks.

In strictly industrial occupations, aside from the munition plants, 292,000 women have taken jobs usually regarded as exclusively for men, jobs like wire-drawing, iron and steel working, tin plate making, cutlery, and manual work on automobiles, carriages, ships and tools. More than 2,000 have gone to work about coal mines, and 100 in quarries.

Up to July 1, outside of the munition shops, 638,000 women had entered industrial pursuits. In the same time the munition shops had taken on 512,000 women. This is a total of 1,157,000 women at work for wages in Great Britain that were not so at work Aug. 4, 1914.

For what kind of wages? That is the first great point.

Well, at wages distinctly less than men's!

In France women that take men's jobs usually get men's pay; but not here.

When the government began to employ women in the munition shops it announced a minimum wage for them of $5.25 a week. For various reasons it hasn't been able to stick to this, but still, as a rule, it does better than private employers.

Private employers are paying women

Women workers in British munition factory having a "joy-ride" during their moon hour.

$3.25 to $5 a week in jobs where men used to get $5 to $7 a week.

Generally speaking, women are getting about 75 per cent of the wages formerly paid to men (not the wages men get now).

How do women put out as workers?

That's the next great point. "Revelation of their own hitherto unsuspected and undeveloped capacity has undoubtedly come as a surprise to many women engaged in unfamiliar war work. They have learned they are capable of better things."

So has the rest of the nation! Brothers, all this means big changes, as sure as you live. These women are rocking the boat.

For instance, women workers do not restrict output.

British trade unions have made restriction of output their long-settled unchangeable policy—"so much a day and no more."

Women work for less than men, they are at least as efficient as men, and 1,157,000 of them are now filling men's jobs.

Will you get them out when the war is over?

If you don't you will surely have a vast army of unemployed men.

If you do, you will have the employers on your neck. They will have plenty of trouble without any increased wage bill.

If you don't, millions of workers' households now for the first time enjoying comfort will have to come down to direct poverty again.

You can see that close at hand are infinitely worse problems than any of war strategy.

Storm signals—the air is full of them.

CRIMINAL CASES ARE SET FOR A HEARING

Judge Eggeman Has Arranged a Busy Calendar for September Term.

Criminal cases were set for hearing in circuit court Friday morning by Judge John W. Eggeman.

The case of Robert Wilson, who entered a plea of not guilty to the charge of forgery, will be heard September 23.

The case of assault and battery against James H. Deplar has been dismissed.

Suit charging neglect of children against Frank Bruscky has been dismissed. The case against Harry R. Molten alleging failure to report accident has also been dismissed.

The case of the state against Edward Tombaugh, charged with assault and battery with intent to kill, has been set for September 23.

Carver J. Holthouse, charged with forgery, will be tried September 23.

The case against Fred Fields, charged with selling liquor without a license, has been dismissed on motion of the prosecuting attorney.

Burt Ward has entered a plea of not guilty to a charge of assault and battery and will be tried September 12.

John O. Langston, who was issued a parole, has been returned to Michigan City.

Employment Bureau Reports.
Report of the state free employment bureau for the week ending September 7 shows that 59 males applied for work and that 48 were placed in positions. A total of 71 persons sought male help during the week. A total of 39 females sought employment and 26 were placed in positions. Forty-seven persons sought female help.

Will be Filled.
The will of Wilder Stess Sponhauer has been filed for probate in circuit court. All property is devised to the widow and four children, the widow being bequeathed property in the Rockhill addition. Roy Sponhauer is nominated executor. The will was dated Dec. 6, 1915.

Association Incorporates.
Articles of incorporation have been filed for the Lutheran School association. The articles state the object is to maintain a Christian continuation school for education in the commercial branches. There is no capital stock. The directors are: Rev. J. W. Miller, Rev. August Lange, W. C. Dickmeyer, C. J. Scheinmann, Otto F. Bengs, Herman A. Duemling, Fred Wolf, H. C. Weinberg and K. H. Floering.

J. Robert Sherrod has been admitted to the practice of law following action in circuit court Friday morning. C. J. Albert H. Marbeck vs. Fred Schoppa, to collect $500 on account. Cause dismissed.

Notes of the Courts.
George V. Kell, Carl Habig and Solomon Ely have been appointed viewers on the Hawkins road. They are to meet on the morning of Sept. 16 at 10 o'clock to qualify and determine on a time to view the road. The action follows complaint of farmers whose land is cut by the road.

Margaret Brooks has begun suit in superior court for a divorce from William Brooks, alleging cruelty. They were married in 1907 and separated in 1902. M. V. R. Seales is attorney for the plaintiff.

SEEKING TO IMPROVE WORK IN HIGH SCHOOL

New Study Course Outline Carries Many Valuable Suggestions.

Indianapolis, Sept. 2.—The outline of the uniform course of study in high schools printed in book form, and covering about 200 pages, now is being distributed by the office of Charles A. Greathouse, state superintendent of public instruction. The outline contains many suggestions and programs for high school work. It says in part:

"Two important facts stand out prominently in connection with the high schools of today: First, the increasing number and second, the gradual changing of the curriculum."

"As the last decade has witnessed the greater part of this remarkable growth, it remains for the coming decade to develop and make efficient the schools already established. It has been the policy of this department to advise township trustees to establish and maintain, whenever possible, one good high school in each township. However, what is needed now is not more, but better high schools that will serve a community in which they are located in the best possible way. Schools that will return to the state 100 cents on every dollar spent on them in the way of developing pupils of character and patriotism, who cannot only make a living but a life worth while."

"The great function of the high school is to afford each pupil who enrolls therein an opportunity to discover himself. The modern school is, therefore, broadening its scope. It must continue to prepare the few for college, but it also must offer to the many who do not go to college some work and genuine culture which will serve as a foundation for the best lives they are capable of living."

"And so the immediate duty not only of this department, but of all school men and women of the state is to provide a program for our high schools that will not only give every pupil an opportunity to find himself, but will also train him in the direction of his chosen line of work and natural ability."

MRS. CAROLINE EARL WHITE DEAD
Nantucket, Mass., Sept. 2.—Mrs. Caroline Earl White, 83, of Philadelphia, a pioneer worker in the movement for the prevention of cruelty to animals, is dead at her summer home here. Mrs. White in 1888 organized in Philadelphia the society for the prevention of cruelty to animals.

The Reason Is Value and Price of Men's Suits and Overcoats

The men who buy John Ford Clothes at $16, $18 and $20 find exactly what they want here.

Exclusive Fall and Winter Styles, beautiful patterns and wools, unequalled workmanship and perfect fit—that's John Ford's Clothes.

Look Right Feel Right

$16--$18--$20

The fall season is at hand and the prices quoted are on brand new materials that have been contracted for quietly in the past season at prices no other tailor can touch at the present time. We could sell every yard of goods in the shop at an enormous advance over the cost. That's why we can "beat 'em all" on prices and why people pass to our corner.

These suitings are the very latest Fall and Winter Styles—superb qualities, and absolutely pure fast-dye colors. There are blacks and all the shades of brown, blue, gray, tan, with a large assortment of beautiful mixtures.

The overcoatings are in rough English mixtures, which will be the coming style, with a great variety of plain beavers and kerseys.

And the most beautiful part of it all is that each suit is made up so perfectly and given as much attention as if our reputation of many years depended upon that one garment, each suit or overcoat hand tailored so beautifully and fitted so perfectly that anyone will know they were made to your individual measure.

ROBISON CIRCUS HIT HARD AT VAN WERT, O

Terrific Storm Plays Havoc to Main Tent During Afternoon Performance.

(Special to The Sentinel.)
Van Wert, O., Sept. 2.—Damage estimated at $6,000 was done to the main tent of the John Robinson circus here yesterday afternoon as the result of a terrific wind and rainstorm. The management of the circus saw the storm coming and judging the blackness of the clouds feared the result. Without taking any chances on the storm passing, however, the afternoon performance was brought to an abrupt end and the crowds were hurried out of the big tent in time to save every person from possible injury or death. The last person had no sooner gotten out when the storm struck the tent, almost completely demolishing it. A few minutes later the smaller tents were blown down. Although the animals did not break out of their cages their cries could be heard throughout the entire city.

Robinson circus came here from Fort Wayne, where it played to small audiences on Wednesday. The reason for the small attendance was due to the action of the board of health preventing children from attending, as a precautionary measure to check the threatened outbreak of infantile paralysis.

AUBURN NEWS.

Auburn, Ind., Sept. 2.—Mr. and Mrs. Charles Weaver have returned from a summer outing at Lake Gage.

The Pulver barber shop has vacated the room on Seventh street and it is rumored that a restaurant will soon be started there.

Adolph Schloss is spending ten days in Chicago on business.

Mrs. M. Robbins and Miss Emma Rock are spending a few days in Chicago.

Mrs. Grover Miller, of Peru, is spending a few days with Mrs. Frank Batdorf and Mrs. Sherman Rhinehold.

Miss Esther Sheets returned Wednesday to her studies at the Moody Bible institute at Chicago.

Miss Mable Rhinehold went to Fort Wayne, Tuesday, where she entered the Fort Wayne Business College.

Mrs. R. E. McClellan and daughter are visiting among relatives at Niles, Mich.

Miss Hazel Craig is the guest of her sister, Mrs. G. C. Watson, at Elkhart. Ralph Clark and wife are spending this week at Oakwood, on Hamilton lake.

Miss Lucile Buchtel is visiting friends at Payne, O., this week.

Frank H. Carper and Miss Clarice F. Miller, both of this city, procured a marriage license Wednesday and left via the interurban, without revealing their destination. However, it is thought they went to Hillsdale to have the knot tied. Mr. Carper has been employed at the Schloss dry goods store for some time but resigned a few days ago and accepted a position with the Indiana Fuel and Light company.

Harry Clouse has gone to Fort

Wayne, where he has accepted a position.

County Agent A. Z. Arehart is spending the week and attending the state fair. Before his return home he will spend several days at Purdue, where he will make further investigations concerning the soil problems of DeKalb county.

At the county commissioners' meetings which have been held three days this week, but little business has been transacted. The Peter Teutsch and Daniel Wagner drains were docketed and the two roads to have been bid on Wednesday will have to be let at some future date as no bids were received for either.

Charles Smith spent Thursday in Fort Wayne on legal business. The Auburn schools opened Monday and 895 pupils are enrolled. There are 195 in the high school alone, and 700 in the grades. Never in the history of the schools have they been so crowded for room. Grades 4, 5 and 6 are very crowded and the high school situation is presenting a difficult problem for Superintendent Blossom. The new high school building to be erected before next fall is certainly badly needed.

Los Angeles police last year arrested one person for every twelve of population.

TRANSFORMING A FACTORY INTO A PALACE

Library Leading Into Billiard Room.

Priceless Antiques Are Found in Apartments, the Floors of Which Are Covered with Kokhara and Kerminsha Rugs, While on All Sides of the Building Is the Grim Rush of Trade.

How many of the folk who live down in the heart of a city have looked longingly on the cool, shaded boulevards and parked ways of the outer edge?

How many of those who live downtown would hesitate to exchange abodes with their fortunate fellow-citizens? None. Wrong!

There is at least one. He owns a palatial home in the western end of St. Louis, and in which he lived for nine years, and he has moved from it to a home down near the shopping district and for the simple, sole reason that he considers it a better place.

He is T. M. Sayman. His factory and palace in one is at 2117 Franklin avenue.

Living at downtown hotels where every luxury is provided the guests is not an unpleasant way of living, and is common enough to its appeal to many. But this man does not live at a hotel—moreover, he lives in a nine-story building that is given over to business from cellar to roof, all except the seventh floor, which holds his apartment.

The ten-room apartment, ranged along the south and west walls of the seventh floor, however, has features that explain adequately why their occupants find the place more than tolerable.

The luxurious apartment and the fact that it is in a wholesale business house, the proprietor of which is the occupant, is not the only remarkable feature of the building. On the third floor of the same building is a great ballroom, a skating rink, a basket-ball court, billiard rooms, shower baths and plunges, which are for the enjoyment of the proprietor and his employees.

More, a roof garden tops the great building, and a rifle range is constructed along one edge of the roof.

and render comfortable are found in this unusual setting.

Forty years ago, a youth cut loose from a circus to which he was giving the talents that he valued more than the proprietors thereof. Ten years before that he had left home in Richmond, Ind., with not even parental consent. During the ten years that followed he was farmer, circus water carrier, pole boy, speller, ticket taker, performer on the parallel bars, weight-of-hand artist, and a half-dozen other things that the versatile profession of circus performer required.

Up and down the land and across from coast to coast the youth traveled, acquiring such an education as an impressionable boy in his teens will gather under such circumstances, that are crowded with instructive experiences.

All the great circus rosters of performers carried his name, and his memories of the days of late boyhood are wrapped about the celebrities of the tanbark.

When he detached himself from his engagement with the circus he resorted to his performing talents to support himself. He started out with the proverbial shoestring. He halted crowds on the street corners, and when they had given attention to his song or his monologue on the humor of the human race, he sold them the things that they were on their way to the stores to buy. His packet of Yankee novelties held what they wanted, and he made them want what it held.

He moved from one end of the country to the other, and a commercial-theatrical trip took him to Nashville, Tenn. There he anchored an unusually long while, and a half dozen years' association with the doctors of the city and in the classroom of a medical college gave him the training that played such a great part in his after life.

The lure of the legerdemain, the tank of the tanbark, so early in life exercising such a thrill over him, were destined to influence the later years, and while only a youth of 23 years he again stood spell-binding the crowds on the casual corner while he purveyed soaps and remedies and whatever else he made their hearts desire.

The natural genius, augmented by a few years of experience, so effectively improved his address that to accommodate the following he moved onto the lots and increased his circus and his sales. Between the high trapeze acts of the death-defying Devoreau, the amiable clowns passed among the audience and delivered to eager upraised hands the soaps and liniments and remedies that the eloquence of the young doctor recommended so persuasively.

His fortune grew in leaps and bounds, he says, until he found that it was necessary to quit the road and enter the manufacturing end to supply his trade.

A large painting of a coal-black mare is among the treasures that decorate the building of the downtown apartment. It is a picture of Dolly, the mare that drew the first wagon carrying the traveling doctor and his show along the roads that led to villages and towns and through the cities to the lots where from its upraised sides he looked upon his audiences with entertaining smile.

Dolly knew what rewards a grateful master could afford a good servant. When age blinded the faithful Dolly, she was retired and pensioned with a life of comfort and ease. Not far from the building where now is housed the plant and beautiful abode of its owner is this same wagon, standing uncertainly on its often-renewed rims, and with the prospect of so remaining out of the wind and the rain. The wagon, too, has been pensioned to a life of ease.

For there is nothing for Dolly and her wagon to do. The great painted wagon that was the stage and the stock bearer of the business could carry but a thousandth fraction of the merchandise that fill the floors of the nine-story building that succeeded it.

The few clowns that grimaced and chuckled and tumbled to the delight of the audiences of other days are superseded by the hundreds of serious persons who punch the time clock and at noons calculate such things as profit-sharing and other modern topics of economy and efficiency that would be absolute jargon to the genial buffoons that thought as much of pro-still, though they are not exercised on the corner nor on the lot as they were.

His delight is as of old, in horses and in dogs and in animals generally that are trainable to the performances that caused the eyes of his audiences to pop with wonder in two days of his itinerancy.

His thoroughbred horses and dogs are his prime distraction from the business that they helped him to build. Back of the great building is another in course of construction that will house these friends in quarters that are planned with a special attention to their greatest comfort. His favorites, Bernice B. and Rex Denmark, are the winners of many prizes at local and foreign shows.

Two things—or perhaps a twofold thing—account for the change from the traveling wagon and the circus sale scheme to the plant that holds a value in the hundreds of thousands. They are, first, a terrific intensity put upon the task at hand, even if it be the relating of a humorous story, and, secondly, a complete willingness to consider every detail of a piece of work, or every proposition that is put in front of him even though it be severely tedious, and to make a decision upon it immediately.

He has been making quick decisions that impelled radical moves all his life, and he has not suffered thereby. Never does anything fall from his attention. He can watch a dozen actions and repeat with accuracy the progress and state of each. This knack was undoubtedly developing a laugh as of getting on order.

The only resemblance—the faintest echo of the old days—is afforded by the scene on the employees' floor when the ballroom is filled by the trippers of the light fantastic.

The giving over of this space to the entertainment of his employees is characteristic of the attitude of this beloved employer. An entertainer he is who delights in his task.

He is never absent from the dances or the basket-ball games that are indulged in on that third floor. It is his entertainment to entertain those with whom he works. He is friend and adviser to them as well as companion in their recreation.

The old talents, the old hobbies are not neglected. His oratorical powers, his wit and speech that persuaded crowds that he was their benefactor and that he brought to them the things that were for their good, rest with him oped by watching the up-goings of hands in the flare of the gasoline arcs that lighted the audiences of the roadsides. Never did he miss any.

Dr. Sayman is 63 years old, but he has to insist on this to get credence. He is exceptionally active, directly overrules the work done in the plant and occasionally lures some younger fellow into accepting a challenge to go to the mat with him. He rides and shoots with the avidity that usually is found in the enthusiastic youth many years his junior.

Great good humor, that no annoyance seems to be able to destroy; an aggressive generosity that seeks opportunities to favor his neighbors, a great concern for the welfare of his employees—their comfort, their self-advancement, especially in economy and thrift—are the outstanding characteristics of the man who is uniquely and interestingly self-made.

VOLUNTEER FIREMEN

TO HAVE OUTING

General Electric Boys Plan for an All Day Picnic at Schroeders.

The volunteer fire company of the General Electric works, which aims to have a social event twice a year, will have an all day picnic in Schroeder's grove Sunday and preparations for the event are now in progress. It is proposed to have a feast and possibly two of them, preceded and followed by a program of athletic sports, including races, jumping, horse shoe pitching, laying of hose and throwing of weights. At the main dinner Robert Ormiston will officiate as toastmaster and responses to calls for speeches will be made by the leading orators in the ranks. The firemen will go to the grove in automobiles. "If the weather is favorable, we expect to have one of the jolliest outings in our history," said one of the firemen.

TROOPS PASS THROUGH CITY.

Two Train Loads Eastbound and One Westbound.

Three train loads of national guards passed through the city today. The first was a regiment of Ohio national guards from Cleveland and Columbus, who were delivered to the Wabash at New Haven by the Nickel Plate and will be taken by the former road to Hannibal and turned over to a southern line. There were twenty cars in this train. The other two trains had fourteen cars each and carried the First national guards of New Jersey, who are returning from the Mexican border. Officers and privates in this regiment numbered 852. These soldiers, were handled by the Wabash from Kansas City to Fort Wayne, where they were turned over to the Pennsylvania and are being taken to their destination. The trains were held in Peru three hours this morning while repairs to the cars were made. The first passed through the city at 12:25 o'clock and was followed fifteen minutes later by the second train. A special westbound train over the Nickel Plate passed through the city at an early hour this morning. It carried the Chicago civilians who had been on a military tour east and stopped for training at Plattsburg, N. Y.

MAKES LAST TRIP MONDAY

The "Pond Lily" Train to Be Taken Out of Service.

Next Monday morning, when the "pond Lily," as the Rome City cottagers' train is called, comes down from the resort, it will have completed its services for the summer of 1916. The crew, which is composed of Conductor C. E. Loneragan, Engineer Frank Nikolai, Fireman O. F. Garretson, Baggageman W. L. Barber and Brakeman J. E. Ahern, will be assigned to other runs on the G. R. & I., which may result in several re-signments. The past year has been one of the most successful for the "pond Lily," which always carried a good crowd to and from the resort.

TWO ENGINES DISABLED.

Two engines were damaged in a side-swiping collision in the Nickel Plate yards this morning. One of the engines, No. 291, which was about to take the Knox local freight out, was badly damaged and will have to go to the Story Island shops. The other locomotive, No. 10, engaged in yard work, had a cylinder head craved in and was otherwise damaged about the front, but repairs will be made here. The accident delayed the departure of the local freight until another engine could be fired up and made ready for the trip.

GENE POTTER INJURED.

Gene Potter, a machinist, sustained a most painful wound on the cheek yesterday, when a block of steel used in the hydraulic press flew out from the machine and struck him. The wound, a three-cornered cut, was at the side of the nose and extended to the bone. Dr. F. J. Schulz, who attended the unfortunate man, had to take a number of stitches in closing it. Mr. Potter will be off duty a week or so as a result of the accident.

SECTION MEN SCARCE.

Three or four weeks ago an incident occurred on the Nickel Plate which illustrated the scarcity of common labor in this vicinity. The eight Macedonians who comprised the working force of district No. 72, Nickel Plate maintenance of way department, became peeved over something and quit work. Since then Foreman E. Dufelson has been endeavoring to get another force together, but up to the present has succeeded in securing only three men.

NOBLE OUT OF HOSPITAL.

After a week in the hospital with injured eyes, the result of getting cinders in them, William H. Noble, the retired Pennsylvania machinist, is around as usual. Mr. Noble recently returned from a two months' trip to the west, where he visited a brother in Vancouver and another brother at Clarke, Wis. It was while on his way home that his eyes were injured.

MANY ATTENDED FUNERAL.

It was stated this afternoon that practically every Nickel Plate engineer, fireman, conductor, brakeman and yardman in good health and able to get leave of absence was at the funeral of the late Engineer Ed F. Wolf today. Many more would have been there were it possible for them to get away from their work. Engineer Wolf was very popular with his friends.

OLD SHOPMAN RETIRES.

Machinist George McGowan has resigned his position with Foreman Charles Brenner, of the General Electric works. He has decided to quit work at his trade and will leave in a day or two for Detroit to make his home with his daughter. Mr. McGowan was employed at the General Electric works

HANDLING TWO CARNIVALS

Carnival shows that had been holding forth at Van Wert and at Bucyrus, Ohio, on the Pennsylvania, moved today, making lots of business for the baggage department of the Pennsylvania, and also some passenger business. Fairs were in progress at both Van Wert and Bucyrus and each had the usual number of carnival features.

CAPTURED A BADGER.

Baggage men at the New York Central station were greatly surprised this morning when a live badger was unloaded from train No. 1. The animal was captured near Pleasant Lake, Ind. It was sent here in a wire cage. One of its eyes had been put out, presumably in the struggle which led to its capture.

BENSMAN ENTERTAINS EMPLOYEES

William H. Bensman, president of the Diester Concentrator company, whose works are located on High street, was host to a good portion of the employees at his cottage at Barbee Lake yesterday. The day was spent in fishing and swimming and proved most enjoyable to all.

TO RETURN TO SCHOOL.

Wm. Strawbridge, who has been working as clerk at the Bass works during the summer, has resigned his position and is preparing to return to New York city, where he is taking an accounting course in the college of New York.

PENNSY SHOP OUTPUT.

Eight engines were repaired and sent out of the erecting shop at the Pennsylvania during the past week. The engines made ready for service were Nos. 7654, 9044, 7471, 7730, 9048, 9409, 9990 and G. R. & I engine No. 102.

LOOKING AFTER COMMITTEE WORK

Conductor J. S. Habacher, Conductor N. S. Patton and Brakeman J. M. Joseph, who are on the B. R. T. committee of adjustment on the Nickel Plate, are off duty looking after committee work.

MACHINERY FOR EXPORT.

A car load of machinery for export to Spain is about to leave the General Electric works for New York. It includes dynamos and all the appurtenances.

INDUSTRIAL NOTES.

W. Horning, fireman on the Pennsylvania, is sick and off duty. Nickel Plate Conductor Frank A. Clippinger is sick and off duty.

Nickel Plate Conductor T. H. Gallivan is taking a lay off to look after private business.

C. D. Fry, a blacksmith helper at the Pennsylvania shops, is off duty because of sickness.

F. E. Miller, a boilermaker at the Pennsylvania shop, is off duty because of sickness.

C. McConnell, a blacksmith helper at the Pennsylvania shops, is off duty on account of sickness.

C. Bahlinger, a machinist at the Pennsylvania shops, is unable to report for work because of sickness.

L. Arens is a new machinist helper at the Pennsylvania erecting shop. He formerly worked as a painter.

G. J. Burlage, of the Pennsylvania, in the machine shop night force, is off duty because of sickness.

R. L. Case has been given employment as crane director in the Pennsylvania machine shop.

L. L. Lehman and C. Fox are new men in the Pennsylvania machine shop. They will be employed as helpers.

J. G. Doriot, a cab builder at the Pennsylvania shops, is off duty because of sickness.

Pennsylvania Engineer W. Beck is unable to report for his run on account of sickness.

G. L. Liggett, yard engineer for the Pennsylvania, will leave soon on a two weeks' trip through the east.

E. O. Miller, an engineer on the Pennsylvania road, is off duty because of sickness.

H. H. Johnson, a blacksmith at the Pennsylvania shop, has resigned his position and has accepted employment as an electrical wire.

Paul Shivers, an engineer in the small motor department at the General Electric works, has started on a vacation of two weeks.

H. Rehling, of the small motor engineering department at the General Electric works, is confined to his home by a severe case of tonsillitis.

W. Large has resigned his position in the auto starter department at the General Electric works and will return to Purdue university to continue his studies.

Nickel Plate Brakeman E. M. McCulloch, off duty for several days on account of the serious illness of his wife, resumed work this morning. Mrs. McCulloch is improving.

H. Guehling has been given employment in the general test department at the General Electric works. He is a student at Purdue, but will not return to school this year.

F. Morning, a machinist in the Pennsylvania tool room, will leave tomorrow with his wife for a trip of a week through the east. They will stop at Pittsburgh, Buffalo and Niagara Falls.

Karl Schaefer, of the small motor engineering department at the General Electric works, is enjoying a vacation of two weeks, which he is spending in visiting with relatives out of the city.

D. W. Merchant, who is taking the students' course at the General Electric works, has just been transferred from the transformer department to the general testing room. He is a Purdue graduate.

Mr. Guehling, a Purdue student, has given up the idea of attending the university this winter. Instead he will remain in the testing department of the General Electric works and complete his university term later.

The Nickel Plate yards at Bellevue are to be extended to meet the requirements of the increasing business. The improvements will involve the building of two tracks, the work of which was begun some time ago and then suspended.

At the next meeting of the Bartenders Local No. 303, the proposal to increase the new entrance fee for membership from $15 to $25 will be submitted, and with the approval of the union will doubtless go into effect early in October.

President Al Lamont, of the Bartenders

FALL SUITS

For Men and Boys

Just a thought for you to think about. We have received and marked during the past three weeks men's, boys' and children's new fall clothing amounting to over $80,000. Don't you think we will have the suit you want? Don't you think we will have the right prices? We surely could not sell all these fine clothes if we did not make it an object for you to buy here.

union, has returned from Loon lake, where he spent the past week on vacation. Mrs. Lamont and her sister accompanied him.

District Passenger Agent W. H. Shorey, of the Wabash, is with the Ohio national guards, twenty-third regiment, on their westward journey and will go as far as Hannibal with them. The train passed through Fort Wayne at 8 o'clock this morning.

A Marks, formerly of Palmyra, Mich., and R. Dressler, formerly with the Perfection Biscuit company, took employment with Foreman Clarence Lophshire in the finishing department of the General Electric works this morning.

Mrs. G. W. Dossie, wife of the Wabash engineer, and her children, are at a lake near Rogers City, fishing and boating and "having a good time," as they say in cards to friends in the city.

Charles Bente, a painter at the General Electric works, is sick and off duty.

General Foreman Hoffman, of the testing department of the General Electric works, resumed that duty this morning, after a ten days' absence spent at Monterey and at Cedar Point. At the latter place Mr. Hoffman attended the convention of the Knights of Columbus.

Fred G. Duryce, of the General Electric works, continues to make progress towards recovery from a surgical operation and is now able to sit up. The operation was severe and for a while it was feared would result fatally, but all danger has passed and Mr. Duryce will be at work again in a few weeks.

THE DAY ON WALL STREET.

New York, Sept. 8.—Investment stocks led the market to higher levels at today's active opening, accompanied by the metal group and paper. Reading rose a point, with as much for Union Pacific and Norfolk and Western. New York Central and Erie were in fair demand. American Smelting and Inspiration were the conspicuous features among the coppers, the former gaining about two points. Shipping shares also improved. Pacific Mail leading the move in that quarter. International Paper preferred rose over four points, with two for Union Bag and Paper preferred, United States Steel came forward later with more and stilled issues.

LOCAL WHEAT PRICES SAME AS THURSDAY

There is so much speculation in wheat that it is utterly impossible to tell what prices will be paid from one day to another, declared a local dealer Friday. The price is just as liable to be down Saturday as it is to be up. As a matter of fact there is no telling. Local dealers Friday paid $1.43, the same as on Thursday.

The price of other grains remain practically the same, except that there is a slight increase in rye. For rye local dealers are paying from $1 to $1.10.

CHICAGO GRAIN AND PROVISIONS.

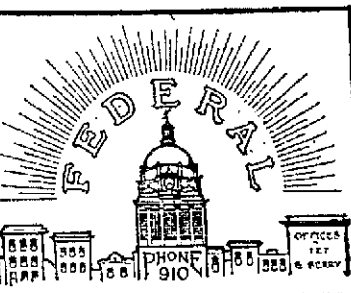

Chicago, Sept. 8.—Lower quotations today tended to weaken the wheat market here. The prospect of a bullish crop report from Washington this afternoon formed something of a handicap for the bears but confidence in values was seriously disturbed by Liverpool reports of a strike of mill operatives. Opening prices, which ranged from 1c off to 1/2c up, with December at $1.53 1/2 to $1.54, and May at $1.54 1/2 to $1.55 1/2, were followed by slight gains but then a moderate setback all around.
Corn eased off with wheat. After opening 1/2c lower to 1/2c advance the market displayed a general inclination to sag. Liberal buying for a large export concern strengthened oats.
Provisions gave way with hogs.

OPERATORS TRAVEL

17 MILES EACH DAY

Elevator Captains in the Shoaff Building Take Journey Daily.

Traveling 45,000 feet into the air and then 45,000 feet back again, or a total distance of 90,000 feet, nearly seventeen miles, is quite a trip to take every day in the year. No aviator or balloonist has ever been able to attain this altitude, yet in the city of Fort Wayne there are two persons known to nearly every business man, who make the trip daily.

Men who go up in the air either do it for pleasure but usually for a large sum of money. Yet these two men are not doing it for either one of the two above mentioned reasons. However, they are making their livelihood by this means.

Perhaps some have grasped the wrong idea that these two men make this sensational climb of 45,000 feet in one stretch. This is a false impression. They never get any higher than ninety feet from the ground. When they get up ninety feet they return to the ground and then repeat the operation.

The two men referred to are J. L. Dupee and George Wilson, the dusky gentlemen who are captains, first mates and entire crew of the two liners that ply alternately between the first and ninth floors of the Shoaff building at Calhoun and Berry streets.

By actual count these two young men make an average of 500 trips a day. The distance from the first floor to the ninth floor is ninety-one feet. Multiplication of these two figures will give you the above named space through which the two men travel each day.

One day, not very long ago, each elevator boy furnished himself with a pencil sharpened on both ends and a large supply of white paper when they started to work one morning. Every trip they made they counted the number of passengers they carried and recorded the number. By evening they were forced to look up a friend who was the owner of an adding machine because the list was too long to add without the aid of the mechanical device. The adding machine therefore, is accountable for the fact that during that day the two men carried a total of 6,346 passengers.

Net All Sunshine.

George and Dupee, as the two men are familiarly known, wish to say that the life of an elevator man is not what it is cracked up to be. They say it looks easy and all that, but when you get down and try to do it yourself, it is altogether a different problem.

"We have to cater to all classes of people," one of them stated. "Some are jolly, while others are very hard to please. Men who reside in larger cities expect us to give them the same kind of service they get in New York city, or Pittsburg, or Chicago, where they have hydraulic elevators and can go forty-five stories in twenty seconds, the time it takes us to go the nine stories here. Of course they get peeved because we give them such slow service when it is not our fault.

"Another thing we have to contend with is the fact that when a person wants to go up or down and are in a hurry and we do not happen to get there just as soon as they would like us to, they take their spite out on the buzzer and indicator. When we do get there we are met with a mouthful of unpleasant remarks.

ENVIRONMENT GUARANTEED IN LAFAYETTE PLACE

Few additions in this section of the country which are selling at the prices put on Lafayette Place lots are guaranteed the environment which is assured this tract by the restrictions that have been placed upon it. No building may be constructed in any part of this addition costing less than $2,500, and in certain portions of it homes may not be constructed for less than $3,500, and in still other parts the minimum cost is placed at $4,500. These restrictions, together with the restrictions referring to building lines on each and every lot, and the elimination of all features which might lower the character of a neighborhood, promise homes of a high quality for Lafayette Place, and as a consequence the addition is proving exceedingly popular. For further particulars, see the Wildwood Sales company, Shoaff building—Advertisement.

"Some people get the idea that they own the elevator, or apparently it seems so. They ring for the elevator and when it stops on the floor where they are they put one foot in on the elevator and keep the other one on the outside and finish a conversation with some one else in the hallway. Of course, all we can do is wait until they finish. We could not start because if we did we would be liable to be up at the next session of court on a charge of involuntary manslaughter.

"The sudden stops and jars cause us to get an awful headache at the close of the day's work. Sometimes when we finish we are so nervous we really do not know what we are doing.

Hands No Longer Mates.

"The opening and closing of the large sliding doors have caused our hands to wear down, so that now after three years of work our hands look as though they are not mates."

The man with the pencil and pad in his hand stood behind the elevator boy and made several trips up and down. "What do you do when somebody gets sore when they do not get the kind of service they would like to have?" he inquired.

"Well, I tell you," he said, turning half way round on his chair and stopping at the next floor right flush with the doorway, "we try to give the best service we can. However, we have heard so much grumbling that we have gotten used to it."

As the reporter stepped from the elevator, one of the captains of the liners said, "Well, you can tell them for me, that the life of an elevator man is not what it is cracked up to be," and the click of the catch on the door was the signal that he was on his way to the ninth floor.

London's metropolitan police area has 7,600,000 population.

Brass Buttons for School Frocks.

BY BETTY BROWN.

This Military Little Maid is very proud of her brass buttons and her pockets. Both brass buttons and pockets are seen on many of the dresses for school wear. This little frock is made of plaid suiting with collar of white pique. The pockets and belt are bound with white.

Harvard university, having observed that 117 of its 175 instructors wear mustaches, concludes that the mustachio be trays brains in the wearer.

LESSON FOR SEPTEMBER 10

THE ARREST OF PAUL

LESSON TEXT—Acts 21:27-40.
GOLDEN TEXT—"Thou shalt be a witness for him unto all men of what thou hast seen and heard."—Acts 22:15.

No study of the book of Acts is complete unless the teacher impresses upon his pupils the opportunities for living the Christian life in the normal environment of the home or school, at work or play. Deep interest attaches to every detail leading up to Paul's visit to Rome. Therefore let the teacher trace Paul's journey from Miletus to Jerusalem, which occupied about four weeks, and took place in the early part of the year A. D. 57.

1. The Arrival (vv. 17-26). The Spirit revealed to the disciples and to prophets that if Paul went to this city he would be in great danger, and the Spirit was not forbidding but only teaching him for he knew Paul had a great work to do in Jerusalem, and that he only could do it. Everywhere Paul went he "searched for" (v. 7) disciples, with whom he tarried and whom he enlightened in the way of truth. Arriving in Jerusalem, he appears to have made his home with Mnason, outside of the crowded city, thus being less exposed to danger and finding a place of rest. At a public reception (v. 18) Paul reports of his work, and no doubt he laid his strongest emphasis on what God had wrought through him, among the churches of Asia. The leaders of the Jerusalem church received the gifts Paul brought from the Gentile churches, glorified God for what he had accomplished, but saw clearly that, to accomplish his statesmanlike purpose, something must be done to make clear that the false reports as to Paul's teaching were discredited (vv. 20-22). They therefore resorted to diplomacy (vv. 23-26). To the many thousands of Jews gathered on this festival occasion in the city, some of whom were zealous for the law, they declared first that Paul taught all the Jews which were among the Gentiles not to forsake Moses; second, that he had not taught them not to walk after the customs of Moses. The facts were Paul obeyed the Jewish ceremonial laws personally, as a matter of race, not as a condition of salvation.

2. The Arrest (vv. 27-30). Paul's attempt at conciliation resulted not in peace but in more discord. Every true servant of God is sure to be misrepresented, and it will not do always to attempt to set straight all the lies that are told about him. God will take care of the lies and of our reputations. Most of the charges that men, even Christians, bring against one another are based upon "supposition" (v. 29). It was not a new experience for Paul to be mobbed. As the maddened Jews dragged him out of the temple he must have recalled the treatment of Stephen in which he, himself, had had a hand (7:57, 58). How frequent it is that we, ourselves, are in due time treated in the same way in which we have treated others (Gal. 6:7). It was the intention of the Jews to kill Paul at once without a trial (28:14, 15). They fancied they were doing God's service (John 8:12). This lesson is a striking example of the utter folly and wickedness of mob law. Paul's time had not yet come, and all the mobs on earth could not kill him until God permitted it.

3. The Arrangement (vv. 37-40). Tidings of the riot came to the chief captain, equivalent to our colonel (Acts 23:26). Paul was bound with two chains, one from each of his arms to a soldier, secured, yet left free to walk with his guards, thus fulfilling the prophecy of Agabus (v. 21). Mobs usually have great respect for soldiers, for they are inwardly cowardly. No sooner was Paul on the stairs which led to the top of the fortress than the mob, afraid that they were about to be balked of their vengeance, made a mad rush at him, with cries of "Kill him; kill him!" and Paul, unable in his fettered condition to steady himself, was carried off his feet and hurried off in the same path his Master had trod (John 19:15) and he was again to hear that cry (Ch. 22:22). During all this tumult Paul had but one thought, how he might witness for his Master, and bring some of his blinded accusers to a saving knowledge of Christ. Thus it was that he asked for the privilege of speaking, and most courteously did he make his request. He spoke to the captain in the Greek tongue, not in Hebrew, and great was the surprise of the captain.

Practical Application. When we are attacked, no matter for what cause, if we confidently look for deliverance and exercise self-control, God will take care of us.

Such conduct is disconcerting to our enemies.

Diplomacy is often dangerous and misunderstood.

Circumstantial evidence is never of great value.

There is, however, a desirable form of diplomacy as when Paul addressed the soldiers in his native tongue.

Paul's principle was in essentials, firmness; in non-essentials, liberty.

STATE PARDON BOARD FACES BIG SESSION

Sixty-Nine Cases Set Down
for Hearing Beginning
September 25.

Indianapolis, Sept. 8.—Eighteen new cases will be presented to the state board of pardons when it meets Sept. 25. Cases of four life-term applicants, who formerly were refused, will be reopened, and forty-seven continued cases are set to come up for consideration. One man serving a life sentence for murder and one serving a sentence of from two to twenty years for manslaughter are in the list of new cases. In all, sixty-nine cases will come before the board. The board will be in session through Sept. 27.

Clarence Parker, sentenced for life in Henry county, April 2, 1913, for the murder of Irvin White, at Richmond, will ask for a commutation to two to twenty years for manslaughter. It appears in a letter written to the board by his attorney, D. C. Hartan, of Richmond, that White and Parker were unknown to each other and that they had a fight as a result of a quarrel after a game of cards in a saloon, where both men had been drinking. White died from fractures of the skull received in the fight when Parker kicked him.

Petition Received.
The letter maintains that the fatality resulted from no deliberate attempt at murder, but that it was an accidental occurrence and that the prisoner should have been convicted on a manslaughter charge instead of murder. A petition signed by a large number of Richmond citizens has been received at the office of the board.

Antonio Mendes, a Brazilian gypsy, seeks an unconditional pardon so that he may return to his native country. Mendes was sentenced to serve two to fourteen years in the state prison for manslaughter committed in Elkhart county. He was convicted of the charge of killing a gypsy woman following an inter-tribal war.

Ethan A. Dausman, Goshen, attorney for Mendes, asserts in a letter to the board that two tribes of gypsies had united near Goshen and four days later celebrated the union by a feast at which barrels of beer and whisky played a large part. A general fight followed the festivities and one woman, of the Mendes tribe, and two sons of Mendes were shot. Mendes, himself, was stabbed in the thigh. The woman and one of the sons died a few days later.

Will Leave Country.
Although the woman killed was of

Mendes' tribe, and although Mendes had called the sheriff to the scene, his conviction for the death followed vigorous efforts on the part of the opposing tribe. Others under arrest were dismissed. Dausman writes that Mendes has a wife and three children, and that he will leave the country for his native land if released.

The other new cases are as follows:
Rurt Dickey, sentenced from Vigo county, Jan. 7, 1916, one to eight years, Indiana reformatory, for receiving stolen goods.

Garland Milligan, Howard county, May 26, 1914, one to eight years, reformatory, petit larceny.

Stanley Lonsberry, Perry county, Nov. 10, 1915, two to fourteen years, reformatory, horse stealing.

Charles Kahn, Wabash county, Sept. 16, 1914, two to fourteen years, reformatory, burglary.

Howard Williams, Wabash county, Sept. 16, 1914, two to fourteen years, reformatory, burglary.

Alva Christian, Deatur county, Jan. 4, 1915, two to fourteen years, reformatory, forgery.

Sentence Revoked.
Elmer Sweeney, Deatur county, March 30, 1915, one to eighteen years, reformatory, petit larceny. Sentence suspended. Sentence revoked in February, when he was arrested on a charge of stealing from a box car.

Clyde Gibson, Grant county, five to fourteen years, reformatory, robbery.

Harry Miller, Tippecanoe county, Nov.

24, 1915, one to fourteen years, reformatory, grand larceny.

John Nichols, Tippecanoe county, Nov. 24, 1916, one to fourteen years, reformatory, grand larceny.

Alva Harshman, Warren county, May 2, 1916, one to eight years, state prison, larceny.

George Davidson, Jefferson county, July 1, 1915, two to fourteen years, state prison, forgery.

Floyd Black, Greene county, ten to twenty years, state prison, burglary.

Jacob Smith, Marion county, Nov. 10, 1915, 200 days, penal farm.

Frank Zatlun, Marion county, June 1, 1916, nine months and $100 fine, penal farm, petit larceny.

Robert Brackett, Marion county, June 1, 1916, one to fourteen years, state prison, larceny.

Reopened Cases.
The reopened cases are as follows:

David Duncan, Shelby county, April 17, 1909, for life, state prison; murder.

Rufus Warren, Madison county, April 4, 1911, for life, state prison; murder.

John Manzy, Kosciusko county, Nov. 6, 1905, for life, state prison; murder.

Harry Temple, Marion county, July 31, 1915, two to twenty-one years, state prison; subornation of perjury.

The continued cases are as follows:

William A. Adams, Sullivan county, April 20, 1899, for life, state prison, murder.

John James, Montgomery county, Dec. 19, 1905, for life, state prison, murder.

John DeBoard, Davies county, Jan. 21, 1907, for life, state prison, murder.

Forty-one other continued cases may receive attention at the September term if there is time for their consideration.

WOULD MAKE PARK OF INDIANA SAND DUNES

Resolution by Taggart to Pave Way for Federal Action.

Washington, Sept. 8.—Paving the way toward possible acquisition of the sand dunes of northern Indiana for a national park, the senate yesterday adopted the following resolutions offered by Senator Taggart:

"Resolved, that the secretary of the interior be and is hereby directed to investigate and report to congress at its next session, the advisability of securing by purchase or otherwise all that portion of the counties of Lake, Laporte and Porter, in the state of Indiana, bordering upon Lake Michigan and commonly known as the sand dunes, with a view that such lands may be created a national park.

"Resolved, further, that the said secretary shall also report the cost of acquiring such lands and the probable expense of maintaining them as a part of the national park system."

Action by the house on the resolution was not required and the report will be made by the secretary of the interior to the senate.

In putting this resolution through Taggart went contrary to the advice of Senator Stone and other old senators, who said it could not be done. Taggart interrupted Senator Sherman, of Illinois, in the midst of a speech to offer the resolution and ask for its immediate consideration. Senator Smoot, of Utah, inquired whether the resolution carried an appropriation and when informed it did not he made no objection to immediate action.

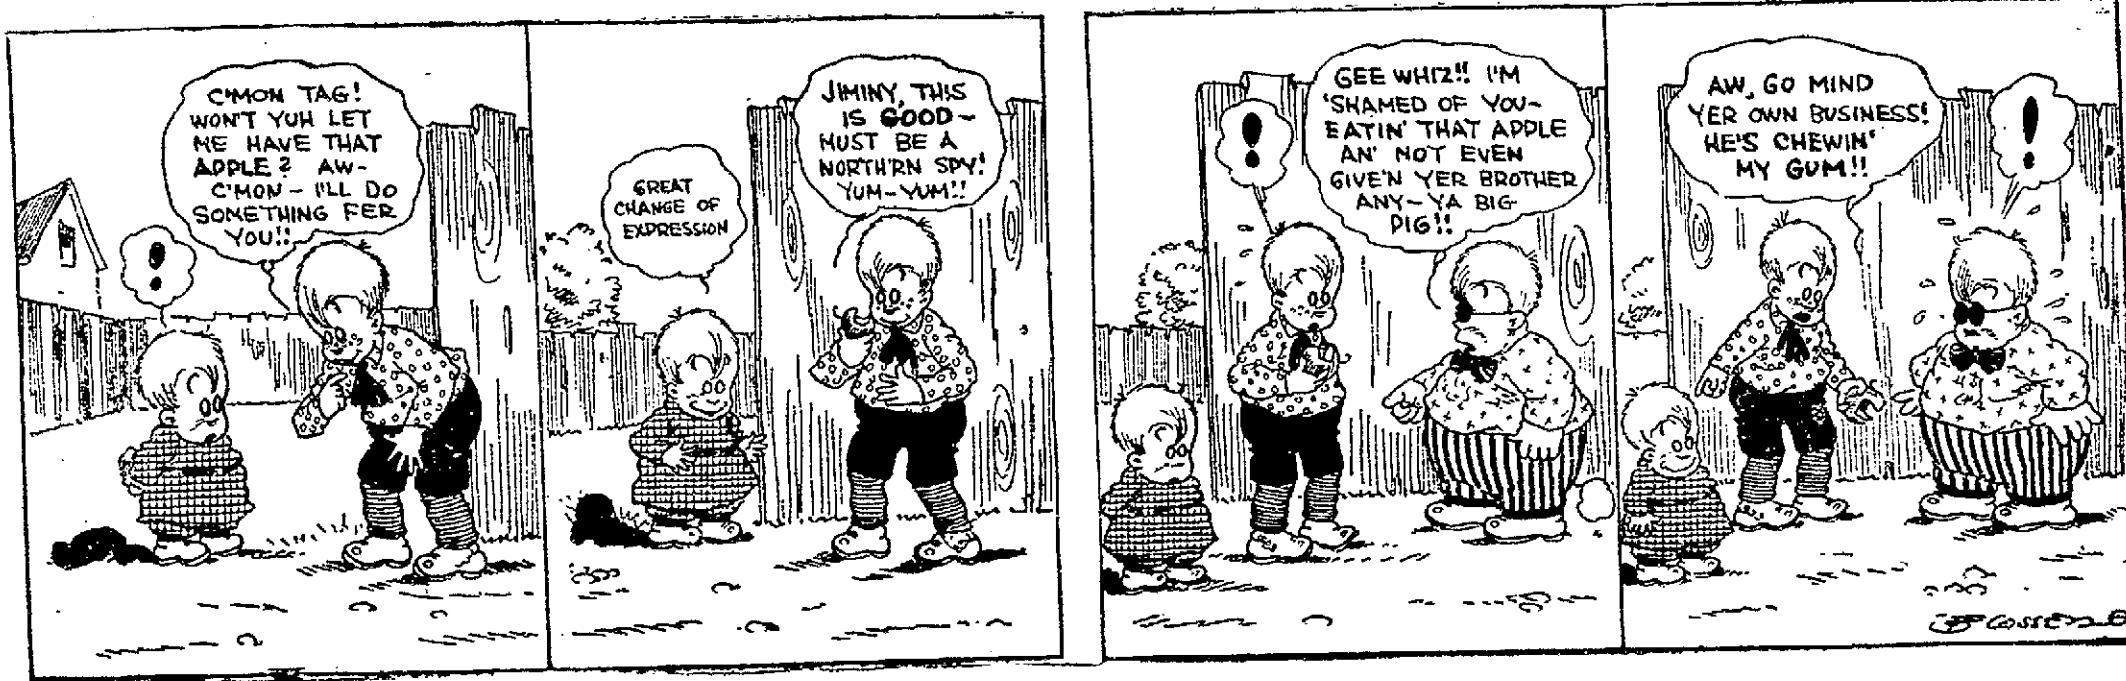

ROUND HOUSE WRECKED

One of the big engines of the N. Y. C. caught on a stall gate yesterday as it was being moved from the round house in the north side and completely wrecked the building. The roof fell on the engine, but hostler John Chandler was protected by the cab and was not injured. Foreman George Martin and Mechanists Leonard Hutson and Gill Chandler, who had been at work in the building, had just left when the crash came. Three other locomotives were in the round house and were covered with debris, but no damage to them occurred. The building was old and the damage was only a few hundred dollars.

from this hopeless existence. And of those few nearly all come back again to the reservation and the blanket.
 "I suppose," he went on, "it is the call of the blood. The overwhelming homesickness that causes us to return to the things we knew as children, to the old folks.
 "The outside, with its strange bustle, frightens and confuses us."

Alert, vigorous, ambitious, Peter went to Carlisle at the age of 11 with several other native Alaska school boys. It required courage.

"I had to fight my own mother to go," he explained, defiantly slitting a cod. "My people said I was headed straight for perdition. The village was shocked. The church frowned upon my going. My relatives felt I was turning my back on them. It was not easy."

"I spent five years at Carlisle. Then I worked in a San Francisco commission house. I was making good. And it was a fine, splendid life, this new one in the big, busy world."

"But then that terrible homesickness came upon me. It was too strong to resist—and here I am, trying to eke out

 Peter has found his old world closed against him.
 "Why," he lamented, "I had even forgotten the language of my mother. I can't speak her tongue, and she doesn't know mine. She looks at me so pathetically—trying to find in me the boy that left her at 11. It is hard, for I love her. And this is part of what it means to climb to new levels, to step from the barabara toward the skyscraper."
 Peter is going outside again this fall. "And that means I shall never come back here again," he said. "For one thing, if no other, 'it is hard, for I show these other youngsters here that we can crawl up out of this miserable existence and stay up. We older fellows have a solemn duty to perform—no matter how much it hurts."

Bloomington, Ind., Sept. 8.—Bloomington, the seat of Indiana university, voted yesterday to remain in the dry column, giving a majority of 388 against saloons, the largest margin ever recorded in a local option election in the city. The figures were larger than even the dyes expected and were a great disappointment to the wets, who claimed a victory last night on the showing of their poll. The wets carried only two precincts, and those by greatly reduced majorities as compared with two years ago. The only way the wets could explain the result was by saying they had failed to get out their vote.

 The "College Hill" precinct in the Third ward showed a falling off of about sixty in the vote because so many Indiana university faculty men and resident students are on their vacations. Virtually all of these were expected to vote dry.

YOUNG COUPLE ELOPE.

Van Wert, Ohio, Sept. 8.—Kerns W. Wright, a former deputy recorder of Van Wert county, whose home was then in Delphos, was one of the principals of an automobile elopement, with Miss Margaret Gardner, also of Delphos, the second party. Wright, who is now employed as a buying agent for the Continental Cement company, with headquarters in St. Louis, went to Tovey, Ill., where his bride was appearing as a goddess of liberty in a pantomime show being conducted by her father, George A. Gardner, of Delphos. They had long been sweethearts, but fearing that the girl's parents might fear the breaking up of their show, the young people took Father Gardner's automobile, drove to Taylorville, Ill., and were married at the Presbyterian manse. The bride will remain with her parents until the close of the season and after October 1 will be at home with her husband in apartments in St. Louis.

WILL MOVE TO DECATUR.

Decatur, Ind., Sept. 8.—J. S. Hines has sold his undertaking establishment to Samuel E. Black, former partner, who retired from the business only a few weeks ago when he sold his holdings to Mr. Hines. Mr. Black has now formed a partnership with Murray Scherer, of Decatur, and will move the equipment from this city to Decatur, where the newly formed partnership will engage in the undertaking business. The equipment is to be shipped to Decatur at once. Mr. Black came here from Bryant, where he was at one time engaged in the hardware and implement business. Mr. Hines has not yet announced his future intentions.

appropriation of $45,000 asked for by the commissioners of Dekalb county for a new structure. This money will become available early next year and the work on the construction of the new building can start early in the spring. Dekalb county has needed a new jail for a number of years but the commissioners have felt that they could get along with the old building until a new one could be constructed without imposing an additional burden on the taxpayers.

WELL CONDUCTED COUNTY.

Warsaw, Ind., Sept. 8.—W. A. Marsh and T. D. Barry, state accountants, have completed examinations of the records in Kosciusko county, and they said yesterday that in no county of Indiana have they found county affairs administered with as much economy as here. They said the county tax rate of 19.9 cents is the lowest in any county in which they have worked, and in spite of this low rate the county has no outstanding debts and has a balance of more than $62,000.

HURT IN RUNAWAY.

Montpelier, Ind., Sept. 8.—Andy Rapp, well known butcher, and brother of George Rapp, ex. of Hartford City, was badly injured when the horse frightened as Mr. Rapp was stepping into his buggy at the Rapp slaughter house, north of here. Two wheels of the vehicle passed over Mr. Rapp. The attending physicians said it would take twenty-four hours' time to determine the extent of his injuries.

HOSPITAL PLAN REJECTED.

Huntington, Ind., Sept. 8.—The five democrats who comprise a majority of the county council voted against including the appropriation for the new county hospital and against including the levy of the commissioners in their levy for taxes to be collected next year. The two republican members of the council voted to make the appropriation and include the levy of the commissioners in the ordinance to be passed by the council.

DIVORCE SUITS DISMISSED.

Huntington, Ind., Sept. 8.—The divorce suit of Ross Curley against Gertrude J. Curley was dismissed in circuit court yesterday at the plaintiff's costs. The divorce suit of Debbie A. Barradall against Norbline E. Barradall was dismissed at the defendant's costs. The divorce suit of Cora Y. Morris against Clarence Morris was dismissed at the defendant's costs. The suit for support brought by Maggie Davidson against John K. Davidson was dismissed at Davidson's costs.

FORMER SHERIFF DEAD.

Bluffton, Ind., Sept. 8.—William H. Higgins, sheriff of Wells county from 1895 to 1902, died yesterday afternoon at the home of a daughter, Mrs. John Neff. The deceased came here last Monday from Monroe, Wash., where he had been located the past seven years in the lumber business. He complained of being ill, but it was not regarded as serious. Early yesterday he suffered from hemorrhages and sank rapidly.

AUTO IS BADLY DAMAGED.

Hicksville, Ohio, Sept. 8.—An automobile driven by Miss Flora Conley was badly damaged, when near the First National bank corner the engine refused to work and the car began to run down the hill backward. The car struck an iron hitching rack near the city hall and about demolished the body of the rear seat of the machine.

PIONEER PASSES AWAY.

Warsaw, Ind., Sept. 8.—Samuel Huff, 80 years old, died yesterday at his home near Pleasant Grove. Death was due to a complication of diseases. He had been ill for sometime.

RUSSIAN CRIMINALS

FLOCK TO AMERICA

Slav Wolves of the Underworld Posing as War Refugees.

Seattle, Wash., Sept. 1.—Arrival of a number of Petrograd's and Moscow's most desperate criminals in the guise of Russian war refugees has resulted in extra precautions by police and immigration authorities along the entire Pacific coast.

Led by two Slav wolves of the underderworld, an organization of Russian outlaws has just been wiped out in the west after a two years' reign of terror resulting in ten deaths and many wounds.

Banded together to rob banks, 19 Russians secured $22,000 within a few months between British Columbia and Los Angeles, Cal., killed two police officers and wounded four citizens.

In a series of running battles and barricade fights with posses, eight of the bandits were finally killed, seven were captured and four, including the two notorious leaders, escaped.

The last of the arrests and convictions, that of Souloff Aslemdok, recently put the finishing chapter to this reign of imported criminals.

A quarrel in a Slav lodging house here over their spoils led to the capture of half dozen of the most desperate members of the gang by Burns operatives and the police.

Always heavily armed and ready to shoot at the slightest show of resistance, these Russian brigands held life more cheaply than any desperadoes who have recently operated in the west.

It was their practice in holding up banks to intimidate the cashier and tellers by shooting glass windows and counters into silvers, and many a bank clerk today carries the scars of such splinters in his face.

Three of the leaders, who directed the operations of the gang without actual participation in the robberies and shootings, are known to be in the west still. The authorities fear that an attempt is being made now to organize another bandit gang by bringing in from Russia former outlaw associates of the men already here.

That is the tip from the underworld, and that is why the arrival of Russian war refugees is being so closely watched.

FRANCE, NATION OF BEARDS, TO BE BEARLESS; NURSES SHAVE FOR SOLDIERS.

Frenchmen, always proud of their short pointed beards, must have them cut, the government has decreed. They are insubordinate in trenches. So, at least until the end of the war, France will be a beardless nation. The only consolation for soldiers is that, in many cases, Red Cross nurses do the cutting and shaving, as shown in the picture.

Some Petticoat News

A Remarkable Purchase and Sale

Some time ago—before the sharp advance in prices of silks—we contracted with three leading petticoat manufacturers of high grade petticoats for several hundred garments to be made after our own specifications.

The petticoats are now here and are unquestionably the finest lot of choice styles ever shown in Fort Wayne. There are petticoats of every wanted shade and style, some in plain tailored effects, others elaborately trimmed and ruffled, in sizes for misses and matrons. The present vogue calls for a petticoat with every suit and gown. Considering the present condition of the silk market, the prices are remarkably low. We ask you to see the unusual values at

The Ideal Living Room
Furniture of Today

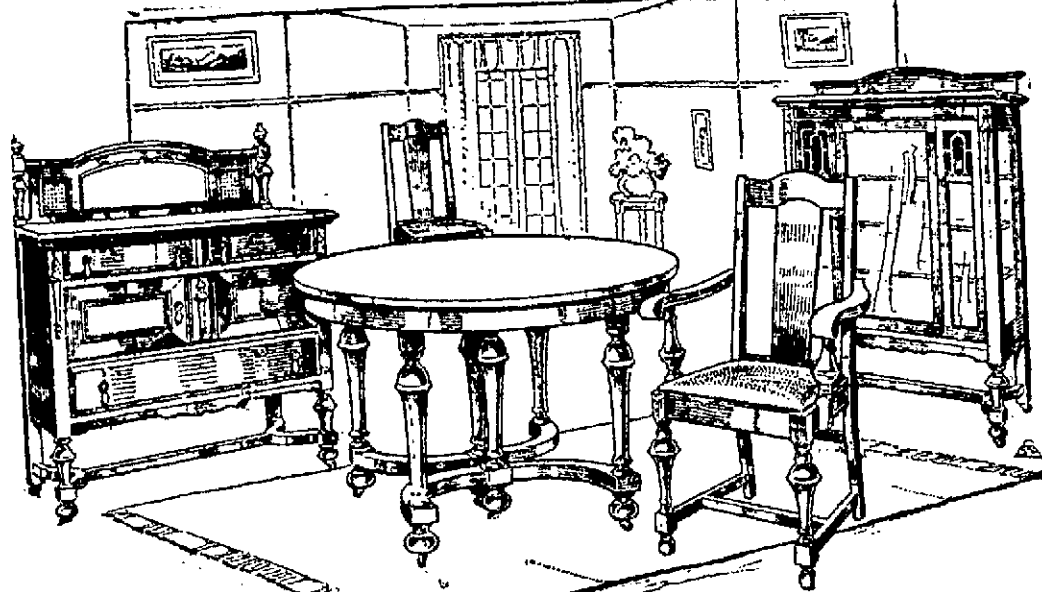

We can safely venture to say that there are more of these living room suites sold today than any other type of furniture for the living room. The reason is very obvious. Not only is this type of furniture more comfortable than the stiff back, spindly variety of former days, but it is also more practical.

Living Room by Day
Bedroom by Night

It's the simplest thing in the world to convert your living room into a bed room with this Duofold outfit. With two slight operations this Divan can be quickly changed into a full-sized bed. They open up into the same sized bed as the bed davenport, except that you lie with your head to the back of the Divan.

Small Deposit Places
Outfit in Your Home

It is our object to prove to the most skeptical that furniture of a high quality can be bought on low credit terms without paying a big profit for the convenience. Did you ever, in all your experience, see a three-piece Duofold outfit of this character selling for less than this special price for cash?

William and Mary $115.00
Period Dining Suite

Including 46-inch Table, Buffet, China Closet, with 5 Chairs and Master Chair. All Leather Upholstered

The Handsomest Design
Of the 1916 Season

This Dining Room Suite is a typical design of the William and Mary period. At the furniture show in July this particular pattern aroused more favorable comment on the part of furniture buyers than any other suite on exhibition.

Upholstered in Genuine Spanish Leather

The five Chairs and Master Chair are upholstered in genuine Spanish leather—the most expensive and the longest wearing leather on the market today. Unlike many of the period styles of today the chairs are absolutely comfortable, too.

Furniture Like This is Good for Generations

Furniture of this character is not only good as long as you will use it, but it will be considered the proper styles when your children are as old as you are now. Period furniture of this quality will never lack favor.

37 HARRISON HILL
HOMES UP TO DATE

At the end of the year of 1915, Hilgemann and Schaaf, in checking up the results of their efforts on Harrison Hill, the delightful new addition just south of Radcliff boulevard, on the west side of Calhoun street, found that twelve homes had either been placed under construction or had been contracted for. At that time they established a quota of twenty-five additional homes in Harrison Hill as the height of their expectations for the year of 1916, and on Wednesday of this week they were delighted to find that this entire quota had been filled, for on that day a contract was let for the 37th home in this addition. With the months of September and October, which are always good real estate months, to go on, it is expected that the number of homes built or contracted for in Harrison Hill at the end of the 1916 season will reach at least forty and possibly forty-five. Further details regarding the development of Harrison Hill may be obtained from Hilgemann and Schaaf in the North America building.—Advertisement.

BASEBALL ATHLETICS

Good Line-Up Named to Play the Westerns in Series.

Capt. Bill Hillinger, of the all-star nine of the shop league, has made his selection for the all-star team that is to face the Western "Gassers" in a post-season series Saturday. The team looks as good as the champions and is featured with players that know baseball and also are good hitting artists. The team as Bill saw it is as follows:

The Western Gas outfit is without a doubt the best amateur team developed around these parts in many seasons. Its members are all hitting kings. The two teams are made up of stars and will give the liveliest game of ball the town has seen for a long time. Capt. Hillinger wishes the players whom he has selected to get in touch with him at once so he may be able to complete his plans for the game. Members of the all-stars are requested to be at Fisher's bath house at 1:30 o'clock Saturday.

PRACTICE BY ARC LIGHTS.

Boston, Mass., Sept. 8.—Arc lights may be placed around the stadium so as to enable Harvard footballers to practice after dusk has fallen.

In former years the workmen of the Crimson footballers have been cut short by darkness. Classes run rather late into the afternoon at the Cambridge institution. That hails the arrival of footballers until nearly twilight.

The athletic authorities will test out within a week or so a system of arc lights to see whether they will furnish enough light at a small cost to warrant their use.

Chicago, Sept. 8.—The annual meeting of the western intercollegiate basketball association will be held in this city at the Auditorium hotel on Saturday, Sept. 16. The program will include schedule making, selection of officials and discussion of rules.

CLEARY IS WAITING FOR SUNDAY TO COME

The Delphos team will find a willing opponent in the Clearyites when it comes to Fort Wayne Sunday afternoon. The team that Matt's prides have to meet is of class and is well known in Fort Wayne. Distel, the old standby, is to pitch for the locals and his side partner, Helne, will backstop for his snouts. "Dummy" Kilian needs no introduction to Fort Wayne because of his popularity with the fans of the town. He is coming ready to show up his old town and to make monkeys of its players if possible. The game will start at 3 o'clock and Farnan will umpire.

SALLEE IS SICK.

New York, Sept. 8.—Slim Sallee, the Giants' big southpaw, is seriously ill with an attack of pneumonia poisoning at his hotel in this city. The pitcher first became aware of the symptoms a day or two ago, and they became so acute Thursday that he was unable to leave the hotel. This is the second time in less than two years that Sallee has suffered from pneumonia poisoning.

STARS BACK IN FOLD.

Chicago, Sept. 8.—Three of last season's players on the Oak Park high school team have announced their intention of serving on the eleven this year. Coach Thistlewaite said Thursday. The players are Gordon Shepherd, captain; Lyman Worthington, tackle, and Raynor Timme, guard.

NEW COACH EMPLOYED.

Monmouth, Ill., Sept. 8.—Coach Herman Stageman, former University of Chicago football star, who is to direct athletics at Monmouth this year, arrived Thursday and announced a football schedule of eight games as follows: Sept. 28, Iowa Wesleyan here; Oct. 6, Penn college at Oskaloosa; Oct. 14, Coe college at Cedar Rapids; Oct. 28, Northwestern college, Naperville, here; Nov. 4, Lombard at Galesburg; Nov. 11, Lake Forest at Lake Forest; Nov. 18, William and Vashit here; Nov. 26, Knox here.

TO LET THEM PARTICIPATE.

St. Louis, Sept. 8.—T. G. Watts, president of the W. A. U., announced that he had received word from the committee of the N. A. U. that they would permit the eight athletes who competed in the recent meet here to compete for honors in the national championship meet at Newark, N. J. The athletes who in all probability will bring honor to the W. A. U. is Bob Simpson, of the University of Missouri, holder of the world's record for the 120 yard high hurdles. The W. A. U. athletes who will compete, are: Bob Simpson, John McCrawley, Irwin Mahl, Floyd, Hickman, Frizzell, Bob Probst and Irwin Biel.

CHANCES ARE SLIM.

St. Louis, Sept. 8.—The chances of the St. Louis Americans for winning the pennant this season are not as bright as present as they were a few days ago, due to the injury of Henry Severoid, the mainstay of the St. Louis catching department. In a recent game with Cleveland, the injury will prove a costly one as Severoid was pounding the ball hard and was putting up a great game behind the bat. Manager Jones undoubtedly will send Catcher Hartley behind the bat in the absence of Severoid.

CAN'T FIND 'EM.

Detroit, Mich., Sept. 8.—Coach Billy Sullivan, of the Detroit Americans, who has been on a scouting trip, returned recently with the information that promising ball players are unusually scarce in the minor leagues this season. Sullivan scoured the country from the New England league to the Pacific coast, and did not make an offer for a single player. He said the pitchers and catchers were the poorest lot he ever looked over.

PRACTICE TO START SOON.

Ann Arbor, Mich., Sept. 8.—Autumn football practice at the University of Michigan will start Tuesday, Sept. 19. Candidates have been invited to report Monday. Four veterans have scholastic deficiencies to clear before they can join the squad. These men are Pat Smith, fullback; Walter Niemann, center; James Whalen, end, and "Fritz" Reher, guard.

WALKED PLANK ROAD.

Kendallville, Ind., Sept. 8.—Which road do you take to Fort Wayne and how many miles is it? Inquired a tourist from Michigan this morning. "Yes, I know it is twenty-eight miles," said a gray-haired man in the rear seat of the automobile, "for years ago I used to walk the plank road several times a week going and coming from Fort Wayne to my home north of here. That has been a long time ago and I had many a wearisome trip."

REV. GRIMES RE-ELECTED.

United Brethren Conference Votes to Retain Superintendent.

Warsaw, Ind., Sept. 8.—Delegates attending the annual session of St. Joseph conference of the United Brethren church here voted almost unanimously for the re-election of Rev. J. E. Grimes of North Manchester, as district superintendent. The following were admitted to the ministry as members of the conference: W. L. Filler, B. F. Feichter, H. B. Cain, J. W. Dickinson, J. P. Helgich and Elmer Reidenbaugh. Addresses were delivered by Bishop H. H. Fout of Indianapolis, Rev. W. E. Schell, secretary of education, and Rev. W. T. Noble and Rev. O. O. Waird.

The wine crop of 1916 in the Grande district of France promises to greatly exceed that of 1915, notwithstanding abnormal labor conditions. The increase is largely due to the favorable weather. In some districts hail has destroyed parts of vineyards, but so far the loss has been inconsiderable.

BOWLING LEAGUE TO BEGIN SEASON OCT. 2

At a meeting held Thursday evening at the Metropolitan alleys the Fort Wayne Industrial bowling league was formed. Rules and by-laws will be considered at a meeting Friday evening, Sept. 22. At this time every club must post $25. Each club will hold a meeting soon to elect a captain who will act for them in future meetings.

The clubs which will compose the league are as follows: Journal-Gazette, Flowers, Duffers, Wayne Oil Tank, Packard, Knoll, Seibold and Blackwell. Terre Haute ... 011002000—4 9 0 and Knoll, Seibold and Blackwell. Batteries—Crum and Wagner; Reiss and Jacobs.

WELSH WANTS TO FIGHT WHITE.
Denver, Col., Sept. 8.—That Freddie Welsh doesn't fear to meet Charley White over any distance is evidenced by the latter offer of Harry Pollok, manager of Welsh, to match the champion against White for a finish fight of "forty-five rounds or more if necessary."

Pollok said the only stipulation would be that Welsh must get the same money for the fight that Willie Ritchie got when he lost the title to Welsh—$25,000. Welsh's manager expressed his willingness to go to South Africa for the fight or to put it up to "Baron" Long, of Los Angeles, to stage the match at Tia Juana. Nate Lewis, White's manager, said that Stokely Smith still had $1,000 of White's forfeit money in his hands and declared that he was ready to let it go as a guarantee of his willingness to make the match, but insisted that the referee be chosen from a list of twelve names to be submitted by him.

Judge Says "Hoosier Schoolmaster" Ought to Know Better.

Chicago, Ill., Sept. 8.—John Osborn smiled. John is a school teacher from Fort Wayne, Ind. When Helen Jackson smiled, Helen is 19 and lives at 2424 Ballou street. Then a copper at Michigan avenue and Van Buren street, smiled. Then the copper arrested John and Helen.

"You should know better," said the judge to John. "Discharged."

"Making eyes on the street again, eh?" said the judge to Helen. "It'll be $19 this time."

City and county school officials do not know a John Osborn. It is barely possible, however, that the teacher referred to in the above dispatch gave a wrong name, but told the truth as to his profession.

WOMAN SUES FOR $15,000.
Bertha E. Hyer Says Anderson Man Jilted Her.

Indianapolis, Ind., Sept. 8.—Bertha E. Hyer, of Cincinnati, O., seeks $15,000 as heart balm in a suit filed in federal court Wednesday against Leopold Gilbert, said to be a wealthy resident of Anderson, Ind. According to the complaint, the defendant promised matrimony her on July 4 last, but has failed to carry out his matrimonial representations to her up to the present date.

The complaint recites that the plaintiff "lost an advantageous matrimonial connection with the defendant, who was and is a man of means and position and her affections have been blighted, her feelings lacerated and her spirits wounded." The marriage was to have taken place at Pittsburg, Pa., and, according to the plaintiff, she had made all preparations for the event.

SWEDAN HAS HARD JOB TO UPHOLD NEUTRALITY

Belligerent Naval Operations in Baltic Keep Swedish Officials on Jump.

Stockholm, Sweden, Aug. 20.—(Correspondence of The Associated Press.)—The fear expressed in government circles here that belligerent naval operations in the Baltic this summer would place a heavy burden upon the neutrality of Sweden seems to have been amply justified by the events of the past few weeks. The Swedish navy, small but efficient, has worked night and day to keep the territorial waters free of infringement, but despite this vigilance submarines and stealthy destroyers of the warring powers have slipped into the three-mile limit and stolen away with a prize.

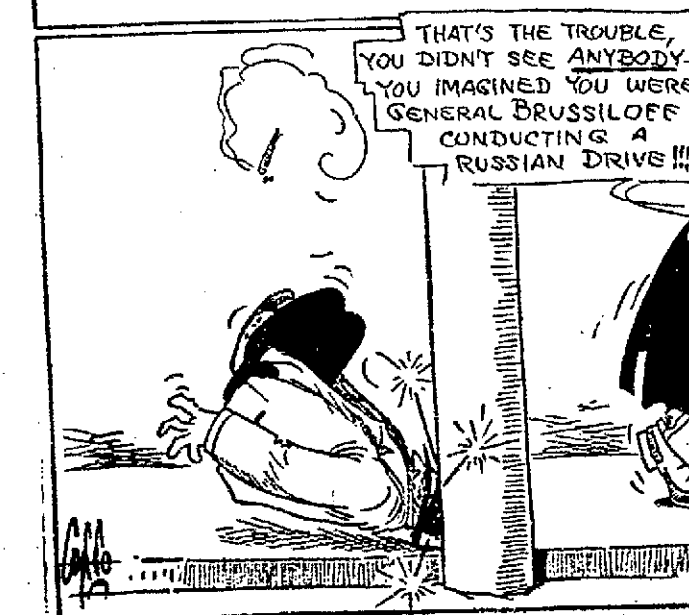

Germany has been the chief offender of late, but the Russians were guilty of poaching earlier in the summer and still hold two German steamers taken within the three-mile limit despite the protests of the Swedish government. The Germans seem to have adopted the practice of capturing a ship, taking off such supplies as they need, and then releasing the vessel with a polite apology. Recently a Swedish ship, the Oscar II—not the ark of peace but a tidy little white steamer belonging to the Svea line—was captured by a German. It is no strange sight along the coast to see a German and a Russian "luggers" churning the waters side by side, or to see a German and an English ship pass pay a fortune to anyone who could run a cargo of oil past the British blockade. The incidents of sunk or captured ships have been many, but there have been far more unheralded instances where raids have been prevented by the presence of Swedish cruisers, destroyers and torpedo boats. It is no easy task to patrol a coast line which stretches from the northern crescent of the Gulf of Bothnia down through the entire length of the Baltic and out into the Cattegat, nor is it always possible to "chaperon" all the merchant ships flying belligerent flags and seeking the neutral shelter of the three-mile limit. man destroyer and taken to a German Baltic port. There every bit of lubricating oil was removed from the steamer and she was allowed to proceed. The Germans naturally expressed their willingness to pay for the oil. They would in the night without the slightest sign of recognition. And it is always safe to assume that somewhere along this jagged, rocky coast there is lurking a spider-like destroyer of the "enemy" ready to pounce upon the steamer the moment it may stray "outside" or sometimes through over-eagerness to step inside the limit and "persuade" the richly laden tramp to steer "a little wider" of the dangerous coast.

There have been numerous incidents of late wherein the Swedish naval vessels have been stripped for action against belligerent destroyers and submarines, and some of the naval officers here in Stockholm say they have rather regretted it has never come to "blows" for they have had all the drudgery of war with none of the glory. One of the newest Swedish torpedo boats, the Castor, is commanded by Prince William, second son of the king and a very popular young man. The prince is a great favorite in Stockholm, but the duties of the coast patrol have kept him away for a long time and his slim little gray vessel has been one of the chief defenders of Swedish neutrality.

Moore's Cast Iron Combination Ranges

YOU KNOW something about Gas Ranges. You are quite familiar with Coal Ranges but do you know about a Combination Coal and Gas Range that works equally well with either fuel or both. We confess that we did not until after a most searching investigation discover a Combination Range that would really work satisfactory with both fuels without making a lot of disagreeable changes in the parts. Moore's Wizard Combination Gas and Coal Range fills every requirement. You can bake with gas or coal as you wish without the change of a part. It's so simple you will wonder why it has not been made before. In addition there are

Moore's Special Labor-Saving Features

The coal section is a regular size coal Range. The gas section is a standard size gas Range. The oven has all the advantage of both Ranges. Here are some of the special features. A glass oven door with patent method of fastening in the glass so it won't break—an accurate oven thermometer—Mrs. Rogers' Cooking Guide—a Moore's Patented Controller Damper—an Anti-Scorch Cover—Moore's Economical Fireback has solved the waste fuel problem. SOCIETY WOMAN TO HUNT GOLD and MERMAIDS on BOTTOM of the OCEAN

First Descent to Depths Never Before Attained by Man Will Be in Southern Waters, After Which Shipload of Copper Bars that Sank with the Pewabic Off Thunder Bay in Lake Huron Years Ago Will Be Salvaged, This Wee Bit of Humanity Declares.

tion in the electrical and automobile fields as an inventor and designer, and who had worked out a plan for a deep-sea diving apparatus. That is how she became interested in deep-sea diving, and, being of an intensely practical turn of mind, she decided to take up the hunt for lost treasure. She entered the Leavitt Company and since then has been working on the deep-sea diving apparatus.

"With this armor as a shield against the pressure of the water, I can go down 400 feet and work with ease, whereas the ordinary methods fall at a depth of 175 feet.

"We have procured the location of steamers which went down with rich treasure, getting the information from government charts, and we expect to start work next summer.

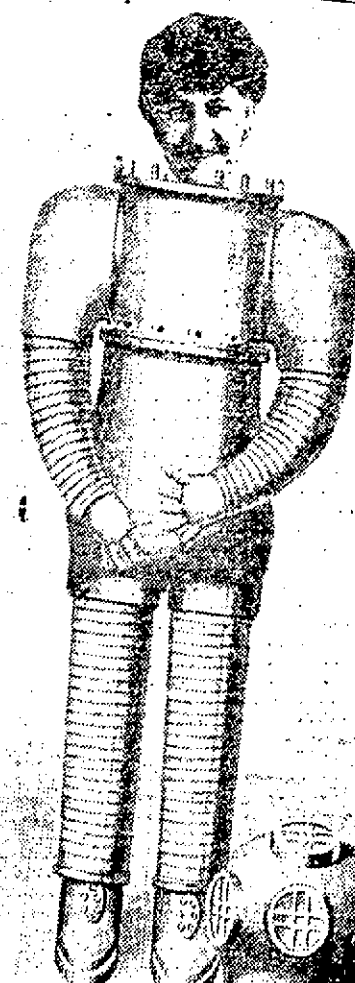

"After a trial, at which we expect to demonstrate conclusively that a diver can stay under water four hours and work at a depth of 400 feet, we're going after the wreck of the Pewabic, which went down years ago off Thunder Bay, in Lake Huron, with a load of copper bars," she announced.

"When we have salvaged that, we will turn our attention to the Atlantic Coast.

"I'm going to make my first descent in Southern waters, probably next summer.

"I'm going to hunt sunken treasure because I need the money," Mrs. Goodman says. "I'm not going into it purely for the excitement of the thing or for notoriety. This is business

MRS. MARGARET CAMPBELL GOODMAN

MRS. GOODMAN IN HER NEW SUIT

Mrs. Goodman expects to find the bottom of the sea built of rings like coral reefs, all covered with strange flora, and flower gardens with mermaids in them.

DOWN at the bottom of the sea, in vast stretches of branching coral, in fields of growing sponge, in meadows starred with gorgeous blossoms, in cool dim caverns, in that mysterious place where man has never trod, where the mermaids are supposed to disport with strange monsters of the deep, where abound flora and fauna such as only the wildest imagination can picture, there is a wealth of treasure, unheeded by the myriad living creatures about it, who merely regard it, if they regard it at all, as refuse from that mysterious place they have never seen, up there, somewhere above them.

For thousands of years it has been accumulating there. Gold and silver and precious stones, the cargo of many a treasure ship which has gone down to the bottom of the sea. That much is known to man. Tracing through the history of these lost ships one finds records of hundreds of them which have gone down to add to the store of treasure on the floor of the ocean.

And besides this treasure, once the property of man, who knows what other wealth is there awaiting the human who can venture into the depths?

Full many a gem of purest ray serene The dark unfathomed caves of ocean bear. Thus sang Thomas Gray. And there are many who believe that in those dark, unfathomed caves and in the stretches of forest and field and meadow there are gems and metals such as are not produced on the surface of the earth.

Jules Verne, in his great flight of imagination, "Twenty Thousand Leagues Under the Sea," tells the story of the wonderful growing pearl, as large as a coconut, in one of these ocean caverns.

The bottom of the sea is unknown territory to man. True it is there have been occasions when man has walked on the floor of the ocean, but never where the floor was far, far down in the depths. And even in these shallows, comparatively speaking, new species of fauna and flora have been found. What is further down?

A SOCIETY woman is going to try to answer this question. She intends to visit the depths of the ocean where no human has ever penetrated. She is going not only out of curiosity and in the interest of science, but also on business, for she will search for some of the stores of treasure from lost ships.

She is Mrs. Margaret C. Goodman of Toledo, Ohio, who has become the secretary-treasurer of a company which makes diving armor. Mrs. Goodman is a former newspaper woman of Detroit, and some time ago she was sent to interview B. F. Leavitt, who had gained a reputa-

Mrs. Goodman is not at all the type of woman one would expect to attempt it. With all her advanced ideas concerning woman's sphere and her well-proven business talents, she is decidedly feminine in demeanor and appearance. She is a wee bit of humanity, weighing just 33 pounds, and measures but 4 feet 10 inches from "tip to tip."

"I've been working on this plan for two years with an inventor who has constructed a bronze diving armor," she said.

with me. And there isn't any reason why I can't do it as well as any man.

"No, I am not afraid," said Mrs. Goodman. "Everybody I talk to asks me that silly question. The great experience, the wonderful adventure, makes the experiment worth while. Just think! I will see things no woman has ever seen before, and will gain knowledge which has been locked in the bosom of the deep since time began. See here's the oxygen tank for the suit of armor they are building for me now. When it is done I am going to Southern waters, where it is said conditions are most favorable for submarine observations, and go down, and down, and down.

"I think the bottom of the sea is built of rings like coral reefs, all covered with a flora to us unknown. I am going to invade the flower gardens of the mermaids and show new specimens of botanical growth to all of you. Deep-sea fishes, strange shells and many other things will go into the collection I hope to make. It is decidedly worth while, even if you never think of the practical side. The men folks of the company can go down to the wrecks of the Hancock, the Wilhelmmina, the General Grant, the Husar and the Marguerita and provide a life of luxury for us all. I am going down to see, to learn."

DEEP-SEA diving is the all-absorbing topic of Mrs. Goodman's conversation, but it is by no means the only thing of interest about her. She comes of sturdy Scotch stock, and had not her father left the land of his birth and refused to return she would today be Lady Campbell. The father's title would have been Lord John Burdette Campbell, he being a direct descendant of Sir Colin Campbell. Since early girlhood this remarkable little woman has attracted much attention. Verse written at the age of 13 was published in leading magazines, and later her writings, both prose and poetry, have appeared in many publications.

In recent years she has been a leader in woman's club work.

Born under the zodiac sign of the Gemini, Mrs. Goodman lives up to the astrologer's claim that a person so born will have a many-sided life. She has written poetry, made political speeches, ruled over women's clubs, graced many ballrooms and presided at other social functions, has been a dramatic critic and a success as a business woman and financier.

Enthusiasm for Citizen Soldier Camps Increases

WITH the approaching summer comes talk and enthusiasm for the coming citizen soldiery military training camps which many cities and communities are endeavoring to have the government establish. Camps where the business men, with patriotism and a desire to be properly trained in military affairs should his country need his services, sprang into prominence and popularity last year in the West.

Thousands of solid business and professional men have volunteered to attend these camps if the War Department will establish them. They realize the routine work is anything but gentle, easy exercise that they will be called upon to do. Probably it is more violent and harder and more trying work than they have done physically since they have attained their majority, but the enthusiasm prevails in every considered camp.

The target practice, which is looked forward to as a relief from the drudgery of camp routine, threatens to be a disappointment, however, in that the regulation army rifle still retains its weight and its kick. And the matter of hitting at what you shoot, from the regulation position, is not considered the simplest thing in the world. The target practice is a primary department for shooting under real war service conditions. Military shooting is a mighty difficult proposition when the wind and weather conditions are against one, and at the same time, compared to the shooting conditions met with in actual warfare, for there is a great difference. Objects shot at in war are small, indistinct and at great or unknown ranges, and, of course, the soldiers are under stress of great excitement.

It would be just as foolish for a shooter, however, to start in to practice under war conditions without a preliminary training in straight target shooting as it would be for a grammar student to go to college without stopping for a while at high school.

One of the first rules the beginner must learn thoroughly is always to keep the rifle at safety unless he is ready to fire. At all military encampments this rule is very carefully enforced. Practically all slow fire military target shooting is done in the prone position. The rules state that there must be no support for the rifle from his left elbow to the muzzle.

Logic

IF there was one thing that little Nancy hated, it was going to bed. There was always an argument before she retired to rest.

"Come, dear," said her mother one evening. "It is getting quite late and you should be upstairs in bed."

Nancy's little brain worked quickly. "But mother," she protested, "it won't any earlier up there than it is down here!"

MARVIN IS A MAKER OF TENNIS CHAMPIONS

Western Man Has Sent Out a Remarkable Galaxy of Net Stars.

San Francisco, Cal., Sept. 8.—Sydney R. Marvin is the maker of tennis champions.

Enthusiastic young boys at the ages of ten and twelve are the raw material dropped into the hopper of his molding plant and sent out at the other end a slaughtering a job from the Australians. "That settles it," whispered the spectators.

But "Mac" stood undismayed while another racket was being found for him. He was the only calm person present. With the new racket he won the game.

"You have your nerve," said an admiring English official.

"Yes," replied McLoughlin, "I learned that as a youngster of twelve facing 'impossible' handicaps in a kids' club at home."

And that is only one of many tributes to Marvin from the men who are thrilling the world with their skill at tennis.

finished product—world beaters with the racket.

Marvin's factory is the Golden Gate Junior Tennis club in San Francisco. From it he has sent out into the world such stars as Maurice McLoughlin, William Johnston, John Strachan, the Griffin brothers and Roland Roberts.

Quiet and modest, Marvin takes no credit to himself for this glittering galaxy of stars, but the fact remains that there is something about his methods of training juveniles on the tennis courts that brings success in prodigious proportions.

"He never suppresses their individuality," is the way one famous player sums up the Marvin method.

Marvin has the faculty for seizing the youngsters' heart strings. His personality inspires them with confidence and the nerve to face seemingly impossible odds. It is noticeable that the boys now under his instruction play their best game when he is watching them. They prize a word of encouragement from him more than a whole volume of praise from others.

Experts who have watched Marvin for years explain that he encourages a boy to develop his own game, only correcting the most glaring faults of the player. The future champion acquires grid by meeting his betters, and when he faces an inferior has to bear the brunt of a heavy handicap.

Coming to San Francisco from the east, Marvin organized his tennis factory in 1903. Since that time his record as a champion maker has developed.

"Tennis as played by the boys in San Francisco was a complete eye-opener," he said. "It occurred to me that a club was required to throw the boys into keen and constant competition and maintain a high standard of play. The youngsters were enthusiastic about the idea, so we organized a club."

"From the beginning the boys have taken an active part in the control and have made success certain. I have merely played the part of manager."

"Tournaments of all kinds, with emphasis on the handicap events, are stimulative to the crack player and encourage the beginner. They have become our staple food. The boys learn more from constantly clashing in keen, stern contest than the possibly could from books or verbal instructions. McLoughlin once told me that he never played a game without picking up useful tennis knowledge, no matter how unskillful his opponent might be. One does not have to tell a boy of that kind much, he is learning all the time."

"Undue elation over victory or despair over defeat are cured in the heart-to-heart talks in our club rooms."

What Marvin's training does for a youngster was demonstrated in dramatic fashion in the last Davis cup games played in England.

McLoughlin faced Anthony Wilding in the crucial contest. Victory meant that America secured the trophy. It was the final game and there was a point to set and match. McLoughlin smashed his racket to splinters in

HOT WATER THE BEST LIVER AND BOWEL MEDICINE

Says glass of hot water before breakfast washes poison from system.

Physicians the world over recommend the inside bath, claiming this is of vastly more importance than outside cleanliness, because the skin pores do not absorb impurities into the blood, causing ill health, while the pores in the ten yards of bowels do.

Men and women are urged to drink each morning, before breakfast, a glass of hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it, as a harmless means of helping to wash from the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels the previous day's indigestible material, poisons, sour bile and toxins; thus cleansing, sweetening and purifying the entire alimentary canal before putting more food into the stomach.

Just as soap and hot water cleanse and freshen the skin, so hot water and limestone phosphate act on the eliminative organs.

Those who wake up with bad breath, coated tongue, nasty taste or have a dull, aching head, sallow complexion, acid stomach; others who are subject to bilious attacks or constipation should obtain a quart of limestone phosphate at the drug store. This will cost very little but is sufficient to demonstrate the value of inside bathing.

Those who continue it each morning are assured of pronounced results, both in regard to health and appearance.—Advertisement.
